Employers of zoning board members get work in town

by LYNN ASINOF

Two contractors with employes on the Wheeling Zoning Board of Appeals have received a major share of work on developments coming before the zoning board for votes in the past several years.

A Herald investigation has revealed that 14 of 16 major developments approved by the zoning board since 1968 have contracted with either Country Service and Supply Co., an excavating firm, or with Domas Plumbing Co. Four of the 16 used both firms for their construction work.

Alan Martin, zoning board member for seven years, has been employed as a foreman at Country Service, 3300 Milwaukee Ave., Northbrook, since the fall of 1971. The firm has done excavation work for nine of the major Wheeling developments approved by the zoning board.

ROMAN DOMAS, appointed to the zoning board in the spring of 1970, is the owner and president of Doman Plumbing 106 E. Dundee Rd. The firm has also done work on nine of the major Wheeling developments approved by the zoning board.

A check of village building permits showed these two firms received more construction work on major Wheeling projects than any other subcontractors. Contracts for construction work in other trades were divided among a large number of firms. While some contractors did work on more than one development, most firms appeared on the building permits for only one project.

Despite the large amount of work done by the two Wheeling firms, developers contacted yesterday said they were not pressured to hire either Domas Plumbing or Country Service.

Dan Kron of Harmony Builders, developers of Harmony Village, said the two firms were retained because they were local businesses. "When we do go into a village we do use people in the area. It's good business," he said. "We bid every job out, but we don't always give the job to the lowest bidder."

Other developers who could be contacted said they retained the firms for a variety of reasons, including long-standing business relations and low-bids for the work.

CONTACTED YESTERDAY, Martin said he did not believe that the work done by his company was in conflict with his position on the zoning board. "I've only been with Country Service two years this fall, and I only do field supervisory work," he said. "I don't have anything to do with the bidding of work or letting of work. I simply supervise fieldwork."

Martin, however, voted in favor of five developments which later hired Country Service for excavation work. These projects include Harmony Village, Lakeside Villas, Pleasant Run, Whippletree Village and the six-flat apartment development in the W. Strong Street area.

In two cases, Martin abstained from voting on projects which later used Country Service for excavating work. The zoning board member said he abstained from voting on the Foxboro Apartments because Country Service had dug a ditch for developers of the property on Wolf Road.

"I felt because Country Service had done work over there, I should abstain," Martin said. He said he could not remember why he abstained from voting on zoning for Wickes Furniture, but he said it had something to do with the type of building Wickes was proposing at the time.

SINCE THE ZONING board did not keep records of individual votes prior to the spring of 1970, it is unknown how Martin voted on two of the developments which used Country Service, Cedar Run and Chelsea Cove.

Martin pointed out, however, he was not employed by Country Service at the time these developments were considered. "I think a lot of the zoning came forth even before I worked for Country Service," he said.

The zoning board member said he was previously employed as a construction supervisor in West Chicago.

Martin had no explanation of why Country Service has been awarded the lion's share of Wheeling's excavation work. He further stated that he never applied any pressure on developers to contract with his firm.

"In no case have I ever approached anyone about the work," he said. "In fact I don't think any of the developers knew I was with Country Service."

A CHECK OF village records showed Domas voted in favor of two developments for which he later was contracted for plumbing work. The developments were Harmony Village and Lake of the Winds.

Domas was absent from the zoning board meeting when Whippletree Village and Sandpebble Walk were considered. Both developments used Domas Plumbing for construction work.

Five other developments awarded Domas plumbing work, but since the zoning was granted in 1970 records do not show an accounting of individual votes. Domas may not have voted on some of the five projects, since he was appointed to the zoning board in the spring of 1970.

These developments include Fairway Greens, Cedar Run, Tahoe Village, Lynn Plaza and Chelsea Cove.

Domas has been unavailable for comment on the matter. His secretary returned a call for him yesterday, saying he would make no comment to The Herald on any matter.

"There is nothing he can say in the newspapers," she said. "He just doesn't want to talk to any newspapers, that's it. He has nothing to say."

SEVERAL OF the developments which contracted with the two firms have been connected to the Stavros family. James "Jimmy" Stavros has been a bhind-the-scenes political force in Wheeling for many years.

Both Domas and Country Service got subcontracting jobs on Whippletree Village, a mobile home park at 525 N. McHenry Road. Ernest Stavros, brother of James Stavros, is manager of Whippletree and last year identified himself as co-owner. Ernest's wife and a brother, Ted Stavros, are also reportedly employed by Whippletree.

Country Service did the excavating work for Pleasant Run, 1151 S. Elmhurst Rd., which is being built by Glen Grove Development Corp. At an early zoning hearing on the condominium project, Paul Horch, the former property owner, identified August Stavros, another brother, as a partner in the development.

August Stavros is vice president and a major stockholder in the Wheeling Trust and Savings Bank, which holds title to Pleasant Run in a secret land trust.

DOMAS ALSO did the plumbing work on James Stavros' luxurious $100,000 Northbrook home, built in 1970.

Ben Pekin, developer of Tahoe Village, said his company did business with Domas Plumbing before giving him the contract for Tahoe. He said there was no pressure applied to hire Domas, "I don't remember anything like that. But I don't really handle that area. I have other people in my company who do that. I don't get too closely involved with that."

Al Zale of Zale Construction Co., developers of Lakeside Villas, said his firm used Country Service for many years before developing in Wheeling.

A representative of Glen Grove Development Corp., developers of Pleasant Run, said the use of Country Service "was just a matter of preference. Their main office is right here on Milwaukee Avenue."

HARMONY VILLAGE, a townhouse development under construction on Wolf Road, hired both Country Service and Supply Co. and Domas Plumbing. Dan Kron, president of Harmony Builders, said the two firms were chosen because they were local businesses and could thus offer better service to the Wheeling project. Both zoning board members employed by these two firms voted in favor of granting zoning for Harmony Village.

Fire destroys abandoned barn

Firemen believe children playing in the area caused a fire yesterday that destroyed an abandoned barn at the southeast corner of Arlington Heights and Checker roads. No one was injured.

Lt. James Hansen of the Buffalo Grove Fire Department said when firemen arrived the barn was "completely involved in flames." He estimated smoke and flames could be seen 10 to 15 miles away.

He said the frame structure was about two stories high. It was next to another larger barn that was destroyed by fire about two months ago.

Firemen kept the fire from spreading to a nearby abandoned farm house.

The barn and other structures surrounding it are scheduled to be demolished when construction of a new development begins there in the next few weeks.

Firemen from Arlington Heights and Long Grove aided Buffalo Grove in extinguishing the blaze.

Planners meet tonight

Swan Lake to be reviewed

by LYNN ASINOF

The Wheeling Plan Commission tonight will review plans for Swan Lake, a 624-unit apartment project in southern Wheeling.

The project has run into numerous snags while before the commission. Most recently, residents from Prospect Heights have challenged the development by citing village ordinances not met by present plans.

Among the ordinances cited is a requirement that all planned developments must have work started within two years of the date zoning was granted for the project. Swan Lake is currently over that two-year limit.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS residents said they are not objecting to having a planned development in the area. They said they are only concerned that the project be properly planned to take into consideration the surrounding area.

Other problems associated with Swan Lake include the fact that School Dist. 21 has reserved eight acres of the site for a new school. The school district has one year from the time plans are approved to either buy the land or relinquish its claim to the site.

The plan commission will also review plans for a motor freight terminal development south of Hintz Road east of the Soo Line Railroad tracks. This project has also run into difficulties in meeting village codes. Commission members are particularly concerned about potential traffic problems caused by the trucking operations.

ACCORDING TO Village Mgr. George Passolt, developers of the freight terminals have drawn up a new set of plans which will be presented tonight.

Plans for a subdivision of Harmony Village, a townhouse development on Wolf Road, will be presented to the plan commission tonight. The property must be subdivided so that developers can sell their townhouses.

Commissioners will also review a subdivision for industrial development off Glenn Avenue.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the village hall, 255 W. Dundee Road.

Schools to set building contract dates tonight

The school Dist. 21 Board of Education is expected tonight to set the dates for opening bids and awarding contracts for $1.8 million in additions to its three junior high schools. The additions would allow the district to develop a vocational arts program in the schools.

The board meeting is set to begin at 8:15 in the administration building, 999 W. Dundee Rd., Wheeling.

School Dist. 21 serves Wheeling, Buffalo Grove and portions of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect.

The planned additions would also give extra classroom space as well as special areas, so the three buildings will have similiar facilities and be able to accommodate 1,000 students each.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS would like to start construction next month with hopes of completion for the 1974-75 school year, according to Dist. 21 Asst. Supt. John Barger.

Right now, money is a problem. While the district has enough to pay for the construction of the additions, there is no money on hand for equipping the buildings.

Dist. 21 Supt. Ken Gill has said there are several chances for the district to obtain state aid which may help the money situation.

The vocational arts program could be hurt by the lack of funds for equipment. New to the district, the program will include industrial arts and home economics classes. The exact courses to be included in the program have not yet been determined, but it is expected that sewing and cooking courses will be offered.

THE COST ESTIMATE for the new additions per school is Cooper, $460,000; London, $580,000, and Holmes $750,000.

Top beauty ear makes its home right in Wheeling

by JEANNETTE DeWYZE

The world's most beautiful ear lives in Wheeling.

Attached to the head of Gayle Harhen, a sophomore at Colorado State College, Miss Harhen's ear took the title at a recent "World's First Beautiful Ear Contest," in Chicago.

Although no formal entry applications were required, competition for the title was fierce. Thirty to forty contestants showed up for the pageant, sponsored by Sage's East Restaurant in Chicago. With their heads covered in pink and blue cardboard so that the judses might see only "pure and unadulterated ear," the contestants paraded around the restaurant displaying their auricle beauties.

Judging was based on "lobe, cartilage, size and other characteristics," according to the pageant rules. The rules also warned that "the winner will go noplace for a final competition and will receive no personal appearance contracts," and that "Bert Parks will not appear."

But if Bert Parks was absent, appropriate refreshments were not. Pageant contestants and observers were served beer and ears of corn.

Gayle Harhen

DOMMENTING ON her ear-y victory, Miss Harhen said, "I was shocked because I didn't expect it."

A part-time model, she entered the pageant at the urging of a photographer friend and also "just to have some fun," she said.

However, the spoils of victory can also be bitter, according to Miss Harhen.

"People make jokes about my ears now," she said.

Newsprint shortage affecting Herald

Paddock Publications continues to face a dire shortage of newsprint, according to corporation executives, and the shortage is having an effect on the production and distribution of the daily Herald.

With a few exceptions, the current newsprint shortage is affecting almost every newspaper in the United States and Canada as continued strikes against Canadian paper mills make newsprint stock virtually unavailable.

At present some 6,000 newspaper plant workers are on strike at five pulp and paper mills in Canada where the major supply of U.S. newsprint is produced. Strike negotiations have broken down and no date has been set for the resumption of bargaining.

MOST NEWSPRINT buyers keep a 30-day supply of newsprint on hand, but the strike began over two weeks ago and current supplies are dwindling.

Current market sales are down from a previous volume of 25,000 tons a day to 19,000 tons a day. The drop in production is particularly bad for medium size dailies such as The Herald because The Herald is dependent on a sole supplier rather than several suppliers, according to corporation executives.

U. S. newspapers affected by the Canadian strike are searching for other newsprint suppliers but in the meantime cutbacks in most press runs have been ordered.

The Herald will continue to supply home delivered customers on a priority basis but some measures have been taken to reduce the use of newsprint by making the paper smaller and cutting back on newsstand sales.

Court asked to order state senate elections

A member of the Kane County Board of Commissioners Wednesday asked the state Supreme Court to order Illinois senatorial elections next year in all of the state's 59 districts, rather than just the 20 where they are scheduled. The petition, filed on behalf of David L. Pierce of Aurora, charges that the election of 39 senators to four-year terms in 1972 was a violation of an earlier high court order.

Explore ways to hike mortgage interest

The Illinois Savings and Loan League said Wednesday it is exploring ways to hike savings and loan associations' home mortgage interests above the current 8 per cent state limit. If the interest rate ceiling were raised, the league believes money which is now being diverted to other states which allow higher rates would come back to Illinois and mortgage money would become available again.

No winter chill for public schools

There will be no heating problems in suburban Cook County schools this year, according to county Supt. Richard J. Martwick. He said a potential fuel shortage has been avoided by conversion of 365 public schools from fuel oil to gas heat with the remaining 42 schools still using oil assured of adequate deliveries.

Gov. Walker makes appointments

Gov. Daniel Walker Wednesday announced four appointments to state commissions: named to the state Pollution Board were Russell T. Odell of Champaign, professor of agronomy at University of Illinois, Sidney M. Marder of Peru, production superintendent for Foster Grant Corp., and as board chairman, Jacob Dumelle of Oak Park; named to the Illinois Commerce Commission was Charles E. Freeman of Chicago, an arbitrator with Illinois Industrial Commission.

Russia to seek nuclear equality

Russia will resist a definite commitment on further nuclear arms curbs without at least a full missile and nuclear equality with the U. S., diplomatic officials said Wednesday. This consideration lies behind the forced Soviet development of multiple, independently targeted nuclear warheads now being tested and scheduled for deployment as soon as possible, they said. "Moscow cannot and will not allow the U. S. a nuclear weapons lead," one informant said.

London 'bomb' campaign continues

A letter bomb disguised as a packaged book was delivered by a London postman Wednesday to headquarters of the ruling Conservative Party but was discovered and plunged into a pail of water to await bomb disposal men. It was the fifth day of a bombing campaign involving letter bombs and small incendiary bombs in London's big department stores. Police believe the bombs to be the work of either Irish extremists or anarchists trying to launch an urban guerrilla war in Britain.

Chrysler, UAW begin hard bargaining

The United Auto Workers warned Chrysler Corp. Wednesday it should not take contract demands lightly with just 24 days remaining before its 128,500 workers could walk out in a national strike. Less than 24 hours after Chrysler was singled out by the UAW to lead the way in setting a pattern for auto contracts this year, UAW bargainers were back at the main table. The other auto makers will not have to begin bargaining hard until Chrysler sets a pattern.

Stocks continue downward slide

Stocks continued to slide Wednesday on the New York Stock Exchange under the weight of neglect, with investors still in a bleak mood over soaring interest rates, inflation, and an uncertain political climate. The Dow Jones industrial average — setting its third 20-month low this week — skidded to 851.90 with the average price of a NYSE common share declining 15 cents. Prices on the American Stock Exchange weakened in slow trading.

Kissinger for Rogers at State Dept.

SAN CLEMENTE, CALIF. (UPI) — President Nixon Wednesday accepted with "personal regret" the resignation of Secretary of State William P. Rogers and said he would nominate Henry A. Kissinger to succeed him at the State Department.

Kissinger's nomination will be submitted to the Senate after the congressional recess ends Sept. 5. The Foreign Relations Committee is expected to question him closely on his role in wiretapping his own aides for national security purposes and the secret bombing in Cambodia.

Nixon recalled he and Rogers had "weathered together" for two decades and he hoped that Rogers would continue to offer him counsel and friendship, although he was leaving the administration Sept. 3 after 56 months.

News of the resignation came first from officials in Washington who have been critical of Rogers for some time.

Rogers, 50, who will return to the private practice of corporate law, submitted his resignation "with a bit of sadness" in a letter to Nixon last Thursday.

A longtime friend and adviser of Nixon, Rogers was the last original member of the Nixon Cabinet.

There have been recurrent reports that Nixon was displeased with Rogers and wanted a more "dynamic" secretary of state. Those reports were frequently accompanied by speculation that Kissinger would replace him.

Administration officials who have been critical of Rogers said that the "last straw" so far as the President was concerned came at a news conference Monday by Rogers.

Discussing the Watergate affair with reporters, Rogers said: "I believe it is important for the United States not to become so obsessed with security matters that laws are freely violated. I think extreme caution should be exercised before laws are violated in the name of national security."

Rogers is known to have been extremely dismayed over the Watergate affair.

Rogers also complained that he was so far removed from Indochina policy decisions that he "knew nothing" of the secret bombing of Cambodia, although it began shortly after the first inauguration.

Henry Kissinger

William Rogers

Rogers is known to have been irritated for some time by the fact that Kissinger has been generally regarded as having usurped the secretary's prerogatives as principal foreign policy adviser to the President.

Kissinger, a former Harvard professor, has been the President's national security adviser and principal architect of administration policy in Indochina, Russia and China since 1969, a matter sure to be raised in the Senate.

Kissinger has won high marks for carrying out Nixon's missions to China and Russia and attempts to negotiate a Vietnam peace settlement, but he has also played a role in the secret bombing of Cambodia and the wiretapping of his own aides on the staff of the National Security Council.

Nixon still stands firm on Watergate

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon admitted Wednesday to "scandalous conduct" within his administration in the past, but said he never considered resigning and was determined to "move on from Watergate to the business of the people."

In his first news conference since March 15, before the Watergate dam broke, the President lashed out with barely concealed anger at his critics in the press and Congress and "those who would use the Watergate affair to destroy me."

Said the President: "They want me to fail. I'm not going to fail. I'm going to do the best I can."

The unusually long, 50-minute session was dominated almost exclusively by Watergate, during which the President said specifically:

—He did not recall then acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray III warning him in a July 6, 1972, telephone call that some of Nixon's closest White House aides were trying to "mortally wound" him by refusing to cooperate in the FBI's Watergate investigation.

—He told former White House counsel John W. Dean III last March 21 — and Dean agreed — that it would be wrong to raise as much as $1 million for the Watergate conspirators or to grant executive clemency.

—Throughout the period following the June 17, 1972, break-in at Democratic headquarters, "I would have expected Mr. Mitchell (former Attorney General John N. Mitchell) to tell me if he was involved or if anyone else was involved. He did not tell me." Nixon added he didn't blame Mitchell in retrospect, because "I would have blown my stack" had Mitchell told him the full Watergate story.

—When asked how much "personal blame" he accepted for the Watergate abuses, he replied: "I accept it all."

—Denied any impropriety in having former aide John D. Ehrlichman approach U.S. District Judge Matthew Byrne about the possibility of becoming FBI director while Byrne was presiding at the Pentagon Papers trial in Los Angeles.

—His confidence in Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's integrity was not only unchanged but "strengthened" despite Agnew's investigation for possible criminal violations. The President vigorously denounced "outrageous" news leaks about the Agnew investigation and promised to fire whoever was responsible.

—He still considered Ehrlichman and H. R. Haldeman two of the finest public servants he has ever known, and was sure they would be exonerated in any court proceeding instead of being tried before the Senate committee and in newspapers or television.

After about 30 minutes of questioning, when a presidential news conference would normally end by long-standing tradition, Nixon complained there had "not been one question about the business of the people" and proceeded to expound on a theme he first sounded in his Watergate defense on national television a week ago.

Years from now, he said, the public would be interested in what his administration had done to build world peace and domestic prosperity — two of his major goals.

Nixon said "no" to questions whether he had ever considered resigning during the Watergate crisis and whether he would consider resigning "if you felt your capacity to govern has been seriously weakened."

The President said under questioning he did not believe there were grounds for impeachment proceedings against him because he had done nothing illegal.

He defended his past use of wiretaps without court order as essential to protect the national security, and declared that such wiretaps as well as burglaries were used during the Johnson administration.

Firefighters gain on blazes

by United Press International

Aided by overcast skies and higher humidity, firefighters gained an upper hand in curbing the West's worst wilderness blazes in history.

They have charred nearly 200,000 acres of timber and grassland and caused losses of timber easily surpassing $70 million.

Sleeping and eating in shifts, more than 10,000 Forest Service personnel and volunteers from across the nation manned lines at 13 big fires in California, Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Utah and Nevada.

Most of the blazes have been controlled or were expected to be contained by last night. However, a few were still blazing out of control.

Tape case argued in court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's lawyer, opening the historic legal battle over Nixon's Watergate tapes, argued Wednesday that the sole check on any abuse of presidential power lies not in the courts but in Congress through impeachment.

Charles Alan Wright, in a scholarly argument before Chief U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, contended the courts are powerless to compel a president to reveal any secret communications once he was determined it is "not in the public interest to do so."

But Special Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox, whose suit against the President to force release of the critical tape recordings is unprecedented in American history, contended the Constitution gives no man — not even a president — the right to withhold vital evidence from a grand jury.

He said the Watergate grand jury must have the tapes to weigh allegations of criminality in the White House before deciding whom to indict.

"There is reason to believe that the executive offices have been corrupted," said Cox, "although the extent of the rot is not yet clear."

But at his news conference in California later in the day, Nixon again adamantly refused to release the tapes or to compromise and let an independent panel examine them.

"For a President to conduct the affairs of this office effectively, he must be able to do so with the principle of confidentiality intact," he said. "Otherwise people can't talk to him . . . they will always be speaking in a eunuch-like way rather than laying it on the line."

Nixon said he stood by, but would not go beyond, the statement of a White House spokesman that the President would abide by a "definite ruling" of the Supreme Court on the tapes dispute.

Cox and Wright, both law professors, squared off at a two-hour hearing before Sirica in the same huge ceremonial courtroom where he began the trial of the original Watergate Seven last January. More than 300 members of the press, lawyers and curious spectators were jammed into its pew-like seats.

Sirica, who has ordered Nixon to show cause why he should not be compelled to release the tapes, thanked both Cox and Wright for their "masterful exposition of the issues" and said he hoped to announce his ruling "within a week from today."

His decision was expected to be appealed quickly all the way to the Supreme Court. Two lawyers who have had extensive dealings with the judge said they expected Sirica to side with Cox and order Nixon to release the tapes.

"Cox had the better arguments," said one lawyer, who asked not to be identified.

Gaudet surrenders to Secret Service

TAOS, N. M. (UPI) — A former New Orleans policeman wanted on a federal warrant for threatening the life of President Nixon surrendered to Secret Service agents.

Edwin Michael Gaudet Jr., 30, gave himself up near a northern New Mexico commune, ending an intensive two-day manhunt by a posse of Secret Service agents and sheriff's deputies.

He had eluded heavily-armed Secret Service and other police officers in the backwoods of Sangre de Cristo mountains, but his wife, Judy, coaxed him into surrendering Wednesday.

New rules, old story: higher prices

WASHNNGTON (UPI) — The cost of groceries will go up again when the government grants more flexible price control rules to the food industry next month, Director John T. Dunlop of the Cost of Living Council predicted Wednesday.

Dunlop did not speculate on the size of the increase he expected in the weeks following Sept. 12, when beef price ceilings are removed and the food industry gets more liberal pricing authority than it now enjoys under the government's Phase IV economic stabilization program.

But he said he would be "surprised" if the price bulge were as big as the one that followed the end of the freeze on July 18.

In the seven months since January, food prices have risen nearly 9 per cent and beef and veal prices have risen 12 per cent.

The Harvard professor, who is heading the administration's anti-inflation campaign, spoke at a briefing on proposed rules that will govern the food industry after Sept. 12 during so-called "Stage B."

Since the freeze expired for the food industry a month ago, grocers, canners, meatpackers, restaurants and other segments of the food industry have been under "Stage A" rules. These limited the amount prices could go up to cost increases off raw agricultural products. Under Stage B rules, which are open for public comment until Sept. 4, other costs can be passed on in the form of higher prices.

As in earlier phases of the economic stabilization program, however, sellers will not be able to add any extra for profit.

Under Stage B rules, some complicated regulations that caused bookkeeping headaches for government and business accountants have been dropped. But the rule book is now thicker because the council has divided the food industry into three parts — wholesaling and retailing, services and manufacturing — and has published separate rules for each.

The theory is that each segment has different pricing and accounting patterns that must be dealt with separately in the interest of fairness.

Here is a summary of the regulations for each sector:

Wholesaling and Retailing — Price increases must be based on a firm's customary initial percentage markup or gross margin which does not exceed the base period markup or margin. Retail firms may choose either of their last two fiscal years ending before Feb. 5, 1973, in establishing a base period.

Services — Restaurants, caterers and other service firms may boost prices on a for-dollar basis to account for higher costs of raw agricultural products, labor and other costs.

Manufacturing — The ingredients of a food product, such as the flour, vitamins and additives that go into a loaf of bread, are subject to the gross margin pricing rule. Other costs, such as labor, overhead, packaging and transportation, are subject to justification on a dollar for dollar basis.

Rising prices may force many American children to go with little or no food at their school cafeterias when the fall term begins, according to an executive of a food association.

Dr. John Perryman, executive director of the 60,000-member American Food Service Association blamed the shortage on spiraling prices of food and labor, beef shortages due to price ceilings and the refusal of the Agriculture Department to increase school lunch funding.

Brawl mars Cuba-U.S. game

MOSCOW (UPI) — The United States and Cuban basketball teams at the World University Games fought a bloody, 25-minute battle Wednesday in which the American trainer was hit on the head with a chair and knocked unconscious.

Several hundred stunned Russian spectators, who had cheered the Cubans all through the match, booed, jeered and whistled at them after the fight started. The American team was cheered by 100 Russians as it left the arena.

Only about five police officers were in the gymnasium when the fight broke out and made no apparent move to restore order. Game officials finally got the players under control on a court littered with broken glass and blood.

The incident was the second in two days at the games. On Tuesday, Russian spectators at a basketball game between Israel and Puerto Rico jeered at Israeli players and scuffled with Soviet Jews in the stands who were supporting them.

Wednesday's fight erupted just 90 seconds before the end of the game, which the Americans won 98 to 76, when an unidentified Cuban player kicked Mitchell Kupchuk of Brentwood, N.Y., to the ground in front of the Cuban basket.

Kupchuk came up swinging, the entire Cuban bench poured onto the floor, and the American players swarmed out to try to rescue their teammate.

No shutdown

Gas station protest unlikely as dealers agree to disagree

by LEA TONKIN
A news analysis

The shutdown of Chicago area gasoline stations, supposed to begin Friday and continue through Sunday, could be one of the biggest non-happenings of the year.

A Chicago meeting of gas station dealers, held late last night, was supposed to settle the question once and for all, said Robert Jacobs of the Illinois Gasoline Dealers Association (IGDA). Jacobs said yesterday that a hearing in Washington U.S. District Court on a petition to bar the Cost of Living Council from imposing its Phase IV gasoline rules could also halt the shutdown.

Jacobs had originally called for the closing of all Chicago metropolitan area stations as a protest of the price rollbacks the new Phase IV regulations would bring. He said 90 per cent of the Chicago area stations would shut down for the weekend and that other dealer groups would join in the protest.

THREAT OR HOAX? Signs like this are in the hands of local gas station operators, but will the threatened close-down of gas stations really take place?

BUT A MEETING of the National Congress of Petroleum Retailers in Texas this week did not bring overwhelming support of the action. In fact, the Michigan dealer association backed out of the shutdown protest two days ago, leaving a Philadelphia group and Jacobs' group as supporters of the shutdown.

Then there is the announcement by a rival of the IGDA that the whole shutdown announcement is a hoax. Ralph Porcelli, executive of the Gasoline Retailers Association of Metropolitan Chicago (GRAMC), says the announcement was "irresponsible, unnecessary and alarming to the general public."

At a protest march called by the IGDA in Chicago last week, only five persons showed up, said Porcelli. While GRAMC disagrees with Phase IV regulations, "We at the GRAMC made a survey through our field representatives of over 1,500 stations and confirmed that 99 per cent of the dealers are against the shutdown and will be open to the public to serve their customers and the public," Porcelli said.

Individual dealers also indicate more than one viewpoint. Of eight Northwest suburban dealers contacted by The Herald, five said they would not participate in the shutdown, and three said they plan to close their stations this weekend if the IGDA goes through with the protest action.

One Arlington Heights dealer who says he would close his station this weekend if the IGDA approved the action, advised his customers to fill up their gas tanks on Thursday.

By taking this advice, many motorists could sidestep the problem.

Mass gas station shutdown forecast for holiday weekend

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Automobile Association (AAA) forecast yesterday possible widespread shutdowns of gas stations over the Labor Day weekend as a protest against the government's Phase IV economic controls.

In its weekly survey of gasoline supplies, the AAA said some stations may begin the protest by closing this weekend and that by the following holiday weekend the closures probably would be "widespread."

"Although it is still uncertain how thorough area shutdowns will be if they do occur," the AAA said, "one state retail dealers association said it was confident 60 per cent of Pennsylvania's 10,000 dealers would close on cue from the association."

THE CLOSURES would be a protest against profit margins allowed under Phase IV, which deals with petroleum prices as one of the chief means of combatting inflation.

The AAA said its nationwide survey indicated gasoline dealer associations "in many states and cities" were organizing closings, "some as early as the coming weekend but most planned to coincide with the long Labor Day weekend."

However, the AAA said its 12th weekly survey of 3,984 stations across the country showed a continued slight improvement in gasoline supplies. It said 55 per cent of the stations were remaining open on their normal schedule and allowing unlimited purchases, compared with 54 per cent last week.

THE SURVEY showed the Denver area, where gasoline shortages have been the most severe, continued to improve but still reported 75 per cent of the stations closing at noon Saturday until 7 a.m. Monday, 40 per cent closing at noon week days and 10 per cent out of gasoline.

TENNIS ANYONE, now sounds in local bars, as new electronic games proliferate. The games, played on television screens, pit player against player against machine through remote control.

Brave new circuitry

Play darts, tennis, ping pong without leaving your barstool

by JOE SWICKARD

Taverns were, at one time, places where persons went for a drink and perhaps some conversation. The only competition was to see who could remain seated the longest.

But pinball games reared their scoreboards and the character of the American tavern began changing. Soon bowling and other games of skill or chance entered. Now through the miracle of television, darts, tennis and ping pong have left the courts and rec rooms for the corner tap.

Electronic dart games were the first of the new breed of mechanical entertainers. Real darts, long a fixture in English pubs, never gained a major following in this country. Perhaps its inherent danger to noninvolved tipplers lessened its appeal on this side of the pond.

Wayne Hesch, manager of A.H. Entertainers, Rolling Meadows, supplies the new electronic games to local watering holes. His firm makes the investment in the device, which is in turn installed on a commission basis, in the taverns.

ACCORDING TO Hesch, the dart game first appeared on the market 14 months ago. Since then, the game's popularity has boomed and slackened.

The basic game consists of two wall panels; one showing the dart tosser, and the other depicting the target. The game is played with a remote control box, similar to an automatic garage door opener.

The player watches the animated thrower's motion. At the moment the player deems proper, he presses the control button which causes the thrower to "toss" the dart. The point at which the button is pressed determines which arc the dart will follow. A series of lights show the dart's "flight" and score.

Hesch said the dart game was immediately popular, but that its appeal was not long-lived. The novelty soon wore off and patrons stopped playing it. The barkeeps no longer made their money from it, so they asked to have it removed, he said.

"We have to move them around to different locations. They may be popular for six months or maybe just two weeks. You really can't tell in advance. When people stop playing them, it's time to move the device," Hesch said.

THE DART game's appeal, in Hesch's opinion, was its basic electronic operation.

"This was the first game where they could actually see that it worked electronically. You sat at the bar or table with the box and the game was on the wall. You worked it without wires."

Although the dart game was a novelty item, Hesch said he did not think of it as an electronic hula hoop.

"With the hula hoop all you had was a plastic tube. It didn't lead to anything else. Now we're starting to get other electronic games like the golf courses or the ping pong games. Darts led to other things. It had spin-offs."

One of the more popular spin-offs is the ping pong or tennis game. The device is a television screen with two control knobs in the cabinet. The game is played by moving the "paddles" to intercept the "ball's" bounce.

THE BALL AND paddles are represented by a white dot and bars respectively. The knobs operate on the same principal as the "etch-a-sketch" child's drawing machine.

The game is to 11, costs a quarter and is addicting. The "ball" moves at a deceptively slow speed. The player is often faked out of position by the dot's devious dance across the screen. Most people, especially after a couple of beers, aren't about to let themselves be bested by some machine (the other player ain't that good); so they slip another two bits in the till for another match.

Many singles bars in the area have game rooms or sections set aside for the darts, ping pong and other machines. The old pinball machine seems to be the favorite, with the tennis running a respectable second.

However, physically active games are also popular with the patrons. The table versions of soccer or disc hockey have not only avid players, but cheering sidelines as well.

THE PLAYERS' fantasies may have something to do with the popularity of the manual games. The "Foos-Ball" or disc hockey player can picture himself trouncing Pele or putting a stunning move on Bobby Orr. Ping pong? Aren't the real superstars of that sport all Red Chinese? A call to whip the Red Menace is hardly the drawing card a singles bar is likely to put out.

For the nondrinker, either through choice or timeliness of birth, these electronic marvels can be played in the comfort and safety of their own home. Magnavox markets Odyssey, a set of 12 games that can be played on a home television screen.

The package, retailing at $99.95, can be hooked up to any set with an 18-inch or larger screen. A spokesman for the company said anyone with a screwdriver could do the job.

WHILE MAGNAVOX said the home market for electronic games is expanding, Hesch said the professional game distributors are studying their market.

"You asked the right question about where we go from here. The professional group just sent out a letter to the dealers to get their views on the future of the market, new games, cost of operation, repair factors, all those things. In some ways it's still too soon to answer. We want the answers ourselves," he said.

Ping pong, darts, golf, tennis and bowling machines. Table hockey and soccer. All that's needed is an electronic roller derby and the bierstube can hang out a new shingle: Sportsplatz.

'Buffalo Grove Days' festival only 8 days away

In the final week before Buffalo Grove Days, preparations for the four-day celebration are gearing up.

The 11th annual festival will begin Aug. 31 with a swim party and dance for teens at the Willow Stream Pool on Farrington Drive. The party will run from 6:30 to 10:30 p.m.

The highlight of Sept. 1 will be the annual dinner dance for adults. The dance will be in the parking lot of the Ranch Mart Shopping Center, Dundee and Buffalo Grove roads.

Cocktails will be served at 7 p.m., with dinner at 8 p.m. The buffet dinner will include beef, chicken, ham, Swedish meat balls, several salads and a relish tray. Beer on tap also will be available.

Bill Scott and his band will provide dance music from 9:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

ALTHOUGH NOT compulsory, those attending the dinner dance are urged to dress in Gay 90s attire, in line with the general festival setting. Prizes will be awarded for the best costume.

Anyone who attends the dinner dance but does not get fed will receive a refund, according to organizer Norm Katz. Washroom facilities for the dance will be available at the Ranch Mart, he said.

Tickets for the dance, $5 per person, are on sale at the Village Hall, 50 Raupp Blvd., Foremost Liquors in the Buffalo Grove Mall or at Rose-Lynn Flooring in the Ranch Mart Center.

The annual Buffalo Grove Days' parade will begin Sunday, Sept. 2 at 1 p.m. Between 1,200 to 1,500 persons will participate in the parade which will feature bands and floats from local organizations.

Awards will be given for the best marching bands and floats, according to Bob Bogart, co-chairman of this year's celebration.

The parade will proceed from Arlington Heights Road and Bernard Drive to Bernard and Raupp Blvd.

FOLLOWING THE parade, residents can participate in a variety of activities from a motorcycle demonstration to an art fair.

The motorcycle demonstration will be given by the Medinah Motor Corps, near the village hall.

At 1 p.m. on Sunday, an art fair will be conducted in front of the village hall. Around 50 artists from all over the state have already signed up to enter the fair, which will feature watercolor paintings, acrylic and oil paintings and drawings and graphics.

Cash awards and ribbons will be presented to the top paintings. Anyone who wishes to enter the art fair should contact Ted Uskali at 537-5280.

Various homemaking skills will be presented in the annual homecoming competition, also scheduled for Sunday. Area residents will compete in needlecraft, baking, canning and gardening categories. The homemaker who receives top honors will be crowned "Homemaking Queen."

POST-PARADE activities also will include a variety of games and rides. Ten different games, costing 10 cents each to play, will be set up around the village hall. With more than 6,000 prizes to be awarded "almost everyone should get a prize," according to Katz.

Concessions serving beer, brat, cola and hot dogs, will be open all day, he said.

Sunday's activities will be topped off at 9 p.m. with a fireworks display sponsored by the Buffalo Grove Jaycees.

September 3, the Buffalo Grove Recreation Association will sponsor a picnic near the village hall. The picnic will feature games for all ages, along with a variety of food. Adults attending will be able to play bingo, Bogart said.

Residents of neighboring communities are welcome to attend all festival events, according to Katz.

12 seek 'Miss Buffalo Grove' title

A potential Miss America will be crowned Saturday night at the third annual Miss Buffalo Grove Pageant.

Twelve contestants from the Buffalo Grove, Wheeling, Arlington Heights and Long Grove areas, will compete in the pageant, at 8 p.m. in the Cooper Junior High School auditorium.

The girls were announced as contestants last month and have been rehearsing for the pageant since then. The girl selected as Miss Buffalo Grove of 1973 will go on to compete in the Miss Illinois Pageant. Miss Illinois will then compete in the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, N.J.

The Buffalo Grove Jaycees are sponsoring the pageant. According to Sharon Cuculic, one of the pageant organizers, this year's pageant theme will be "When you Wish Upon a Star."

THE 12 CONTESTANTS are Melinda Bain, 19, of 1112 Harvard Ln., Buffalo Grove; Jackie Blaese, 18, of 952 Valley Stream Dr., Wheeling; Katherine Buerger, 20, of 712 N. Green Dr., Wheeling; Anne Butler, 18, Rte. 2, Box 350 Long Grove; Karen Funk, 18, of 862 Thornton Ln., Buffalo Grove; also Debra Gaynor, 18, of 3242 N. Volz Dr., Arlington Heights, Pamela Hauber, 18, of 291 Lincoln Terr., Buffalo Grove; Paige McCabe, 18, of 49 Cedar Ln., Wheeling; Peggy Prokoff, 17, of 590 Hickory Ln., Buffalo Grove; Therese Schneller, of 108 E. Center, Wheeling; Patricia Strong, 17, of 14 E. Hintz Rd., Arlington Heights and Debra Zawacki, 18, of 1028 Whitehall Dr., Buffalo Grove.

The pageant will be conducted along the lines of the national Miss America Pageant, Mrs. Cuculic said. Girls will participate in swimsuit, evening gown and talent competitions. In addition, the girls will present a song and dance number to open the pageant.

AFTER THE presentation of the Miss Congeniality award, voted on by the contestants, the winner and two runners-up will be selected.

Girls also will be required to answer an interview-type question during the pageant, and will have personal interviews with the judges Saturday afternoon. Judges for the pageant are being supplied by the national Miss America organization.

Cora Rita Jones, Miss Buffalo Grove of 1972, and Lynn Kolman, Miss Buffalo Grove of 1971, also will participate in the pageant.

Pageant tickets are available at the Bank of Buffalo Grove, at Rose-Lynn Flooring in the Ranchmart Shopping Center, and at Foremost Liquors in the Buffalo Grove mall. They cost $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Suburbs bear brunt of O'Hare night noise

by STEVE BROWN

Current O'Hare International Airport noise abatement procedures apparently shuttle most night flights over the suburbs and prohibit take-off and landings over Chicago, The Herald has learned.

The regulations, which were put into effect in 1970, force suburban communities around the airport to bear the brunt of noise at night. According to airport documents, the airlines are prohibited from using flight patterns over the city, unless bad weather or wind conditions force changes.

While the documents, which were prepared by the City of Chicago, are public record, few local officials said they were aware of any noise abatement procedures that had been put into effect at O'Hare.

Several Des Plaines city officials recently obtained the procedures and have made the regulations available to U.S. Rep. Sam Young, R-10th, and representatives of National Organization to Insure Sound-controlled Environment (NOISE).

IN AN INTERVIEW with the Herald earlier this week, Young said the O'Hare regulations seem to show a preference towards Chicago regarding night take-offs and landings.

"I plan to meet with Chicago airport officials next week to discuss this matter," he said. Young's district includes Des Plaines and several other communities which border the airport.

He said use of the runways should be rotated so that all residential areas receive equal impact from arriving and departing aircraft.

"I do not feel there should be any preference shown in this matter," Young said. The congressman has been an outspoken proponent of noise abatement procedures for O'Hare.

At an organizational meeting for the O'Hare area NOISE chapter, Young said he is currently working on legislation which give the Federal Aviation Administration power to set noise levels for all airports.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency is presently preparing a set of noise guidelines that will be presented to the FAA in October.

According to the airport documents, runways 27L and 27R are not to be used from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. These two runways lead directly over Chicago's north and northwest side.

SEVERAL ATTEMPTS to question Chicago aviation officials about the reported preferential treatment for the city proved unsuccessful.

A spokesman for the FAA said there are no federal prohibitions in runway use at O'Hare. He said all runways are used equally and that no one area receives any more air traffic than another area.

He said weather conditions and traffic are the primary factors in deciding which runways are to be used.

Pete Edison, the FAA's noise abatement officer in Chicago, said that he could not comment on the possibility that the city might have runway prohibitions.

"I just don't know," he added.

OFFICIALS FROM a number of area communities met last week to discuss airport noise. They plan to prepare a list of recommendations aimed at reducing aircraft noise in the next few weeks.

New pollution laws ignore business, contends Chamber

by LEA TONKIN

THERE'S GOTTA be a better way. Every time the state pollution control agencies come out with a new or improved set of regulations, the business community squawks that it's been dealt a death blow by a group of unreasonable bureaucrats.

The Illinois State Chamber of Commerce barely had time to blast the recent announcement of new noise pollution controls by the Illinois Pollution Control Board (IPCB) — with the charge that they will mean astronomical costs for questionable technology — before it trounced on the new solid waste disposal standards.

"Again and again, we find the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the Pollution Control Board (IPCB) ignoring the collective expertise of business in drawing up environmental control regulations, and failing to consider such vital factors as the technical feasibility and economic reasonableness of environmental controls," said state Chamber Pres. Lester Brann Jr.

Commenting on the new regulations to control the disposal of certain types of solid waste in landfill areas, Brann said the economic well-being of Illinois is jeopardized by the standards, and that several problems are apparent in the standards.

First of all, Brann says, the language is fuzzy. "Hazardous wastes" are not properly defined. Then there is the "exorbitant and unnecessary expense" for applicants under the permit system in addition to problems involving wastes resulting from air and water pollution control.

Brann wants to see more participation by industry representatives in the formulation of new state standards. "As it is now, we can only react when regulations which we object to are adopted," he said.

He's omitting the fact that industry representatives can participate in public hearings which precede the adoption of new pollution control regulations. What Brann has in mind is probably the state Chamber bill to require the state Institute for Environmental Quality to prepare a study of the impact of pollution control regulations, and to require the IPCB to conduct economic impact hearings.

The purpose of such a bill is to strike a balance between the state's environmental and economic needs, said the state Chamber executive. Brann favors S.B. 589, now in a conference committee, slated for consideration in the fall session of the state legislature. The bill is sponsored by state Sen. A. C. Junie Bartulis, R-Benld.

This is an unfortunately lopsided proposal. Bartulis' bill would zero in on the adverse effects of envirionmental regulations on local government, citizens, farmers and commerce and industry.

We'd like to believe the EPA and IPCB have positive results in mind when they propose new state pollution control standards. For starters, there are clean air and clean water. Let's hope that the move to restructure the pollution control rule-making procedures does not hobble its potential for positive results.

ILLINOIS COAL industry, along with the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, is pushing for a halt in the enforcement of state sulphur dioxide emission regulations. A bill (HB 763) which would grant a one-year delay in this enforcement now awaits Gov. Walker's signature. The Chamber wants a successful one-year test of sulphur dioxide removal device "enabling companies to use high sulphur coal while assisting the Illinois coal industry."

LET'S NOT forget another beneficiary involved in the delay of sulphur dioxide enforcement. This week brings another criticism of Commonwealth Edison's concern for our total environment.

It seems the utility has been dragging its feet in its pollution control programs at eight of its Illinois power generating stations. The state Environmental Protection Agency (EPA's) acting director Jack Marco says it's only fair that Edison's bid for a rate increase before the Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC) should be tied to its commitment to cleanup programs.

Edison was supposed to submit an acceptable plan for air pollution control at the eight plants in question by June 1, but no acceptable plan was offered, said Marco. His request echoes a petition recently submitted by Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott. This is the third time Scott has intervened in an Edison rate case to push for cleanup programs.

The utility contends it is spending more than $300 million of its current $4 billion construction program on pollution programs. And it says the state EPA just doesn't take into consideration the efforts it has made in the last several years to curtail air pollution. These include the use of costly low sulphur coal from out of state.

Edison says its problems include the shortage of some relatively clean sources of fuel, the delays in delivery of pollution control equipment and the unsuitability of many power stations for burning low sulphur coal. And the lack of a reliable sulphur dioxide removal system is another problem being ignored, the company contends.

Obituaries

Alvin A. Popp

Alvin Albert Popp, 64, of Manitowish Waters, Wis., formerly of Arlington Heights, died Tuesday morning in Sherman Hospital, Elgin. Born in Illinois, Oct. 14, 1908, Mr. Popp was a retired owner of the Arlington Heights Roller Mills Feed and Grain Co.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. today in Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home, 2000 N. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights. Officiating will be the Rev. Douglas Loving. Burial will be in Ridgewood Cemetery, Des Plaines.

Preceded in death by his wife, Rosalinda, nee Laufer, survivors include a son, Alvin D. and daughter-in-law, Linda Popp of Woodstock; two grandsons, David and Christopher Popp; two sisters, Mrs. Anna Haseman and Mrs. Elizabeth (Fred) Haemker, both of Palatine, and a brother, Henry of Tracey, Minn.

Angela Schmidt

Mrs. Angela Schmidt, 66, nee Weber, a resident of Arlington Heights for 19 years, died yesterday morning in Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, after a short illness.

A retired clerk for an oil company, she was born Feb. 18, 1907, in Chicago.

Visitation is today from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home, 2000 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights, and tomorrow from 2 to 5 and from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Funeral Mass will be said at 10 a.m. Saturday in St. Colette Catholic Church, 3900 S. Meadow Dr., Rolling Meadows. Burial will be in Jefferson City, Mo.

Surviving are a son, William P. Jr. and daughter-in-law, Frances Schmidt of Rolling Meadows; two grandsons, William III and David A. Schmidt; two brothers, Joseph G. Weber of Wisconsin and Robert L. Weber of Arlington Heights, and three sisters, Mrs. Edith (Harrison) Meyers of Cleveland, Ohio, Mrs. Marie Moag and Mrs. Isabel Christensen, both of Chicago. She was preceded in death by her husband, William P. Sr.

Shirley C. Mitchell

Mrs. Shirley C. Mitchell, nee Crowe, of 280 Westgate, Mount Prospect, died Tuesday in Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, after a short illness. She was born May 24, 1919, in Illinois.

Visitation is today from 4 to 10 p.m. in Friedrichs Funeral Home, 320 W. Central Rd. at Northwest Highway, Mount Prospect, and tomorrow from 2 to 10 p.m.

Mrs. Mitchell was an assistant secretary of the Ladies Auxiliary V.F.W. State of Illinois; past president of First District and past president of First Aero Wing Post, No. 1234.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the chapel of the funeral home, with the Rev. Nolan A. Watson of St. Mark Lutheran Church, Mount Prospect, officiating. Burial will be in Clarendon Hills Cemetery, Clarendon Hills.

Surviving are her husband, Harold (Scotty); three stepdaughters, Mrs. Doris (Ralph) Fied of Engleside, Ill., Mrs. Patricia (Sam) Affrunti of Chicago and Mrs. Georgia (Robert) Delgado of Chulia Vista, Calif.; 10 grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. Mildred Hill, Mrs. Virgie Paeny and Shelby Crowe, all of Chicago, and two brothers, Charles Crowe of Mascoutah, Ill., and Robert Crowe of Addison.

Family requests, in lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to the Cancer Fund.

Fred W. Gerken

Funeral services for Fred W. Gerken, 89, a resident of Arlington Heights for 38 years, will be held at 1:30 p.m. today in Haire Funeral Home, Northwest Highway and Vail Avenue, Arlington Heights.

Officiating will be the Rev. Henry Blanke of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Montrose and LaVerne, Chicago. Burial will be in Union Ridge Cemetery, Chicago.

He is survived by his widow, Ida C., nee Harmening; a son, Wilfred and daughter-in-law, Lucille Gerken of Arlington Heights; a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy (Marvin) Rodewald of McHenry; four grandchildren, Donald and James Gerken, Bruce Rodewald and Lynn Rodewald Prior, and two great-grandchildren, Kristen and Kimberly Prior.

Mr. Gerken, who had resided at 716 N. Arlington Heights Rd. for the last 20 years, died Tuesday morning in Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights. A retired farmer, he was a director of Cook County Truck Gardeners Association. He was born in Chicago, June 20, 1884.

Family requests, contributions may be made to St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Montrose and LaVerne, Chicago.

Stanley Smith

Fremd principal is appointed to state committee

Stanley Smith, principal of Fremd High School in Palatine, was recently appointed to the state committee of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Smith's three year term began July 1. The association is a national school accrediting organization which sets educational standards and evaluates academic programs in its member schools.

As one of 18 members of the state committee, Smith will assist in formulating state-level education policies, conduct investigations of programs in the association's member schools, arrange conferences and workshops for school administrators and teachers, plan visits to the schools and review the qualifications of the association's visitation team members.

Devon lights approved

The Cook County Board of Commissioners this week approved an agreement for traffic signal lights at the intersections of Devon Avenue with Lively Boulevard and Tonne Road in Elk Grove Village.

Under the agreement, Elk Grove Village will maintain the new signals, pay electricity costs and pay one-fourth the installation. The total will be about $28,000.

The lights will probably not be installed until next year when Devon widening is completed.

Elk Grove Assistant Village Mgr. Bob Franz said the city of Wood Dale will share in maintenance and electricity costs at Devon and Tonne once Wood Dale extends its boundaries to that intersection.

The county will seek federal funds to finance 50 per cent of the installation costs for the signals. The rest will come from the county treasury.

Devon and Tonne is currently a four-way stop intersection. And traffic on Lively currently stops for Devon.

Herald editorial

Walker should name donors

To be a great governor — or even a reasonably good one — Daniel Walker must learn there's a certain high morality of leadership which can be a part of his office.

It is now time, as Illinois residents are painfully aware, for Walker to learn to exercise that morality.

This past weekend, Chicago newspapers poured out a floodtide of accusations about the sources of Walker's campaign funds. The allegations included strong-arm solicitation of contributions from many state-regulated industries, a process which is illegal in Illinois.

Daniel Walker

The accusations clouded Walker's image as the Mr. Clean of Illinois politics, and his subsequent counterattacks did little to clear the air:

—On Sunday, Walker charged that two Chicago newspapers have distorted the truth about his campaign. But Walker also repeated his refusal to make public the list of contributors to his 1972 campaign.

—On Monday, Walker signed an executive order commanding all firms doing business with Illinois or regulated by the state to disclose any and all political contributions given to state candidates during the past two years.

Superficially, this sounds good. But there's a strong chance that Walker's order faces a court test, thus slowing its implementation. And we imagine most firms doing business with the state would be reluctant to list campaign contributions to Walker or any other government official and thus risk prosecution.

Walker today has the chance to take the leadership — to exercise the "higher morality" of a governor setting a good example — and reveal the names of his campaign contributors. If laws have been violated, Walker and others will suffer the consequences, but if Walker is clean, he has nothing to fear.

During and after last year's campaign Walker repeatedly refused to divulge his list of contributors, with the tired excuse that Richard Ogilvie must make the same move at the same time.

Today, however, Daniel Walker is governor of Illinois, and his actions will set the tone for the rest of state government. If he chooses to act in a responsible manner, as he promised to during the campaign, he indeed will set a new standard for Illinois politics.

However, if Walker continues his cheap shell game, and continues to denounce newspapers for headlines rather than squarely facing their accusations, then Walker may have branded himself as nothing more than another money-grubbing politican, one of a breed which has dominated Illinois for ages.

The whole episode calls for tough campaign disclosure laws which the Herald has endorsed repeatedly. The Illinois legislature has a responsibility for moral leadership in creating conditions under which a politician can't afford not to be honest.

Only this type of regulation will drive the privilege-seeking special interests out of politics, or it will at least discourage them from funneling cash to their pet politicians. It is the kind of legislation which Walker — at least the Walker who speaks of moral leadership — should support.

Midsummer night's screams

Bob Lahey's column

Cumulative voting facing threat in petition campaign

An organization called the Committee for Legislative Reform is preparing an organized effort to throw out the unique system of "cumulative voting" by which Illinoisans elect members of the state House of Representatives.

The group will soon hold an organizational meeting to launch a campaign to gather some 400,000 signatures on petitions to place on the 1974 election ballot a question to reduce the size of the House from 177 to 118 members.

Their goal is to split each of the 59 legislative districts in the state in two — for purposes of electing representatives — and to elect one member from each district to the House. The 59 districts would be left intact for purposes of electing state senators.

As it stands now, Illinois is alone among the 50 states in the process of using cumulative voting to assure election in each district of at least one member of the minority party of the area.

That is the chief defense of the cumulative voting, multi-member districts by those who argue against changing the system.

Whatever the disadvantages of multi-member districts, members of the minority party are assured of one home-area representative of their party. The Committee on Legislative Reform argues, however, that that doesn't necessarily mean representative government, and it points to nine members of the present legislature — five Chicago Republicans, two suburban Republicans, one suburban Democrat, and one suburban independent — who were elected with less than 20 per cent of the popular vote last November.

The committee also cites five districts where one party or the other had a clear majority in the popular vote, but where the minority party was able to elect two of the three representatives.

This, of course is accomplished by "bullet voting," under the provision, unique to Illinois, in which the voter may cast three votes for one candidate, or 1-½ votes for two of the three.

The committee points out an interesting historical point: Cumulative voting was adopted in the constitution of 1870 in an effort to avoid a bitter North-South division in the wake of the Civil War, at a time when voters of Southern Illinois were expected to vote solidly Democratic and those in the North, solidly Republican.

The cumulative voting system assured persons in both areas whose war sentiments differed with those of the neighbors of some representation in the capital.

The committee argues that that need is obsolete, and that the voters would be better represented by a single legislator who is responsible directly to them.

The committee also argues that reducing the size of the legislature would save millions in salaries and staff expenses and would improve efficiency in the House.

There are other arguments put forth by the committee, but the question of multi-member or single-member districts is likely to be settled by the voters on the question of whether minority party members are willing to relinquish their lone party representatives in each of the 59 existing districts.

In the Northwest suburbs, for instance, the creation of single-member districts would in all likelihood spell the end of the legislative careers of such Democrats as Eugenia Chapman of Arlington Heights; Richard Mugalian of Palatine; Harold Katz of Glencoe; Aaron Jaffe of Skokie; and Jack Williams of Franklin Park.

Fence post letters to the editor

'Let's back Post Office'

Recently, one of your readers sent in an open letter to Congressman Philip M. Crane, which lamented the increase of postal rates. As I recall her statement, it was, "Postal rates have increased to a point where it costs nearly as much to send you a letter as it does to travel to Washington to see you." No objective person should take such blatant hyperbole seriously.

Mr. Crane, it seems, chose to give her remarks serious treatment. In his reply to her, which appeared in the Fence Post, he indicated that he considers the U.S. postal system to be a monopoly — a monopoly that is taking unfair advantage of any group wishing to compete. He fails to mention however, that the post office is one of the very few organizations authorized by the U. S. Constitution to operate on a government subsidy. (Article I, Section 8, U. S. Constitution.) Also he does not mention that there are at present at least 50 creatures of collectivism in America, public housing being but one example, for which congress has unconscionably and unconstitutionally authorized subsidy after subsidy, which in many cases compete unfairly with private enterprise. And the Supreme Court, incidentally, while making busy-work of passing down pontifical edicts on abortion and pornography, has chosen to look the other way while an irresponsible Congress has passed law after law which are clearly unconstitutional.

And what does Mr. Crane propose as an alternative to the U. S. Post Office? He favors an amorphous group known as "The Independent Postal System of America."

The IPSA, for a thousand dollars, will sell a "route" composed of a few square blocks of the purchaser's neighborhood. This confers the right for them to tote sacks of third and fourth class mail around to their neighbors. It must be delivered during specified hours. Such an arrangement makes it a cinch for mon and the kids after they come home from school to earn a couple of hundred dollars per week, or so IPSA claims. But this is only chicken feed compared to what they can earn if they want to purchase another route for an additional thousand dollars and because according to the terms of the agreement they are not allowed to hire any outside help, they get to keep all of this extra money themselves. This holds true no matter how hard it is raining, or snowing, what the temperature is, or how heavy the load becomes.

For most free enterprising American families these hardships would normally pose no serious problem. After all, there is plenty of time after the kids get out of school. What youngster these days would mind giving up baseball, basketball, hockey, etc., for the privilege of hauling a lot of junk mail from house to house. And since delivery of mail is a six days a week proposition, their Saturdays would be spoken for, too.

And there's mom. After she gets thru with the housework, feeding and bathing the baby, doing the shopping and cooking the meals, she would have plenty of time left to sashay around with a 40 or 50 pound bag of circulars from her local emporium, and if she happens to be expecting, so much the better.

If that's what they're calling "free enterprise" these days, maybe they better make mine butterscotch.

A tribute for a lady

I was shaken to have learned of the recent passing of Mrs. Willa Burts. I was not a personal friend of hers, but I had the pleasure of her company on several occasions at SCLC board meetings. She was a proud, young, dynamic, attractive black lady who cared for others. She wasn't a leader nor another Dr. King, but she was a unique individual, "a lady."

Her Afro that she had worn was with dignity and her voice was of strength and determination.

Militant she was not, an interested human being she was. In Schaumburg, the community where Willa resided and in the community where she taught school she will be missed and remembered by many. I will always remember her in the fullest context as a genuine lady.

A poem dedicated in memory of Mrs. Burts:

A Lady
A lady is one that has dignity and poise
A loving heart and open arms.
Sensitive but yet an inner strength.
Dynamic enough when passing through this world to leave an imprint.

Dancing boosted

Referring to your square dance article of August 17, reported by Genie Campbell. The article itself will help square dancing as a whole, however, it left a number of clubs out of the picture. Arlington Squares, Flick Reedy Chargers, Slowpokes, Bells & Bows, etc. of the Mount Prospect area are some that were omitted.

It would seem to us that a reporter should be a little more factual in reporting the true facts. The advertisment gained, by these certain clubs mentioned in the article, was certainly tremendous.

The life of a square dance club is based on the number of beginning dancers enrolled in their classes. Therefore, you can realize why we are quite upset because our club, the "Arlington Squares", having a history of 24 years in the Arlington Heights area, was not mentioned in the article. Our club and most others, are incorporated as a non-profit organization, dedicated wholly to promote fun and mental health of the entire community. Foggy Tompson, the featured caller in the article, is also our club caller and has been for many years.

We hope your reporter will take some corrective measures to undo the harm that was done.

Pachyderm patrol a D.C. 'first'?

by ARNOLD B. SAWISIAK

WASHINGTON — Jerry Wilson, Washington, D. C. police chief, has assigned six of his officers to patrol the city on new 10-speed bicycles — an encouraging sign that our law enforcement officials are really looking for innovative ways to prevent crime.

It struck me though that Chief Wilson, whose men also have motor scooters, squad cars, paddy wagons and various configurations of motor cycles, drew up short of a real departure in police transport.

Elephants are what he needs.

Lest anyone think this is a frivolous suggestion, consider some of the problems Wilson and other police chiefs have that could be eased with a pachyderm patrol.

Washington is a place that seems to draw crowds. Inaugurations, prowar and antiwar demonstrations and millions of tourists yearly tax the police department's crowd-handling capacity.

Some police forces, including the U. S. Park Police in Washington, use horses for this kind of work. All well and good, but the times cry out for creativity. Just as the Air Force insists that the B1 bomber is the logical follow-on to the B52, who can deny that the elephant provides more bang for the buck than the horse?

On the face of it, there are things an elephant can do that simply are not within the mission of your ordinary horse. Extinguishing fires in trash baskets, for example.

There are other obvious pluses in an elephant procurement program. Chief Wilson was the pioneer of a crowd control technique in which he used transit buses, parked bumper to bumper, to keep marchers from approaching the White House or other targets.

There was one episode in which demonstrators tried to tip over one of the big buses walling them in. They aren't likely to try that with an elephant.

There are regular patrol missions elephants could fill beautifully. Along with many big cities, Washington has several areas where the policeman, in a vehicle or on foot, is not particularly welcome.

An officer of my acquaintance whom we shall call Clarence says one of the patrolman's big problems on the inner city streets is to command some vestige of respect in an age when judges frown upon use of the night stick as an attention-getter.

Elephants, we are told, are among nature's gentler creatures, but they do have a presence that cannot be overlooked. It is hard to believe that a policeman perched 10 or 15 feet above the sidewalk, carrying one of those wicked looking hooked poles affected by mahouts, would not represent an authority figure to the average street dude.

There are some problems, of course. Elephants are not in long supply in the United States so far as we can tell, and it might be a burden on the balance of payments account to import them in numbers.

On the other hand, elephants in repayment for foreign aid might be just the ticket for some of the underdeveloped nations anxious for U. S. assistance.

While elephants certainly don't make the racket that motorcycles do nor produce smog, there could be an environmental problem. It is hard to believe, though, that a technology capable to sending men to he moon could not find a way to toilet train an elephant. (UPI)

Palatine exec explains

Safety, a booming business

by LEA TONKIN

Every now and then, Palatine executive Roger Sellstrom drops a heavy steel ball on his office floor.

"I bet that made a dent in the floor," Sellstrom said, stooping to pick up the ball. He's right — the carpeting now conceals a small groove in the flooring.

But he's made an important point in this little demonstration. The ball is used in the testing of safety headgear produced at the Sellstrom Manufacturing Co. plant on Hicks Road.

A "test head" equipped with a protective hardcap (it has a single peak) is thwacked by the steel ball, and a needle-nosed plumb bob slams down hard on the updated hardhat.

What Sellstrom is concerned about is more than abusive tests on a dummy, however. He is selling safety. It's measured in how many lives are saved, how many pairs of eyes are successfully protected, and how many disabling injuries can be avoided.

THE COMPANY is marking this week for a celebration of its 50th year in the design and manufacture of eye and face protection products. And the outlook couldn't be brighter, Sellstrom said. "The landmark date comes when the emphasis on safety in business and industry, schools and institutions is at an all-time high," he said.

"With the passage of OSHA (Occupational Safety and Health Act) many industries are becoming aware of safety needs," Sellstrom said. And many of the larger, heavy industries — such as metalworking — have been involved in safety programs for 30 years.

The tremendous impetus of the fledgling OSHA regulations and the new state safety laws covering students in laboratory and shop classes, boosted Sellstrom's business by a whopping 32 per cent last year. Sales this year are maintaining an upward trend.

THE COMPANY is breaking ground this week on a new addition to its plant, the third addition to the Palatine plant since it was opened in 1955. "We hope to complete the addition by February," said Sellstrom. Additional employes will be added to the present staff of 160 workers, enabling the company to beef up its production for national and international distribution.

When the company was founded in Chicago in 1923 by Roger Sellstrom's father, the late G. E. Sellstrom, green eye shields commonly worn by bookkeepers were its stock in trade. This evolved into sunshades, then welding lenses and plates. Sellstrom now produces a line of safety glasses, face shields, welding helmets, hearing protectors, welding goggles and hard caps. Some 40,000 variations in the type of frames and shades, lenses are available in safety glasses alone.

SELLSTROM SAID his firm is probably the largest independent manufacturer in the safety equipment field. "Most of the smaller companies were gobbled up by conglomerates," he says. But the competition is good for business, said Sellstrom. Prices for safety equipment are competitive, and the manufacturer has to "scramble to develop products meeting the fast-changing safety needs."

Today's elementary and high school students will become accustomed to wearing protective goggles and other equipment required by law, he added. The company is ready to market smaller headgear to suit their needs. This should mean the one major area still untapped by safety equipment manufacturers can eventually be reached — the home workshop. Sellstrom said, "The idea is to get used to wearing the equipment."

Union Oil

Union Oil Co. of California net earnings for the first six months of 1973 were $78.4 million on total revenues of $1.35 billion, compared with earnings of $57.7 million on revenues of $1.19 billion in the same 1972 period, said Fred L. Hartley, president. Net earnings per average common share outstanding for the six months were $2.34 in 1973 and $1.61 in 1972. On a fully diluted basis, the per share earnings were $1.92 and $1.41, respectively. For the second quarter, net earnings were $40.2 million compared with $27.9 million a year earlier. Earnings per average common share outstanding were $1.20 in 1973 and 77 cents in 1972. Fully diluted, per share earnings were, respectively, 98 cents and 68 cents.

The Professionals REAL ESTATE OF THE NORTHWEST SUBURBS

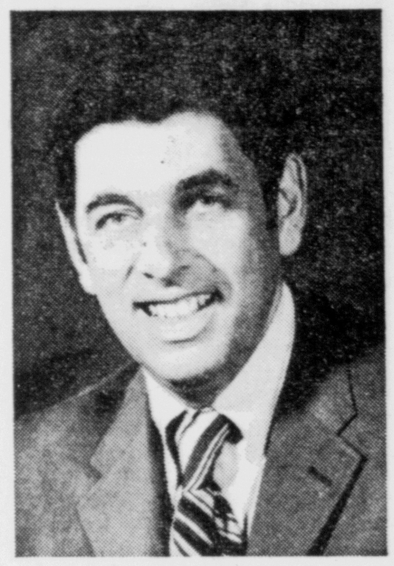
Rich Port, Realtor

RICH PORT, Chairman of the Board of Rich Port, Realtor is Past President of the National Association of Realtors, The Illinois Association of Realtors and the La Grange Real Estate Board. In 1964, he was honored as "Illinois Realtor of the Year". He was one of the founders and First Dean of the Realtors Institute of Illinois. Currently, he is on the Board of Governors and active on various local, state and national association committees.



DICK CARUSO, President of Rich Port, Realtor, is currently serving on various local, state and national association committees. He is a Director of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors, Treasurer of the Barrington Board of Realtors and Chairman of the Education Committee of the Illinois Association of Realtors. He is a Senior Instructor for the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers (NIREB) and a member of it's Governing Council.

Rich Port, Realtor, with 17 offices serving more than 100 communities in the northwest and west Chicago suburbs, specializes in residential, commercial and investment real estate.

The Executive Offices of Rich Port, Realtor are in La Grange. In the northwest suburbs, the corporation is represented by five offices: Arlington Heights — Bob Anderson, Vice President and Sales Manager; Barrington — Barbara Watson, Vice President and Sales Manager; Mt. Prospect — Pat Fairman, Vice President and Sales Manager; Park Ridge — Dotti Ellis, Vice President and Sales Manager and Schaumburg — Bert Carlson, Vice President and Sales Manager.

In the western suburbs, sales offices are located in Clarendon Hills, Darien, Downers Grove, Elmhurst, Glen Ellyn, Hinsdale, La Grange (2), La Grange Park, Naperville, Western Springs and Wheaton.

From the day the corporation was founded, Rich Port, Realtor has based its reputation on the highest standards of real estate service. The corporation's motto, "For Real Service In Real Estate", means that Rich Port, Realtor and every member of the staff is dedicated to serving you, so that buyer and seller may realize maximum benefits from each transaction.

All offices, both northwest and west, are locally managed and staffed by sales associates living in and oriented to their community. A recent survey of Rich Port, Realtor personnel showed participation and involvement in 161 different community activities. This total involvement and giving of one's time and effort to the community is one of the reasons our sales associates can relate quickly to the needs and demands of clients.

The success of Rich Port, Realtor is reflected in its sales associates. Last year, 38 sales associates had sales of over $1 Million; 5 sales associates had more than $2 Million and 1 sales associate had more than $3 Million in sales. Through July of this year (1973), 21 sales associates have already more than $1 Million in sales and 3 sales associates have more than $2 Million.

As a HOME SELLER, "Real Service in Real Estate" means that we will help make selling your home as pleasant an experience as possible. Advanced techniques in appraising your home will be used to determine its realistic market value. Picture letters, newspaper advertising and a Home Selector Guide with wide distribution are used in merchandising your home. In addition to an intra-office referral system, your home will be listed with your local Multiple Listing Service assuring maximum market exposure and making it available to all Realtors.

As a HOME BUYER, "Real Service In Real Estate", means that we want to help you locate a home that is designed to meet your needs, be a sound investment and offer your family lots of good living. We will provide you with community information about schools, churches, shopping centers, medical centers, recreation, social and other points of interest. We will also offer you a choice of homes by cooperating Realtors through many Multiple Listing Services. And — if you can't find what you want in one area, an intra-office referral system enables clients to utilize one or all of the many Rich Port, Realtor offices. For example: A recent client started looking for a home with a sales associate in our Park Ridge office. The client couldn't find what he wanted and was referred to our Schaumburg and Arlington Heights offices where he still couldn't find his "Dream Home". He was then referred to our Mt. Prospect office, and through this office purchased a home. We will also provide clients with excellent sources for legal services, mortgage and insurance needs as well as provide transportation to and from airports and train stations — Rich Port, Realtor is designed to serve you!

For those families moving from one city to another, Rich Port, Realtor is a member of Nationwide Find-A-Home Service, a relocation service with more than 425 Realtor members, 800 offices and 8,000 sales associates throughout all 50 states and Canada. It was designed to assist those families moving in or out of the Chicago area. So whether it's New York, Los Angeles or somewhere in between, there is a Nationwide Realtor Member anxious to help you.

One call or visit to a Rich Port, Realtor office will take care of all your needs. Whether you are a buyer or seller, capable personnel provide expert knowledge, information and answers to all questions regarding your real estate transaction. This personalized service means one sales associate — one corporation — from the very starting point to the satisfactory completion of your transaction.

Rich Port, Realtor is many things . . . modern real estate procedures . . . up to date merchandising and marketing concepts . . . efficient communications . . . personalized service . . . but most of all, it's people . . . people who want to serve you and know how to do it best — provide you with "Real Service In Real Estate".

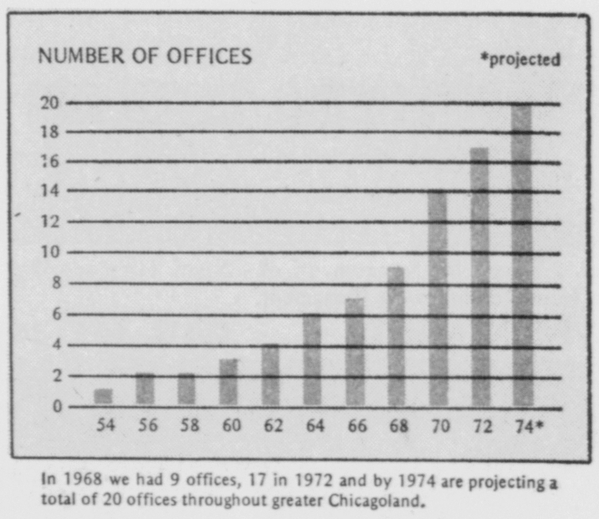
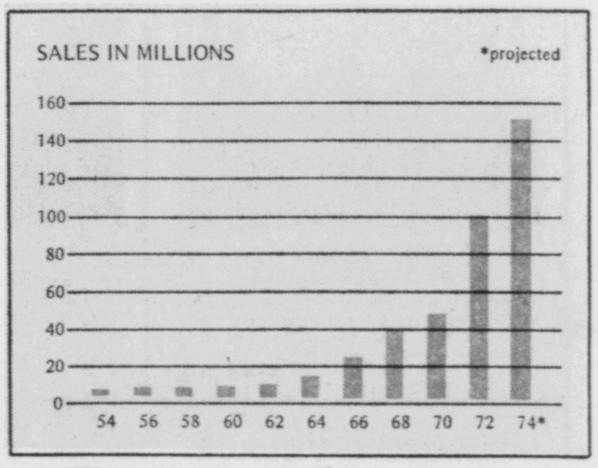
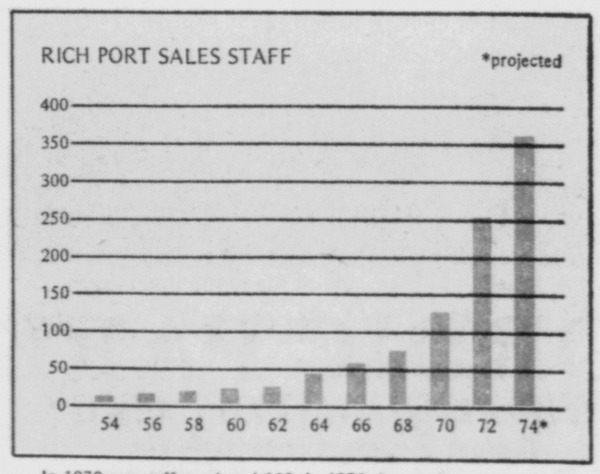
These charts indicate the growth pattern of Rich Port, Realtor. Future plans call for continued growth and expansion with additional offices and personnel to cover the Chicagoland suburban areas.



In 1968 we had 9 offices, 17 in 1972 and by 1974 are projecting a total of 20 offices throughout greater Chicagoland.



In 1972, sales were close to $100 Million. By 1974, we are projecting $150 Million.



In 1970 our staff numbered 120. In 1972 the number grew to 250. We are projecting a staff of 360 by 1974.

Financial planning a must for retirement

"Retirement is like starting a whole new way of life in which your needs and objectives are different from the past," says Arthur Lodge, recently retired business executive with more than 42 years money management experience as trust officer and real estate counselor at a major New York Bank.

"Financial planning for retirement can achieve both preservation of resources and continuity of the familiar and comfortable standard of living always enjoyed," Lodge said.

In establishing a sound and sensible financial plan for retirement, Lodge advises in his booklet to consider these factors:

• It is important that your assets are safe and secure. Most of your funds should be kept in savings accounts, certificates of deposit, government securities, and other low-risk investments. In some instances, such as owning your own home, real estate is another prudent form of investment.

• One of the pleasant things you'll discover is that you don't need as much money after retirement as before to maintain your current standard of living. With proper planning, certain regular expenses will drop drastically and others will disappear completely.

The booklet ("A Guide To The Financial Aspects of Retirement") is being distributed by Leisure Technology Corp., which has retirement communities in six states. Leisure Village at Fox Lake, being developed by Richard J. Brown Inc./Leisure Technology-Midwest Inc., is the company's first Midwest project.

A FIRST STEP in efficient retirement money management is to develop a post-retirement income and expense forecast. (You can obtain guidelined worksheets by writing "Retirement Financial Guide," Suite 1400, 221 N. LaSalle St., Chicago, 60601.) Utilizing these figures, you can plan a workable budget.

You may decide to continue enjoying familiar surroundings. But you might consider moving to a home and environment better suited to retirement needs. Retirement communities offer a way of life that meets a fixed income. In fact, if you're within ten years of retiring, it could be financially wise to make the move now.

Keep in mind the tax aspects of selling your present home. You save on income if you buy and occupy another residence within one year before or after the sale of your personal residence, if the purchase price of the new residence is equal or greater than the selling price of the previous residence.

• Besides saving your time and energy so you can enjoy the new friends and activities you find, a condominium also offers certain financial advantages. A condominium, which qualifies an owner to certain tax advantages, is usually less expensive to buy and maintain than a comparable single-family home. You have exclusive ownership of the interior air space — you have a fee title. In addition, you have a percentage of ownership in the common areas, which include exteriors, lawns and recreational facilities.

YOU MAY BUY a condominium cash on the line or take a mortgage. Both the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration back mortgages on condominiums. Your payments build-up equity; you pay your own real estate taxes. And real estate taxes and mortgage interest are deductible on your federal income tax return.

If you prefer owning your house and land outright, it's still possible to move to a planned retirement community of one-story, single family homes which are newer, smaller, and planned for easy maintenance.

Many tax advantages come to you in retirement. For example, your federal income tax exemptions automatically go up when you reach 65. Certain Retirement Income Credits begin at 62 and go up at age 72. These and other special situations should be discussed with a tax advisor or an Internal Revenue Service representative. In fact, the IRS will compute your federal Retirement Income Credit for you (Schedule R).

In many communities, there are substantial real estate tax exemptions available to those over 65. Naturally, you should carefully investigate veterans' benefits. Discuss the tax implications with an accountant, lawyer, or bank officer in the area so you get all the federal, state, and local advantages you're entitled to.

PLANNING FOR retirement should be your signal to carefully examine your life insurance. You might consider turning some life insurance cash surrender value into an annuity. Or you might want to convert all your insurance into fully paid-up policies.

Be sure to arrange meetings with all the sources of your pension income before retirement. Check your will with a lawyer if you're planning to move because different states have different inheritance laws.

Many of you may not know that before Social Security payments can start you must file an application. When you get close to 65, or if you retire at 62 — earlier if widowed — or if you become disabled, get in touch with your Social Security office. It's important to check your Social Security office two or three months before you reach 65, not only for the possibility of retirement benefits, but also for Medicare benefits, which are available whether or not you retire. If you wait until the month you reach 65 to apply for the medical insurance part of Medicare, you will lose at least one month of protection.

THE FACT IS that the amount of your monthly retirement or disability benefit is based on your average earnings under Social Security over a period of years. The amount of the monthly payments to your dependents or survivors also depends on the amount of your average earnings.

Nearly all people 65 and over are eligible for health insurance protection under Medicare, including some people who do not have enough credit for work covered by Social Security to qualify for monthly cash benefits. There are two parts to Medicare: hospital insurance and medical insurance.

If you are 65 or over and entitled to Social Security or railroad retirement benefits, you are automatically eligible for hospital insurance.

The medical insurance of Medicare is voluntary and no one is automatically covered. You receive this protection only if you sign up for it within a specified period. You have protection at the earliest possible time if you enroll the month you reach 65 or during the three following months, but your protection will not start until one to three months after you enroll. If you do not enroll during your first enrollment period, you will have another opportunity during the first three months of each year, provided this period begins within three years after you had your first chance to enroll. However, if you wait to enroll, you may have to pay a higher premium for the same protection and your coverage will not begin until three to six months after you enroll.

"It's exhilarating and inspiring to have something to look forward to," says Lodge. "It's important to have something to retire to, rather than from something. The new experiences and pleasures can enrich your lives as never before. Planning financially is a must though."

We think your home deserves special selling effort. Do You?

There is a difference. All real estate firms are not created equal!

You want special selling effort that gets your home sold fast and for top price.

This calls for more and better merchandising. Such as:

Professional color photography of the outside and inside of your home that presells buyers on the property. Other brokers try and sell homes from 2" x 3" black and white printer's reproductions. We use six full color Kodak silk prints mounted in an album (you get the album after we sell your home).

A multi-page professionally printed brochure devoted only to your home. Again, sharp, crisp exterior and interior photos that highlight the best features (you get to check the copy before it's printed). These impressive brochures are mailed to over 300 major corporations and to over 650 RELO brokers across the country.

Our Showcase of Homes in each of our five offices will feature an 8 x 10 full color Kodak silk print of your home until sold.

And these are just a few of the many extra things we do to sell your home. If you think your home deserves special selling effort, stop by our nearest office. Or call and one of our Sales Associates will give you full details and answer all of your questions.

Best of all — STARCK EXTRA SELLING EFFORT costs you no more!

DuPage brokers adopt equal opportunity code

Adoption of a code for equal opportunity in housing by the DuPage Board of Realtors was announced recently by realtor Bert Snyders, president, formalizing the board's policy to offer equal service toall clients and prospects without regard to race, color, religion or national origin.

The Code for Equal Opportunity was adopted by the National Association of Realtors in 1972 for submission to its 1,600 local boards for their acceptance on a voluntary basis. It has the approval of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, which permits realtors to display a special poster containing the Code and HUD's equal housing opportunity regulations in lieu of the required HUD poster.

The Code for Equal Opportunity reads as follows:

The DuPage Board of Realtors subscribes to the policy that equal opportunity in the acquisition of housing can best be accomplished through leadership, example, education, and the mutual cooperation of the real estate industry and the public. In the spirit of this endeavor, this board proclaims the following provisions of its Code for Equal Opportunity to which each member is obligated to adhere:

• In the sale, purchase, exchange, rental, or lease of real property, realtors and their sales associates have the responsibility to offer equal services to all clients and prospects without regard to race, color, religion, or national origin. This encompasses:

—Standing ready to enter broker-client relationships or to show property equally to members of all racial, creedal, or ethic groups.

—Receiving all formal written offers and communicating them to the owner.

—Exerting their best efforts to conclude all transactions.

—Maintaining equal opportunity employment practices.

• Members, individually and collectively, in performing their agency functions, have no right or responsibility to volunteer information regarding the racial, creedal, or ethnic composition of any neighborhood or any part thereof.

• Member shall not engage in any activity which has the purpose of inducing panic selling.

• Members shall not print, display, or circulate any statement or advertisement with respect to the sale or rental of a dwelling that indicates any preference, limitations, or discrimination based on race, color, religion, or ethnic background.

• Members who violate the spirit or any provision of the Code for Equal Opportunity shall be subject to disciplinary action.

Realtors to learn how to make more profits

"Greater Profits through Expansion — Horizontal and Vertical" will be presented by the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers in Chicago, August 28-30. Co-sponsored by the Chicago Real Estate Board, the course will be held at The Drake Hotel.

Popularly known as RD III, this educational program surveys the whole range of profitable expansion possibilities within any given real estate operation, beginning with an evaluation of existing office structure and continuing with a multifaceted exploration of various departmentalized approaches to office reorganization. RD III is open to all those who have successfully completed RD I — "How to Manage a Real Estate Office Successfully."

"Greater Profits Through Expansion — Horizontal and Vertical" is one of many educational events offered by the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers. With 26,000 members, NIREB is the largest professional organization affiliated with the National Association of Realtors and acts as its educational arm for realtors and sales associates. In addition to courses, NIREB sponsors an ongoing program of periodicals, texts, sales aids and audio-visual programs for realtor-members and the public interested in the field of real estate.

Registration for RD III may be made through the NIREB Registration Coordinator, 155 E. Superior St., Chicago, Illinois 60611 or further information may be obtained from Rodger Wunderlich, Chicago Real Estate Board, 18 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Illinois 60603.

Penny Savage 'sales leader of month'

Mrs. William (Penny) Savage of Mount Prospect was named sales leader for the month of July at Wm. L. Kunkel & Co., Realtors.

This is the third time Mrs. Savage has won the award since joining the Kunkel residential sales staff in July, 1971. She has been a licensed real estate saleswoman since April 1970, and is an associate member of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors.

Mrs. Savage attended Wright Junior College and Northwestern University. She was secretary of the Golfhurst Civic Association and is active in the PTA, Girl Scouts, and serves as a Sunday School superintendent.

Wins $500 certificate for realty sales

Mrs. Eileen Rodgers, sales associate with Annen & Busse, Inc. Realtors in Arlington Heights, received a travel certificate in the amount of $500 from William N. Annen, secretary-treasurer of Annen & Busse. Mrs. Rodgers was presented this award as the first sales associate with the firm to achieve a Million Dollars in closed transactions since Jan. 1, 1973. This prize is one of twelve travel certificates in various amounts to be presented to the first three associates in each of Annen & Busse's four offices who achieve this goal.

Arlington Hts. sales lead Wheeling Twp. transfers

One hundred property sales in Arlington Heights led mid-summer activity in the latest monthly Wheeling Township real estate transfer report from County Recorder Sidney R. Olsen.

There were 26 sales in Mount Prospect, 23 in Buffalo Grove, five in Prospect Heights, and 29 in Wheeling and the rest of the township.

Olsen recorded the following property transfers for the township. The list shows the purchase price of equity and does not include the amount of a mortgage which the purchaser may have assumed. The price is indicated by the amount of state revenue stamps on the document.

The transfers are:

Home buying undergoes big change in 25 years

Home buyers — and home buying — have undergone some marked changes in the past quarter of a century.

"The differences are most noticeable in the young — under 30 — home buyer of 1973, when compared with his counterpart of only 25 years ago," observes Jackson W. Goss, president and chief executive officer of Investors Mortgage Insurance Co., Boston.

"Incomes have risen steadily since 1948. Consequently, the average young home buyer today is more affluent and better able to afford a home at an earlier age. Also, most present day young adults are more financially sophisticated. They are not reluctant to set high goals — and then go after these objectives," Goss muses.

There is also a greater degree of mobility among younger Americans today than 25 years ago, he adds.

"Increased leisure time and greatly improved highways and transportation systems make it easier to travel further — and quicker than ever before. The result: an increasing number of second homes purchased by young families," Goss emphasizes.

While home buyers have changed, Goss notes, there have been equally important and dramatic shifts in home buying patterns — and methods.

"IN THE LATE 1940s and 1950s, most young adult home buyers had to settle for government-insured mortgage loans. Conventional loans, which for the most part required down payments of 30 to 35 per cent, were beyond their financial reach.

"However, the advent of private mortgage insurance in the late 1950s changed this picture. The amount of cash required for down payment began to decline," Goss says.

With private mortgage insurance, he stresses, lenders now make mortgage loans of 90 and 95 per cent, requiring as little as 5 per cent in cash as a down payment.

"Further, conventional loans are being made for longer periods of time — the 30-year loan is now more the rule rather than the exception.

"There is no doubt that more changes will be discerned in the future. And, as the buyers — their needs and demands — change, so will the methods of financing that help make home ownership possible," Goss concludes.

Condominiums sell themselves

"In most developments, as soon as prospects open the door, a salesman is on their heels. Not at Bay Colony," asserts Clyde Carlig, sales manager. "We let prospects leisurely look around; our salesmen answer questions only when asked. No need for high pressure salespeople at Bay Colony. Our condominiums sell themselves!"

They sure do. The first phase of the development is practically sold out; the second section will open soon.

THE INDIVIDUALLY centrally air conditioned apartment homes in delightful Des Plaines have two bedrooms, tile baths, deluxe fully applianced kitchens, security intercom systems. There are only six families per building with no long hallways; two entry ways for privacy.

The striking interior decorating in one model appeals more to the mature, with solid traditional styling. Another model captures the "now" generation, with its simple modern lines.

Many units allow scenic views of Bay Colony's private six-acre lake. A private club house offers residents one of the largest swimming pools of Chicagoland, sun deck, tennis courts, ice skating rinks, saunas, tot lot, picnic area, for year-round vacation right at home.

PRICED FROM $22,500, down payments may be as little as 10 per cent and financing is no problem, with ample mortgage commitments at competitive rates available.

Professional crews handle all outside maintenance; owners enjoy a millionaires' leisurely way of life, on a modest budget.

From Golf Mill Shopping Center drive west on Golf Road to Potter road, south to Church street, west to Belaire, north to the fascinating furnished models, open daily from 10 to 6 or by appointment.

Visitors discover delightful home ownership for less than rent and by just dropping their names in a drawing box, they also may win a 1973 Mazda.

Rubloff in six deals totaling over $200,000

Arthur Rubloff & Co., Chicago-based nationwide real estate organization, represented by vice president Robert Reisinger of the firm's industrial division, announced recently the completion of six recent industrial transactions aggregating nearly $200,000.

Three leases were made in the one-story 13-unit incubator building at the northwest corner of Pearl and Farragut streets in Rosemont.

Franklin Electric Co. Inc. leased 3,000 square feet at 9806 Farragut for Midwest sales and service offices. Rubloff's Henry Rabin and Don Wagener of Owen Wagener & Co. represented Franklin Electric. Term rental was $54,000.

Columbia Ribbon and Carbon Mfg. Co. Inc. leased 2,500 square feet at 9848 Farragut for sales and warehousing quarters.

The third transaction in suburban Rosemont covered the leasing of 2,500 square feet at 9866 Farragut to Casimer Drapala and Guenther M. Krakau to establish a machine shop operation.

In the latter two transactions Rubloff's Robert Reisinger and assistant vice president Glenn J. Smith were co-brokers representing the lessor, Parkway Development Co.

Rubloff's Reisinger was sole broker in leasing 5,000 square feet to R-OHM Corp., a subsidiary of Toyo Electronics of Japan, for sales offices and distribution facilities at 1403 Howard St., in Chicago's northwestern suburb of Elk Grove Village. The lessor was Pagni Industrial Corp. Total term rental was reported at $52,500.

Robert Bosch Corp. renewed their lease of 10,000 square feet in the one-story industrial complex at 482-86 Wrightwood, in the Mourekson Industrial Center, Elmhurst. Reisinger was sole broker. The lessor was Amptex Management Corp.

The last in this series involved the leasing of approximately 8,800 square feet at 2635 W. Grand Ave., Chicago, to Brand Insulations Inc. for fabricating offices. Rubloff's Robert Reisinger was sole broker. The lessor was Allied Coatings division of Whittaker Corp.

Two NIREB courses in Chicago

Two realty courses will be presented in Chiago later this month by the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers and co-sponsored by the Chicago Real Estates Board.

The first is NIREB's Residential Division's Course III, "Greater Profits Through Expansion — Horizontal and Vertical," to be held at the Drake Hotel from Aug. 28-30. This real estate office management course includes studies of mergers, acquisitions, expansion into branch offices, market analysis, forms of ownership and responsible leadership.

Registration in RD III is limited to those who have successfully completed RD Course I. The tuition for RD III is $150 for members of NIREB, and $200 for others.

Then on Friday, Aug. 31, NIREB will conduct its "Guaranteed Sales Plan Clinic," also to be held in the Drake Hotel. This one-day clinic will help a broker and his salespeople develop a workable sales program by concentrating on obtaining listings, attracting buyers, increasing sales and building income.

Fregistration in the Clinic is open to any member of a local Board of Realtors, NIREB, or the National Association of Realtors. The tuition is $50 for NIREB members, $85 for others.

For registration in either of these courses, contact the Registrar of NIREB's Education Department, 155 E. Superior St., Chicago, 60611.

Tiny Guam faces major tourist, building booms

A little 209-square-mile island shows promise of being the next Miami Beach of the Pacific.

"Guam is becoming a boom island," observes Jackson W. Goss, president of Investors Mortgage Insurance Co., Boston, a leading organization in the private mortgage insurance industry.

"An exotic island, often remembered only as a World War II military bastion, it could well become a tourist haven. The talk under the palm trees is not of the past, but of the future — of tourism and real estate," says Goss.

IN 1963, Guam could count only 198 tourists. Last year, there were 105,000. By 1975 tourism is expected to account for 250,000 of the anticipated 275,000 annual visitors.

Goss points out that the influx of tourists is creating a huge demand for hotels and condominiums.

"And, that demand is not all from the Mainland — yet.

"That will doubtlessly come about as soon as Americans find that since Guam is a territory of the U.S.A., shrinking dollars will go further there than in other glamorous foreign locales.

"Until that day arrives, however, foreign tourists by the planeload are keeping the local housing market hopping," he emphasizes.

The little island is in the midst of an unprecedented development and it is expected to last for some time. The result?

"Sharply rising prices and soaring land costs," Goss states.

GUAM'S PERMANENT population has gone from 67,000 in 1960 to well over 90,000 today — and the need for housing has reached the critical stage. Home building rates have gone up sharply and new subdivisions and condominium developments are well under way.

"Land prices, concomitantly, have skyrocketed. In some areas, the cost has gone from $5 to over $40 a square meter in less than two years.

"Homes are being sold before they are built — and the pressure for additional hotel and motel construction is increasing. The approximately 2,100 transient rooms at the beginning of 1973 will grow to at least 3,500 by the end of the year.

"Guam shows every indication of being the next stop on the jet circuit — a potential mini-bikini discovery site," Goss concludes.

Pat McGrath joins Starck

Pat McGrath is a new sales associate at the Arlington Heights office of Robert W. Starck & Co., Realtors, 315 S. Arlington Heights Road.

The announcement that Mrs. McGrath had joined the Starck sales force was made recently by Robert Starck, president of the real estate firm.

Mrs. McGrath has had valuable business experience as a background for her new sales position. She worked for some time as a buyer for Saks Fifth Avenue and then in public relations as a partner in the firm of R. O'Brien and Associates.

Mrs. McGrath attended Mundelein College. She has been active in various charitable organizations including Fideletas, the Little Flower Auxiliary as a founding member and the Misericordia Junior Auxiliary.

Pat McGrath

Originally from Chicago, Mrs. McGrath and her husband John live in Arlington Heights. They have three children.

JOYCE GERSCHEFSKE (left), a member of the Million Dollar Sales Club, and Tom Frech, who is also approaching that goal in home sales with Barton Stull Realty, Inc., will be on hand to hoist the sail on the boat to be given away at their exhibit at the "Future of America Fair" in Arlington Park running from August 24 through September 3, 1973. Darlene Monko (center), Public Relations Director for Barton Stull Realty, Inc. hopes that everyone will stop by the Stull exhibit for their free gifts and sailboat drawing.

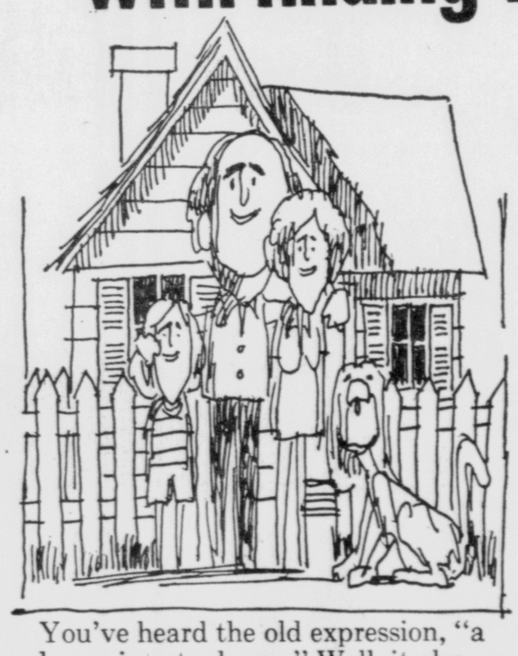
A place to live only begins with finding the right home.



You've heard the old expression, "a house is not a home." Well, it also follows that a home is not necessarily "a place to live."

We realize that fact. And so, when you come to Village Square, we do more than just find you the right home.

We work where we live.

Village Square REALTORS

Since we live right here, we can tell you about the neighborhoods, the schools, shopping, and everything else from trash collection times to where the freshest vegetables are sold. Things that help turn a "new home" into a "new life."

If you're looking for a home, but you really want a place to live, come to Village Square. We can help you find what you're looking for.

$14 million twin complex for Rosemont

Details of a $14 million twin office building and commercial complex occupying 12 acres in Rosemont and designed as "the crown jewl of O'Hare area office facilities," according to its architect Peter M. Tsolinas, have been announced.

Northwest Commerce Plaza has been planned to "provide all the advantages of a Loop location offering the additional amenities of free parking for 1,200 cars, proximity to major expressways and leisure time conveniences available only in a relaxed suburban setting," Tsolinas said.

The complex is to be located on Higgins Rd. between Mannheim and River roads and bordered by the Tri-State (I-294) and Northwest (I-90) tollways.

GROUNDBREAKING for the first tower has begun. Steel erection is to start this month. Initial occupancy is scheduled for April, 1974.

Plans call for two eight-story towers to be connected by a single-level commercial concourse building providing the entire complex with 325,000 sq. ft. of space.

John Theodosakis, president of Marathon Construction Company, the developer, said the site is the lst available large parcel of land in the immediate O'Hare vicinity. "Our market studies reveal there still exists a need for quality office space in the O'Hare area," he added.

Other partners and co-developers of the complext with Theodosakis are Alec Gianaras and Anthony Karlos. Tsolinas, also a partner, will co-ordinate all construction activity.

William J. Kallas of Helmsley-Spear of Illinois, Inc., has been named leasing director.

THE BUILDINGS' exteriors will feature bronze thermal insulated galss windows framed in white precast concrete to provide a bold facade and a handsome picture frame effect, Tsolinas explained.

"An outstanding interior design characteristic," he added, "is a 5-foot design module in office areas instead of the conventional 4-foot or 4-foot-6-inch modules. Office demands call for more roominess, greater freedom of movement in work areas."

The 5-foot module will provide private offices of 9-foot 7-inch clear.

"Employers are finding that spaciousness of private offices is helping to attract — and keep — desirable middle-management and junior executive personnel. Additionally, furniture design is toward larger, more masculine pieces," Tsolinas continued.

Self-operable windows around the buildings' perimeter are another somewhat non-conventional design feature in today's high rise office buildings, he added.

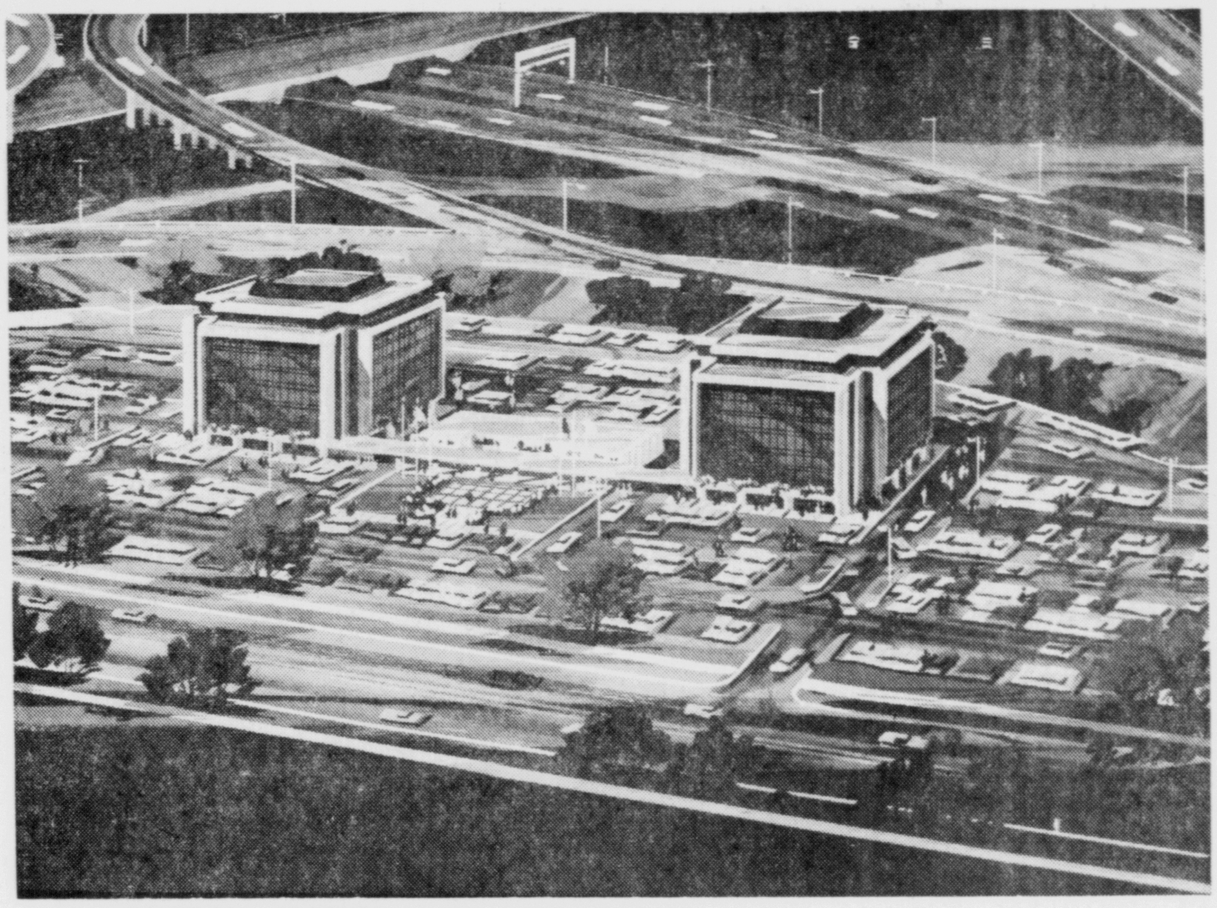
"While air conditioning is essential there is a growing favoritism for fresh air. Also, there have been countless disputes about temperature settings — not everyone can be pleased at one time. The self-operable windows will help keep office harmony and increase productivity," Tsolinas said.

A PENTHOUSE balcony atop each tower in keeping with the nearby O'Hare Airport environment is expected to enhance the structure's exterior design and also serve as an observation deck. The six-ft. balcony will provide magnificent vistas in all directions, particularly of the dramatic takeoffs and landings at O'Hare, the designer pointed out.

A mail room is planned for the ground floor of each tower to expedite mail delivery to tenants twice daily. Each floor providing 20,200 sq. ft. of gross space or 17,300 sq. ft. of usable area will be served by three elevators and men's and women's washrooms.

The connecting single-level commercial building, covering some 15,000 sq. ft., will include a variety of services for the some 1,200 estimated workers in the complex. The facilities will include a restaurant, drug store, dry cleaners, flower shop, barber and beautician, gift boutique and stenographic and secretarial services.

Robert S. Julian, mortgage vice president of Baird and Warner Inc., arranged the financing.



ARCHITECT'S DRAWING of $14 million Northwest Commerce Plaza, Rosemont, is shown above. The complex of twin eight-story office towers, connected by single-level commercial concourse building, is to be built on Higgins Road between Mannheim and River roads. Initial occupancy is scheduled for next April. Architect is Peter M. Tsolinas. Marathon Construction Company is developer.

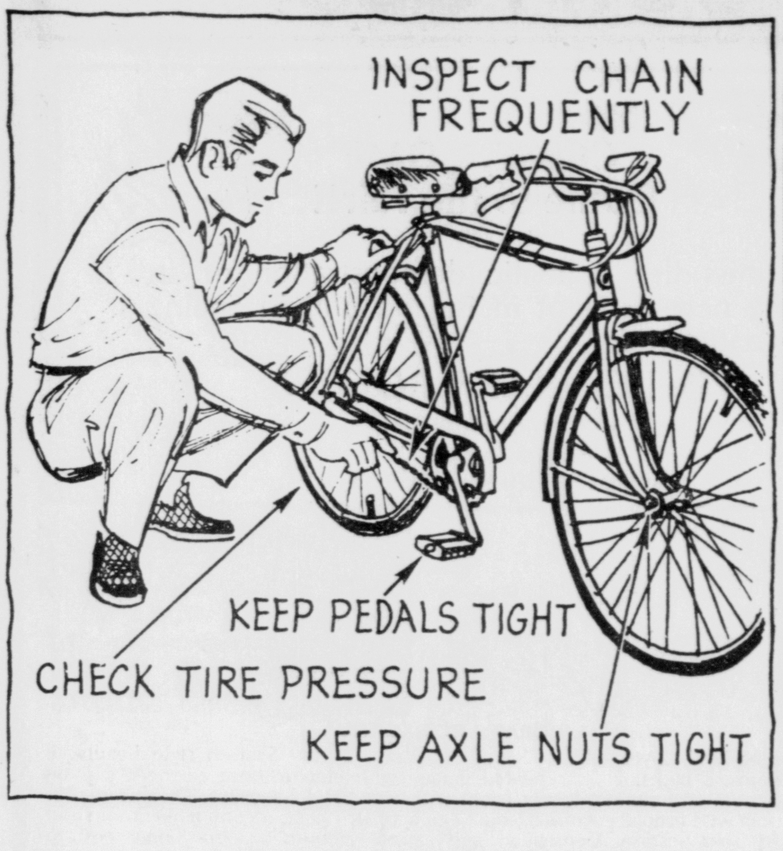
Do-It-Yourself



Bicycles are becoming so popular that manufacturers are having a hard time keeping up with the demand. More than a toy for youngsters, more than a means of keeping fit for their elders, the bicycle in this day of spiraling auto and gasoline costs is becoming for some an important means of transportation.

Whatever its place in your plans, a bike needs maintenance just as your auto does. Unlike your auto, a bike is something you can do a good amount of maintenance on yourself.

Since bicycles have become more complicated with elaborate gear shifting devices there remain some items best left to a skilled mechanic. Gears and brakes are among them.

Even these will need little attention from the serviceman if you follow good maintenance procedure.

Begin by keeping bicycles clean and dry. This involves having a sheltered place for storage. Exposed parts that are wet and muddy should be wiped off as soon as possible.

THERE IS VERY little you will need to work on a bike that you don't have already in the way of wrenches and screwdrivers. Medium weight lubricating oil, grease and some kerosene are called for.

Inspect chains frequently. Don't let them get mud covered. The grit adds to the wear. Since links wear out individually it isn't necessary to replace the entire chain.

You don't have to remove the rear wheel to take off the chain. One link snaps open and if you look carefully you can find it. One side of it is a cover plate that comes off.

The best way to clean a chain is to soak it in kerosene for a few hours. When it is clean, give it a second soaking in lubricating oil.

Chain tension is adjusted by way of an adjusting screw that moves the rear wheel. Leave some play but never more than a half-inch.

Keep pedals tight. Lubricate pedal bearings frequently.

Saddle bolts and handlebars should be kept tight. Check the fork assembly for looseness. To examine and lubricate the bearings, remove the handlebars, then the lock nut and loosen the cone.

Not only automobile wheels get out of alignment. So do bicycle wheels and the result is poor tire wear. Keep axle nuts tight and wheels will remain in line. The adjusting cone just inside the wheel nut should be adjusted so that there is no play but so that the wheel can turn freely.

WHILE YOU HAVE the wheel nut and cone loose, clean the wheel bearings. Squirt a little kerosene on the bearings. Rotate the wheel, then lubricate before tightening.

Check tire pressure regularly. This varies, so check the amount of pressure printed on the side of the tire. Some tires take 22 to 35 pounds. Some narrow tires take up to 60 pounds.

The one special tool you will need is a spoke wrench which is very, very cheap. Use this to keep the spokes at uniform tension which in turn will keep the rim in good condition.

Chicago area housing starts below 1972 level

New housing construction in the Chicago metropolitan area during the first six months of 1973 slipped 4 per cent below the level attained during 1972. The Bell Federal Survey of Building reports for 23,554 housing units compared with 24,416 units during the comparable six month period in 1972.

In spite of the decrease, housing construction in the Chicago metropolitan area is at a high level historically. In 19 out of 27 postwar years new housing construction in the Chicago area was below the 1973 level.

Permits for single family homes declined 11 per cent to 10,699 from 11,972 reported in 1972. The decline in home construction follows a strengthening of the market observed in 1971 and 1972. However, the 1973 home construction is still more than twice the record low 5,548 homes reported in 1970.

In contrast, permits for apartments increased from 12,444 units in the first half of 1972 to 12,855 in 1973, an increase of 3 per cent. Apartment construction has continued along the erratic course, increasing one year and decreasing the next year ever since the record high level of 18,757 apartment units was reached in 1969.

Mortgage crisis could be nearing

"A mortgage money crisis that would be as disastrous to the public interest as the credit shortages of 1966 and 1969-70 could result if new positive steps aren't taken now," the president of the National Association of Realtors, J. D. Sawyer of Middletown, Ohio, said recently.

"Real estate can't continue to put through this wringer every three years," Sawyer said. "We are urging our members to make a study of the mortgage credit situation in their communities, and convey to the President, Congress, and key government officials exactly how tight and expensive mortgage money has become nationally. Then we expect to cooperate and assist the government to act, using the best tools we have available to head off any severe situation.

"The Federal Home Loan Bank Board was on the right track when it pumped an additional $2.2 billion into the home mortgage market by reducing the portion of assets institutions must keep in liquid form," Sawyer said. "Additionally, the Federal Reserve Board acted responsibly by limiting the use of four-year-certificates on which the board previously had freed the interest rate. This should help to limit unfair competition hurting the availability of mortgage funds.

DuPage School of Real Estate opens Sept. 5

The DuPage Board of Realtors announced that the semiannual board sponsored and State of Illinois accredited School of Real Estate will begin the fall term on Sept. 5. Wheaton College will again be the location of this 22-year-old school.

Five 16-week courses are offered, which meet each Wednesday evening.

- Real Estate Principles & Practices — designed to prepare students for the state examination leading to a salesman's or broker's license. Instructors — Clyde A. Kautz, Glen Ellyn, George H. Thomsen, Glen Ellyn.
- Real Estate Sales & Marketing — formulated to investigate the basic principles involved in selling real estate and in classified and display advertising.
- Real Estate Law — designed to explore the legal obligations and responsibilities of broker, attorney and principal. Instructor, — Richard A. Lucas, attorney, Wheaton.
- Real Estate Appraisal — designed to teach the basic approaches to residential market value. Instructor — John W. Connolly, Oak Brook.
- Real Estate Investment — designed to investigate the basic principles involved in the purchase of land and income property for profit. Instructor — Jay T. Fitts, Elmhurst.

Clyde A. Kautz, dean of the school stated: "This fall term provides a well rounded school for the newcomer in real estate and excellent advanced courses for in-depth study."

Classes are conducted every Wednesday evening, commencing September 5, 1973, and will give the students credit toward the necessary requirements for a State of Illinois real estate broker's license. Tuition is $65.00, plus text.

Interested persons may write or call the DuPage Board of Realtors, 621 S. Chase, Wheaton, 653-1790 for a descriptive brochure and enrollment blank.

TIGHT MONEY — this crunch in the supply of money available for housing is crimping the plans of many home builders in the Chicago area. For this reason the Home Builders Association of Greater Chicago will sponsor a special seminar on the "tight money crisis," to be held next Wednesday, Aug. 29 in Chicago. The seminar will include a discussion of the alternatives available during the financial pinch, says Floyd Manilow of Manilow and Peltz, chairman of the program.

Panelists in this discussion will include: Thomas Grenling of the Home Federal Savings and Loan Association; David Livingston of Great Lakes Mortgage Corp., Dominic Cannon of Mortgage Investment Services Inc.; and Irv Garrick of the Illinois Housing Development Authority. A question and answer session will be included in the program as well as workshops. The meeting will be held at the Holiday Inn, 1 S. Halsted St., Chicago. It will begin at 12 noon, continuing through 4:30 p.m. The registration fee is $25 a person. Additional information is available through the home builders association at 782-8657.

PRICE TAGS FOR new homes, when the money is available, rise faster than consumer prices in general. This is the report by the U.S. Savings and Loan League in its new 1973 Savings and Loan Fact Book. The league notes that in the five years ending in 1970, residential costs rose by 35.4 per cent. This compares with the 23.1 per cent boost in the consumer price index for the period.

"This trend was accentuated in 1972, when consumer prices rose by 3.3 per cent, while home building costs climbed by 9.8 per cent," the fact book said. The publication pointed out that the increase in the price of materials was the major contributor to the increase in housing costs. Douglas fir led the parade by racking up a 57.4 per cent increase during the 1971-72 period. The soaring materials prices slowed in 1972, mainly because of the price freeze, but the Fact Book predicts that the easing of price controls will mean another upward surge in materials in response to the high rate of housing production during the early months of 1973. The result of these price increases was that the median sales price of a new home in 1972 averaged $27,200, compared to $25,200 in 1971 and $18,000 in 1963.

The fact book pointed out that during the course of the year the number of speculatively built homes in the lower price ranges shrunk even further. "Only 2 per cent of the homes had a sales price of less than $15,000, a substantial contraction from the 21 per cent in 1965," the Book said. The number of homes at the upper end of the sales price range increased. In 1972 homes costing $35,000 or more accounted for 28 per cent of the homes sold, as compared to only 6 per cent as recently as 1965.

The book also pointed out that once again the mobile home is becoming an important source of our housing stock. During 1972, 572,430 new single family dwellings were provided by mobile homes, which amounts to 30.4 per cent of the total number of single family units constructed.

"The fact that nearly one out of three families moving into a single-family unit moved into a mobile home suggests that these pre-engineered, factory-built units are becoming a widely accepted substitute for the traditionally constructed one-family home," the fact book said.

A NEW SYSTEM of automobile tire rotation for maximum safe tread life has been adopted by tire industry experts, the Tire Industry Safety Council reports today in a new edition of its Consumer Tire Guide. Using the new system, bias and belted bias rear tires should be moved straight forward, and front tires criss-crossed to the rear wheels. The old rotation system was the reverse, front tires moved straight back and rear tires criss-crossed forward. The new Guide also includes a rotation pattern for radial tires. Radials should be exchanged front and rear on the same side of the automobile, the experts say. They should never be criss-crossed.

"Proper rotation procedures are spelled out in detail in the new Guide primarily because they are an important tire safety precaution," said council Chairman Malcolm R. Lovell Jr. "Premature and uneven tire wear can cause poor steering response and possible sudden tire disablement," he explained. "To realize the full potential of tread life, tires should be rotated at 6,000 to 8,000 mile intervals."

The guide says that inflation should be rechecked after rotation to get proper front and rear pressure relationship. Rotation time is also a good time to inspect tires for damage and to remove foreign objects embedded in the tread. The guide cautions that if different types of tires are used on front and rear axles, they should be rotated on the same axle. The new guide can be obtained free of charge on request to: Tire Safety, Box 726, New York, New York 10010. Include a stamped, self-addressed, business-size envelope.

The Consumer Tire Guide is published by the Tire Industry Safety Council in cooperation with the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, the American Automobile Association, the American Petroleum Institute, the National Safety Council and the National Tire Dealers and Retreaders Association. The council also makes available a Tire Safety and Mileage Kit for $1.50. It contains the guide, air pressure gauge, tread depth gauge and four spare valve caps. To obtain the kit send a check or money order to: Tire Safety, Box 726, New York, New York 10010.

J. C. PENNEY CO., Inc.'s July sales increased 11.7 per cent over the 1972 month. Volume for the four weeks ended July 28 rose to a record $419.2 million from $375.1 million for the comparable 1972 period, according to Penney Chairman William M. Batten and Pres. Jack B. Jackson. The gain was $44.1 million. July was the Company's 124th straight monthly reporting period of sales gains. Volume for the first half of the fiscal year, Jan. 28 through July 28, was 15.1 per cent ahead of last year. Sales for the 26 weeks totaled a record $2,684.9 million against $2,333.2 million a year ago, an increase of $351.7 million.

A WOODEN RAILWAY coach, a replica of the type which ran more than a century ago, is on the way from the Chicago and North Western Transportation Co. to the Midwest Railway Historical Society at Riverside. The North Western had the coach built in 1948 to celebrate its 100th anniversary. It will be on display by Oct. 25 of this year, in time for the railway's 125th anniversary and of Chicago as the nation's railway center. The first train to run in the city traveled from Chicago to what is now Oak Park in October, 1848, on the Tracks of the Galena and Chicago Union — a predecessor of the North Western. Don's Rail Transfer Co. of Addison donated a crane to load the coach on a flatcar for the trip from the North Western's 40th St. shops in Chicago to Riverside. The railroad also donated a replica of the tender from the steam locomotive Pioneer, the first engine to operate in the city. The Pioneer is now on display at the Chicago Historical Society. Information on the Midwest Railway Historical Society is available from the secretary at 2214 N. Monticello, Chicago.

Runway paving finished at Landings

Runway paving has been completed at The Landings, luxury fly-in community being developed in Kane County northwest of Elgin.

Custom homes in the $65,500-$96,500 price range will be offered by BarKo Development Corp., Des Plaines, The Landings developer.

Purchase of homes, on half-acre-plus lots, includes share of ownership in the 3,000-foot blacktopped and lighted runway, and the community recreational facilities, according to Barbara Kovacs, BarKo chairman. Owners also can lease hangars — the first of which will be built in September — or tie-down space for their aircraft.

"The Landings will be a total living community, with an orientation toward aviation," said Mrs. Kovacs. "The 160-acre first phase includes 131 homesites, and 50 acres devoted to paved runway and taxi strip, hangar and tie-down areas, and refueling and airplane washing pads.

"WE HAVE DEPARTED from the pattern of many fly-in developments, in which homesites are platted along runways, with hangars built in front or back yards or attached to houses," she added. "Frequently, a haphazard mixture of architecture destroys the sense of community. More seriously, hangar structures which sometimes are little more than lean-to-shacks, visually can downgrade neighboring properties."

BarKo has commissioned Arne J. Foss & Associates, Northbrook architects, to design model homes, although buyers can have Foss or other architects design homes to their individual specifications.

"To maintain quality and value throughout the residential section, however, we will require a minimum of 2,000 square feet of living space in each home," Mrs. Kovacs pointed out. She said other construction requirements will assure a community feeling of comfort, luxury and architectural continuity.

Homes in The Landings will be separated from the runway and hangars by a spring-fed stream, that flows between two lakes in the development, and the grass-covered tie-down area. Nested Tee-Hangars will be built north of the 310 degree-130 degree runway.

"OUR OBJECTIVE is to offer an environment attuned to family living, with elegant homes on large lots and such community recreation as a clubhouse, swimming pool and tennis courts," Mrs. Kovacs said. "Of separate but equal importance, we will provide a pilot-owned base for personal flying — a key factor in this era of small airports' being closed in the Chicago area because of rising land values and taxes."

Construction has begun of furnished model homes. Purchase prices will include central air conditioning and heat, basements, fireplaces, two-car garages with automatic openers, wet bars and all kitchen appliances — refrigerator-freezer, range with self-cleaning oven, dishwasher and disposer.

Mrs. Kovacs said homes from the selection of seven models designed by Foss can be delivered in about seven months after initial purchase.

Streets will be paved and lighted, and all homes will be served by a community water system.

The Landings is located at 42 degrees 9' N 88 degrees 24' W, seven miles from Elgin Airport on a heading of 300 degrees. By surface it is a mile east on Freeman Road and a mile north on Powers Road from the interchange of Interstate Highway 90 and Illinois Route 47, placing it only minutes from the expressway system leading to Elgin, the Northwest suburbs, O'Hare Airport (29 miles away) and downtown Chicago.

Sales office is open on site from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily. Information also is available from BarKo Development Corporation, 2300 East Devon, Des Plaines.

This is Dominion!

- 200 acre wooded site
- 3 million dollar country club
- 18-hole championship golf course
- swimming
- tennis
- hobby and craft rooms
- recreational plaza
- underground parking for all homeowners
- gatehouse and electronic security system
- optional valet parking and bus service to commuter train

Charter golf or social membership in Dominion golf and country club is available exclusively to Dominion homeowners. The cost of operating and maintaining the club and golf course is not a part of your monthly condominium charge, but is supported entirely by the owners of the club and its members.

An incomparable selection of homes for every lifestyle.

Homeowners who buy now can even custom design their homes from Dominion's selection of alternate floor plans. All prices include garage, washer and dryer, dishwasher, disposal, double-oven range, refrigerator-freezer, compactor, flooring allowance and decorator painting.

A $31,300 1-Bedroom Condominium Home

Your net monthly housing cost can be only $208 based on a 20% down payment ($6,300) for a $31,300 one-bedroom home. Your mortgage would be $25,000 payable in 348 equal monthly payments of principal and interest of $171 calculated on a 7.50 annual percentage rate which reflects a true interest rate of 7.75 per cent. Add to this amount average monthly taxes of $61.00 and average monthly maintenance charges of $41 and deduct an income tax savings of $65 per month for a 30% bracket taxpayer and your net monthly housing cost is $208.

Down payments as low as 5% available.

A $62,400 3-Bedroom or 2-Bedroom and Den Condominium Home

Your net monthly housing cost can be only $414 based on a 20% down payment ($12,500) for a $62,400 3-bedroom home. Your mortgage would be $49,900 payable in 348 equal monthly payments of principal and interest of $341 calculated on a 7.50 annual percentage rate which reflects a true interest rate of 7.75 per cent. Add to this amount average monthly taxes of $122 and average monthly maintenance charges of $81 and deduct an income tax savings of $130 per month for a 30% bracket taxpayer and your net monthly housing cost is $414.

AND THIS IS DOMINION TOO!

WOODED HOMESITE

This 1 story charmer reflects the true approach to modern living. Large windows throughout makes this a very light and cheerful home. Living room has fireplace and sliding doors to patio, separate dining room, huge country kitchen, 3 spacious bedrooms, generous closets, and 2½ baths. An oversized laundry room is located in the bedroom wing. Finished recreation room in basement, oversized 2½ car garage, and air-conditioning are pluses. Transfer has just brought this to the market at a very realistic price. $73,500.

Kouzmanoff golf feature

Co-ed tourney begins today at White Pines

Never in American junior amateur golf history have boys and girls teed off against each other on an equal basis in the same tournament. Never, that is, until this morning.

Desiree Alley of Waukegan and Mike Granda of Joliet will hit the first balls at 7:30 a.m. today in the Tommy Kouzmanoff Co-Ed Amateur Junior Golf Classic at White Pines in Bensenville.

Joined by 140 other golfers, including 25 young women, they'll comprise the first ever co-ed field. The tournament was conceived by Tommy Kouzmanoff, Chicago Today golf editor and an Arlington Heights resident.

It's appropriate that Miss Alley hits the first ball. This 17-year old is the top young woman golfer in Chicagoland. She won the Northern Illinois Women's Amateur Golf Association junior championship two weeks ago at Indian Lakes.

Also, Miss Alley tested the locked doors of boys sports and the Illinois High School Association last spring by attempting to tryout for the Waukegan High School boys varsity. She was denied even a look-see.

Kouzmanoff ssid the tournament lost about 30 girls due to the early reopenings of many universities. "Had I known this last spring, I would have scheduled it for last week," he said.

Even that won't deter some golfers. Carol Reep, winner of last year's Northern Illinois Women's junior by 10 strokes, has tentative plans to jet in from Arizona State University for the two-day, 36-hole tourney.

Three other young girls bring strong credentials to the field for boys 12-to-18 and girls 12-to-19. Standings will be contested by age groups.

Linda Stack, 17-year old from Madison, Wis., is her state's top junior player. She won the 1972 Wisconsin junior championship and joined with poppa in winning the state's Father-Daughter title a year earlier.

Eighteen-year old Nell Frewin of Rockford captains the St. Mary's College of Notre Dame team in South Bend, Ind. She has competed in Western amateur golf tourneys since 1968.

Jennifer Armstrong of Chicago, 15 years old, will return to White Pines where she was named Star-of-Tomorrow at the Kouzmanoff Mid-America Women's Classic last month.

She took that title by golfing the low junior total for girls 12-to-15. Miss Armstrong also won a grab bag set of irons and has since golfed in Africa.

The top young male golfer at White Pines is probably 16-year-old Jerry Vidovic of Blue Island. He's the youngest player ever to win the Chicago Amateur and two weeks ago triumphed in the Cook County Amateur.

Three girls and eight boys are entered from the Herald area. The young women are 14-year-old Jean Rezny and 17-year-old Meg Hayes, both of Mount Prospect, plus 16-year-old Shari Landon of Arlington Heights.

Mount Prospect boys playing at White Pines are Jack Patterson (13) and Steve Anderson (18). Des Plaines has Jeff Potter (18) and Danny Kalal (12).

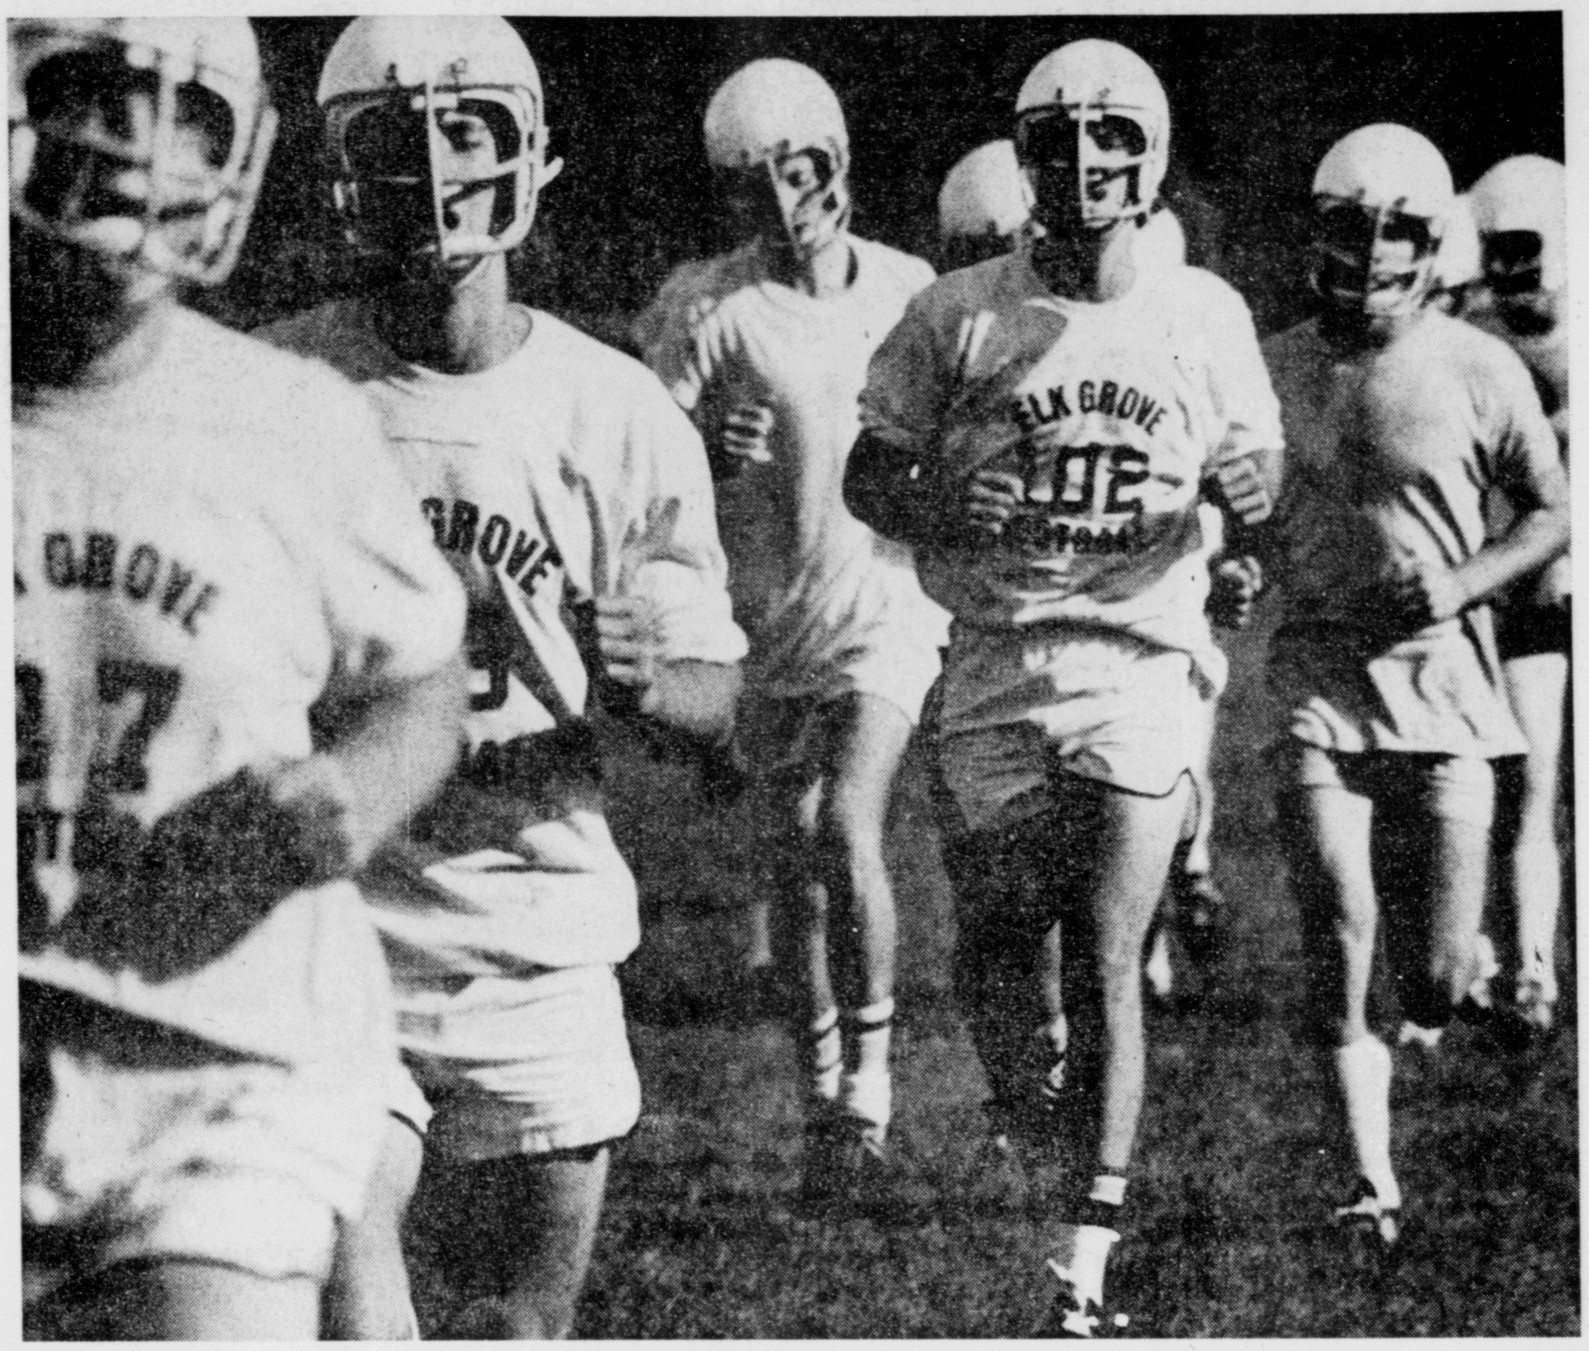
Others entered include Tony Puciaty (14) of Buffalo Grove, David Kaplan (12) of Hoffman Estates, Mark Oakley (15) of Rolling Meadows and Dan Rothstein (13) of Schaumburg.

Forty-one trophies will be awarded before Friday's hot dog roast and twilight hop. There will be a minimum six trophies per age division, three each for girls and boys.

There are separate divisions for each age, 12-to-16. The other divisions are boys 17 and 18 plus girls 17-to-19.

Parents of contestants plus other relatives or friends may enjoy the hot dog roast at $1 per head.

Golf carts will be available to players at $1 per 18 holes. No mechanized carts may be used. Contestants may carry their bags.



STARTING OVER again on a brand new season is Elk Grove High School, mythical state champion for 1972 with a 9-0-0 record and numerous records set. Here, the Grenadiers go through their first day of drills. Their work is cut out since very few boys return from last year's powerhouse — but then, the same was true last year.

Area golfers to play Trevino for charity

The bidding is open among low-handicap golfers for a chance to compete with former U.S. and British Open champion Lee Trevino in the American Cancer Society's Celebrity Golf Exhibition Aug. 27 at Thorngate Country Club in Deerfield.

Four area golfers pledging the largest contributions to the fight against cancer will earn the right to play nine holes with Trevino and WGN radio personality Wally Phillips. Each local amateur must have a handicap of 10 or under.

The 1:30 p.m. 18-hole fund-raising exhibition will be preceded by nine-hole matches among Chicago sports stars and writers, columnists, radio and TV broadcasters.

Spectator tickets are now on sale at $5 each at Thorngate Country Club, 600 Sanders Rd., Deerfield, and through the Chicago Unit, American Cancer Society, 37 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, 60603. (372-0471).

Some 300 "VIP" tickets also are on sale at $100 each through the Cancer Society headquarters. This $100 donation entitles ticket holders to a noon luncheon and celebrity dinner with entertainment, both in the clubhouse, plus special parking privileges and preferred treatment at the golf exhibition.

Besides an opportunity to see the popular Trevino — whose 67 was the lowest four-round score in last weekend's P.G.A. championship — all ticket purchasers will have a chance to win an Otis electric golf cart, a set of Faultless woods and irons and many other valuable prizes donated by local firms.

Six softball teams remain in tournament

Although both contingents from Rolling Meadows have been eliminated, interest continues to mount in the Amateur Softball Association Chicago Metro Tournament being staged nightly at Salk Field in the Rolling Meadows Sports Complex.

The original field of 23 squads — representing only first place teams from registered ASA leagues and District ASA champions — has dwindled to six survivors.

American Rivet eliminated Blue Island Tokars, 15-8, while the Nickel Bag ousted the Blues of Norridge, 8-2, in Tuesday action.

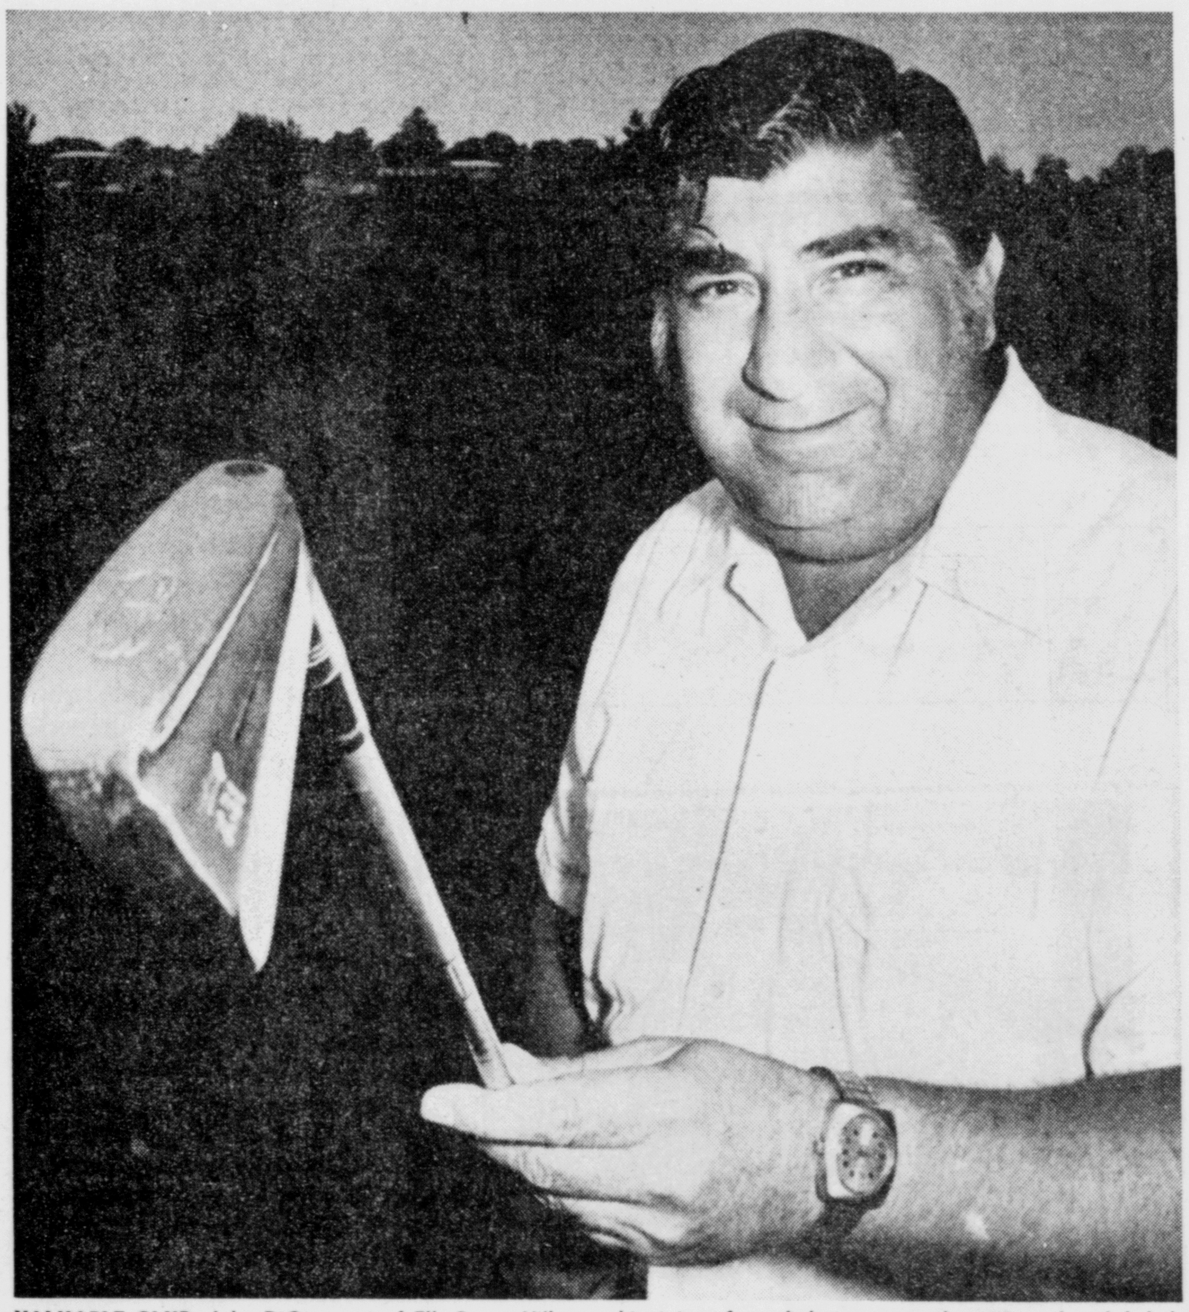
The two contests helped simplify the loser's bracket which still has five teams scrambling for the right to meet winner-bracket champ Blue Island Raiders in Saturday night's title game at 7:30.

Also alive but nursing one defeat are defending champion Sobies, Jennies, Olson's of Mt. Prospect and the Dundee District team.

Two more clubs exited from the tourney last night as American Rivet challenged Olson's and Nickel Bag played Dundee. The two winners will play tonight at 7 with the survivor tackling Jennies at 8:15. Friday is a rain date.

The tournament winner will receive $100 in traveling fees and is eligible to compete in St. Louis for the national championship, Aug. 31-Sept. 3. Sobies, who captured this particular tourney last year, went on to finish second in the nation in 1972.

Admission to the contests is 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children.



VALUABLE CLUB. John DiGiovanni of Elk Grove Village proudly holds up the 6 iron that has given him two hole-in-ones within a month of each other at Thunderbird Country Club in Barrington. On July 24 DiGiovanni used his 6 iron for a hole-in-one at the 165-yard eighth hole. On Aug. 20 he used the same club for an ace at the 175-yard fourth. This isn't something new for John. He now has three hole-in-ones for his golfing career.

Buffalo Grove Bruins take two at Grant Park

Terry Mueller slugged four home runs, three in the second game, Tuesday night as Buffalo Grove's Bruins won twice at the Chicago Grant Park national 16-inch softball regional.

The Bruins, now 69-4, murdered Abbott Lab, 24-3, before eking out a 9-6 win from the Chicago Fire Department.

Mueller had one homer among his three hits in the first game win over Abbott Lab. Others with three hits were Ken Izral, Bob Campbell, Bill Nay, Roger Syska and winning pitcher Don Welker.

The Bruins had 24 runs on 28 hits, but led just 8-3 after five innings. They scored nine runs in the sixth and seven an inning later.

Mueller was a one-man wrecking crew in the nightcap, hitting home runs each of his three at-bats and knocking in six runs. Dewey Hrycyk also homered, a two-run shot, as Welker was the winning pitcher again.

Buffalo Grove played the Continental Bank of Chicago on Wednesday for the regional championship. The winner advances to national 16-inch finals on Labor Day weekend at Koch Field in Florissant, Mo., outside St. Louis.

The Bruins are sponsored by Keeny General Elevator of Arlington Heights.

Close to midnight in Mays career

by MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Willie Mays finally has faced up to it. This no longer is the twilight of his career. It is closer to midnight.

"I'm aware of it," he says, openly, candidly and without any alarm. "I'd have to be crazy not to be. I know I'm 42, not 22 anymore. Nobody goes on forever. Not many go this long. Stan Musial did. So did Ted Williams."

Once before in his career, Willie Mays had to peel off his uniform and suddenly quit playing. That was on May 24, 1952 when he was being inducted into the Army but that didn't hurt as much as it does this time because he knew he'd be coming back.

Mays had been in the big leagues little more than a year then but he already had enormous appeal.

When they took him out of the game that day at Ebbets Field in 1952, announcing that he was leaving for the Army, even the umpires, who rarely show any public emotion, joined the fans in giving Willie an ovation.

Mays missed almost two full seasons, then returned to the New York Giants in 1954 and batted .345 to lead the National League. He also hit 41 homers that year and 51 a year later.

Willie has 660 homers so far and it is entirely conceivable had he not gone off to the Army he might have hit, say conservatively, 35 homers in 1952 and 40 more in 1953. Had that been the case, you can figure out who the first man to break Babe Ruth's all-time record would've been.

But Willie Mays never brings that up. All he says is all credit to his good friend, Hank Aaron.

What Willie hopes to do now in these last six weeks of the season with the Mets is help them win a few ball games and keep helping some of their younger players.

"You know why I'm still playing this year?" he says, "I'll tell you why. Only because I'm back here in New York where I started and I felt people still wanted to see me play. Look, I know some days I'm not good, not playing well. Some days I'm all right though. I do the best I can. If you watched the games I played, I don't think I played bad."

Mays is right. Up to a point. He has played in only 56 games this season and has a .215 batting average, 22 RBI's and six homers.

For a man 42 that's not bad; for Willie Mays, it's almost embarrassing.

One of the few people Willie generally heeds is Herman Franks, his old manager with the Giants, and he says Franks advised him to quit before the season began. That wouldn't have created any big problem. Willie simply would've been added to the Mets' coaching staff.

"The reason I didn't quit are these 25 guys," he says, looking around the clubhouse at the other members of the Mets.

"Here are a lotta young fellas on this club and I felt I could help them in some way. I think I have.

"I'm not looking for any charity. I'm not looking for any pity. I don't need any. If I honestly felt they didn't want me around here, I could quit right now, but I don't think there is that kind of feeling about me. I could be wrong but I don't think I am.

"Do I regret playing this year? Only when people come to me and say 'you used to hit .300, now you're hitting .200.'

Midnight for Mays

They try to 'down' you all the time. I put those kind of people outta my mind.

"You wanna know the truth?" he goes on. "It's a pleasure to be playing at my age and doing the things I'm doing. I honestly think I played more than anybody thought I could. At the beginning of the season they didn't think I could play at all. I hurt my arm the second day of spring training trying to throw the ball too hard too quickly. It still hurts a little, but my knees are okay and so are my legs. My eyes? They don't bother me. I can see anything. I don't need glasses yet."

It is safe to say no player in the game today has given the fans as many thrills as Willie Mays has since he came up to the Giants in 1951.

Back in those days, he was the "Say Hey Kid" and his trademark was running out from under his hat. He doesn't do that much anymore.

Now he's finishing up at first base for the Mets and last Friday night in a game with the Reds there was a moment when many held their breath for Willie Mays, a centerfielder by trade who still has to feel his way around the bag occasionally.

Mets' pitcher George Stone fielded a ball topped between third base and the mound by Cincinnati's Johnny Bench. Stone's throw was a bit off-line and the way Mays took it, he made a perfect target for the husky Bench barreling down on him.

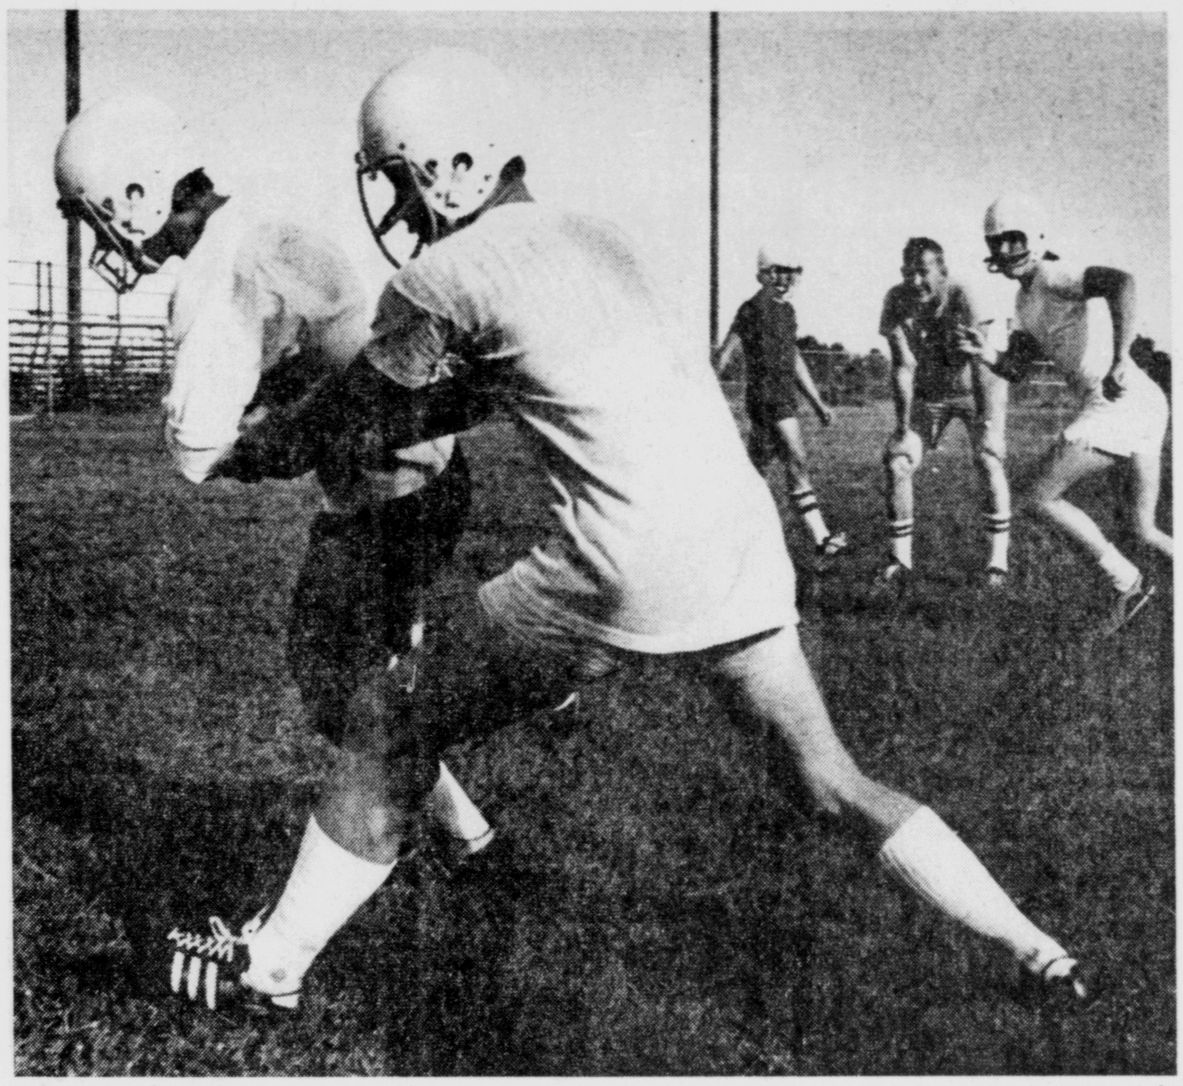
There could've been a terrible collision, and Bench, sensing it immediately, purposely slowed down near the bag.

Still, he went up Willie's back, but did it in such a way as not to hurt Mays even though it meant taking a tumble himself.

The following day Mays made it a point to talk to Bench around the batting cage.

"I know you could've got me," Willie said, laughing the way he frequently does. "I know you could've killed me. I saw you slow down."

Johnny Bench, self-consciously smiled. He didn't say anything. He didn't have to because he knew this was Willie Mays' way of saying thanks.



IT'S NOT TOO EARLY to start working on fine points, such as handoffs, in the Elk Grove High School football training camp. That's what these backs are doing under the watchful eye of coach Don Schanke (second from right).

Des Plaines hockey sets final signups

The Des Plaines Hockey Association will hold final registrations from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. this Saturday and at the same time on Saturday, Sept. 8. Both signups will be conducted at West Park fieldhouse in Des Plaines.

The Hockey Association will accept boys born between the years 1955 through 1964. Fees for these final registrations are $55 per boy with a rate reduction for each additional boy in the family.

All Des Plaines hockey games will be played indoors at the Ballard Sports Complex in Niles.

Gold Cup at Hawthorne

It's Gold Cup time again in Chicago and the 37th edition of the coveted $100,000-added 1¼ mile classic for 3-year-olds and up will climax one of the most successful meetings in Hawthorne history Friday, Aug. 31.

Inaugurated in 1929 and won by Sun Beau who went on to annex his next two runnings as well, the Hawthorne Gold Cup has enjoyed a long reign as Chicago's premier 1¼ miles classic for handicap performers, always closing out a Hawthorne season.

No less than 42 of the nation's leading handicappers, including Meadow Stable's brilliant Riva Ridge and Hawthorne Derby hero Goldon, are eligible for the finale.

And the prospect of Golden Don, a three-year-old son of T.V. Lark, the latter a Gold Cup champion himself in 1961, taking down first prize is not without precedent in the Gold Cup.

The first three-year-old to whip older horses was 1939 Horse of the Year Challedon. In '48, Billings, seeking to avoid Citation, won his Gold Cup and in 1957 the mighty Round Table, scored the first of two straight Gold Cup triumphs.

In 1960, Kelso, about to nail down the first of five unprecedented Horse of the Year titles, flew to Hawthorne and with heady Eddie Arcaro aboard, sped to a six-length victory in the Gold Cup.

Other three-year-old champions include Admiral Vic (1963), Dr. Fager (1967) and Nodouble (1968), the latter repeating the following year. Seven sophomores in all have achieved Gold Cup glory.

Golden Don earned a Gold Cup starting berth off a brilliant victory, albeit via disqualification, in the recent Hawthorne Derby in 1:41. 1-5, three-fifths off the track mark.

Golden Don uncorked from sixth leaving the far turn and appeared ready to overhaul the pace-making Impecunious when the latter swerved out while tiring, bumping Golden Don twice and incurring the stewards' wrath.

Riva Ridge, obviously would command the most attention if he was shipped from New York. Last year's Derby and Belmont champion and stablemate of illustrious Secretariat, had been burning up New York tracks on the dirt until a recent upset on the grass.

Other Gold Cup candidates include West Coast Scout, Tentam, List, Governor Max, Hold Your Peace and Angle Light. Several classy local contenders are headed by Burning On.

Tight chase in 'Y' golf

A red-hot battle for first place has developed in the YMCA Twilight Golf League with only five points now separating the top six teams.

Keeffer Roofing is on top after the latest action, but Allen's Men's Store is one-half point behind in second. Bank and Trust of Arlington Heights, Kunkel Realtors, Hilliker Associates, and Hal Lieber Trophies all have 19 or more points.

Art King and Ed Nixon had low gross scores of 38 for the night with Russ Lucksinger coming in at 40. King's 30 topped the low net department with Lucksinger at 33 and Fred Heisler and Howard Rover at 34.

Birdies went to A. J. Baugous and Nixon on the ninth hole; Dave Johnson, King, and Joe Spisak (13); Karl Pohl and Tom Wisniewski (14); and Steve Stadnick (15).

Team standings, Aug. 15:

Keeffer Roofing	24½
Allen's Men's Store	24
Bank & Trust of AH	22½

The Doctor Says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I am a young married woman and have had a problem with bad breath for as long as I can remember. You can't imagine how much personal embarrassment this has caused me at home, with friends and even on my job. I am concerned about the effects it may have on my future. Yes, I've read all the ads and tried all the different things that are recommended for bad breath, including every mouth wash that's been advertised, varieties of toothpaste, chewing gums, you name it, I've tried it.

I don't seem to have any dental problems, I go to the dentist regularly. I don't have any cavities. I brush my teeth at least three times a day, use dental floss and everything that's ever been recommended to me. But, I still have this problem.

The only time I have ever gotten any help for it is when I have taken penicillin for one reason or another. While I am taking penicillin, temporarily my problem of bad breath goes away, but it always comes back. I just can't understand why something can't be done for my bad breath. If you have anything to recommend, I would certainly appreciate it.

Dear Reader — I receive many letters complaining about this problem. It's not uncommon, otherwise the large amount of mouth wash and so forth wouldn't be sold to the public. A good place to start evaluating the problem is in the dental area, and I'm glad to see that you apparently have already done that. In addition to cavities and so forth, there is the problem of pyorrhea or inflammation of the gingiva (gums) which is often a source of bad breath, but I would assume from your regular dental evaluations and treatments that you must not have that problem.

The point that penicillin seems to relieve your difficulties suggests an infection. A common location for such an infection is the sinuses. Chronic sinusitis is a frequent source of persistent bad breath. Old diseased tonsils with necrotic cheesy material deeply imbedded within the tonsils are also a frequent source of bad breath. I would suggest you see an ear, nose and throat specialist and have him evaluate your sinuses and tonsils for possible infections which may be contributing to your problem.

There are other causes for bad breath, including diseases of the lungs (usually associated with other symptoms), disturbances in digestion, gall bladder disease and even bad breath associated with a woman's menstrual cycle (I suspect that this is often related to an associated disturbance in the digestive tract occurring at that time). Probably the most common sources for persistent bad breath are the dental-mouth area and the sinus, tonsils, adenoid area.

Incidentally, many people don't recognize that the tongue is a source of bad breath, and it should be cleaned regularly just as teeth are cleaned. The accumulation of food and debris on the tongue can be the real problem.

Obviously, to do something about persistent bad breath requires a good medical examination with particular attention to the dental, mouth, sinus and tonsil area. If a search of these areas is unrewarding, then a more complete study of possible causes needs to be accomplished. I agree it's not a simple problem because it certainly can limit one's future opportunities, both socially and even in one's chosen occupation.

Creative dramatics course offered

A noncredit course in creative dramatics will be offered by Harper College this fall to teach adults how to work with children in improvised drama.

Participants in the course will be shown the mechanics by which children can improvise drama and being literature to life. The course number is CEC016.

The class will be taught by Marian Fertik Hosmer, a doctoral candidate in theatre at the University of Illinois. Mrs. Hosmer has taught adults and children in creative dramatics at the Morton Grove and Skokie libraries, the University of Illinois and the Free Library of Philadelphia.

The creative dramatics class will be held in the Dunton Room of the Arlington Heights Library from 9 to 11:30 a.m. on Mondays from Sept. 10 through Jan. 14.

Tuition is $42 for residents of Harper College Dist. 512, and $101.49 for non-residents.

Registration may be made by phoning the Harper College Continuing Education Office at 397-3000, ext. 233.

2 are named to fire district

Two Des Plaines residents, Jack M. Stork of 8944 W. Church Street and Mark M. Davis of 9320 B Noel, were appointed trustees of the North Maine Fire Protection District on Monday.

The appointments were made by Cook County Board President George Dunne with the concurrence of the county board.

Roosevelt program again at Glenview

Roosevelt University's North Shore undergraduate and graduate programs first offered this spring will again be taught at Glenview Naval Air Station this fall.

Residents of North Shore and Northwest communities, as well as military personnel, will be offered two degree programs this September, the bachelor of general studies and the master of business administration.

Registration will be held at Glenview Naval Air Station in Building 27 on Sept. 5 from 7 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., Sept. 7 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Sept. 8 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Counselors will be available during registration periods to assist in program planning.

Designed for adults 25 years of age and older, the general studies program will be offered evenings as well as days this fall. A day-care center will be provided on the base for children of parents attending day-time classes.

The master's degree program in business administration offered evenings only, will include graduate level courses in economics, business law and production management.

The first fall term begins Sept. 10. For additional information, call 341-3543 or write Roosevelt University, 430 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago 60605.

Elk Grove Township office closed Sept. 1

Because of the Labor Day weekend, the Elk Grove Township office will be closed Saturday, Sept. 1.

The monthly meeting of the township board will be moved from Monday, Sept. 3, to Tuesday, Sept. 4.

Win At Bridge

by Oswald and James Jacoby

A safety play is a play designed to guard against some form of misfortune. Some safety plays aren't guaranteed to work. Others risk an important overtrick, but all are designed to increase declarer's chance of bringing home the bacon.

South ruffs the second spade and sees that he is going to make his five-diamond contract provided he doesn't lose more than one trump trick. He also sees that he has no way to avoid the loss of at least one.

He leads a diamond toward dummy. West plays the 10 and dummy's king wins.

He leads back the deuce of diamonds. If East plays the queen or jack South will win with his ace; lead the nine and be sure of his contract. But East doesn't play the jack. He simply drops the seven-spot on the table.

This is the best that East can do and it will work if South goes up with his ace, but South has no reason to do this. The play of the nine-spot guarantees the contract at no risk whatsoever and as such is a perfect safety play.

Overcrowded living conditions affect women more

(This column is presented by Forest Hospital in Des Plaines, devoted to the care of the mentally ill. Forest Hospital is a fully-accredited 135-bed psychiatric hospital.)

A team of psychiatric researchers from the University of Florida is studying the effects crowded living conditions have on people.

The study so far, according to the team's head, Dr. John Schwab, has so far shown that people who live in crowded dwellings have a higher tendency toward developing depression than those who live in uncrowded conditions. This finding is particularly true among women.

"Overcrowding," said Dr. Schwab," is the ratio of persons to the number of rooms in a house. When the ratio is greater than one — when there is more than one person per room in a dwelling — there is overcrowding.

"Overcrowding," he continued, "brings with it a social competition among the dwellers and also excessive stimulation — these are not factors which are conducive to a healthy existence. Human beings need some degree of loneliness — some kind of sanctuary away from other people."

ACCORDING TO DR. SCHWAB, crowding is anathema to Americans even though historically crowding has been the world's norm.

"Cities of the ancient world," he said, "the medieval world particularly — contained thousands of inhabitants within a few small acres. But they developed a means for living closely together. So have the Eskimos.

"Culturally the Eskimos have developed rituals whereby a whole group of people can live within the confines of an igloo for lengthy periods of time. They are taught they can live closely together. They are very quiet for instance and retire in separate corners. They have all sorts of special ways for reducing what we might call social competition and excessive stimulation. They have had to develop these rituals. In the continental United States we have always moved 'west' to find more space and room. Culturally and traditionally we are not equipped to live in crowded circumstances."

Dr. Schwab believes that one reason women suffe" more from overcrowding is that they do not have the same outlets available to them that men have.

"MALES CAN ESCAPE from the home and be aggressive on the outside while the female is responsible for taking care of the household — I'm talking about nurturing qualities. And the fact that women are more likely to suffer from depression is particularly upsetting to me. That's because not only are they suffering but their emotional distress is communicated to their children and is carried over, in a sense, to succeeding generations."

According to Dr. Schwab, overcrowding is not just a problem of the poor. "Generally we tend to associate crowding with poverty. Our findings show this does not hold absolutely by any means. In fact, the very poor are often the aged who may live in a one room flat. They're not crowded.

"But in many parts of our nation — if not all — blacks are 'stuck' in crowded conditions — even though their incomes rise to the point where they might have the annual average income for American families. Many of them are still stuck in, if not restricted to, the ghettos in the cities or the poorer, slummier areas of suburbia or compacted rural area hamlets and they cannot move out.

Stamp Notes... by Bernadine M. Rechner

Canada to honor Nellie McClung with stamp

The Canada Post Office will release an 8-cent commemorative Aug. 29 to mark the 100th anniversary of the birth of Nellie McClung, early advocate of social reform and women's suffrage.

Born at Chatsworth, Ontario on Oct. 20, 1873, Nellie Letitia Mooney and her family moved to Manitoba where, in 1896, she married Robert Wesley McClung.

Her vigorous campaigning in Manitoba led to that province becoming in 1916 the first to grant full political equality to its women.

In 1929 Mrs. McClung was one of five women who won the Privy Council decision which established that women were persons in the laws of the British Empire and could therefore be appointed to the Senate, a privilege previously denied them although they could vote and hold public office as high as the House of Commons.

THE STAMP was designed by Stephen Mennie of Sorento, British Columbia. Ashton-Potter Ltd., of Toronto, will print 24 million in four-color lithography. Marginal inscriptions including the designer's name appear in the four corners of each pane of 50 stamps.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations should send their requests to "McClung Stamp/FDC, Philatelic Service, Canada Post Office, Ottawa, Ontario K1A OB5." Enclose the proper remittance (in Canadian funds) which is the cost of the stamps to be affixed.

STAMP	First Day Cancellations	Value of Stamps Sold
8c Post Rider	586,850	$46,000.00
21c Giannini	282,520	69,432.30

A SMALL "gum skip" appears in the upper left pane of all Boston Tea Party stamps, which were issued July 4. The skip appears on the back of the "8-c" marking of the stamp adjacent to the plate number. My stamps are the lower left pane and I don't find the "gum skip" on these.

IN AN EFFORT to avoid potential controversy, the late President Lyndon B. Johnson selected the portrait from which his memorial stamp was designed, a Postal Service spokesman told United Press international. The stamp will be issued Aug. 27 at Austin, Texas.

"There was so much controversy about the portrait used for the Eisenhower stamp," the spokesman explained, "that we thought it was a good idea to allow Mr. Johnson to select the portrait himself." Johnson picked the portrait painted by Elizabeth Shoumatoff.

The unsmiling likeness of Eisenhower on the 8-cent stamp was selected by the Postal Service and was publicly criticized by family members and the public.

"We didn't want the same thing to happen again," the spokesman siad.

TO H. W. OF Arlington Heights: I am checking on the procedures used in releasing the Electronics FDCs, issued July 10. It seems strange that you should receive the 6 cents on Aug. 4, the 8 eights on July 28, the 11 cents on July 30 and the 15 cents on Aug. 2. My guess is that the Postal Service cancels them and releases them all at the same time. In the case of FDCs it's virtually impossible to tell exactly when they were placed in the mail stream. . .whether it's on the exact day of issue or whether it's two weeks after the date of cancellation. If they are cancelled and placed in the mail stream immediately then the hang-up must be in the Postal Service somewhere between the first day city and your home address.

Collecting Coins...by Mort Reed

Two Indian tribes issue medals, books

Two more American Indian tribes have joined the ranks of those participating in the issuance of tribal medals and history books: the Choctaw nation of Oklahoma and the Yakima nation of the State of Washington.

The books bears the same serial number as the medal and is autographed by the tribal chief or council president. Both the book and the medal must meet with complete tribal approval before they are issued.

Dr. W. David Baird, a historian at the University of Fayetteville, wrote the history of the trials and tribulations of Chahta's People, as the Choctaws were called after their original legendary leader who led them to their prehistoric home in Mississippi.

DURING THE 17TH and 18th centuries, the Choctaws defended their southern homeland against British and French colonial forces. They had to ally themselves with first one colonial power and then the other, but soon developed great skills as diplomats, according to Dr. Baird, who is widely recognized as an authority on chieftainship among these people.

When the Civil War divided the states, the Choctaw nation allied itself with the Confederacy. Consequently it faced reprisals from the victorious Union officials in the postwar era. In 1882 the Choctaw nation moved its capitol to a new building in Tuskahoma but its government was to last little more than 10 years. Congress authorized the President of the United States to appoint a new chief of the Choctaws and seize complete control of the once highly independent people.

In 1948 Harry J. W. Belvin took office as chief of the Choctaw nation and for the first time in more than a century the tribe has begun to build up tribal property.

IN ISSUING THEIR piece in the tribal series, the Yakima nation is commemorating the restoration of their sacred Mt. Adams. Publication of erroneous reports that the Yakima land was open to settlement brought settlers onto the land before the treaty was ratified and launched a brutal war that was to last until the mid 1850s.

A map prepared by Chief Kamiakin and Bureau of Interior officials clearly shows the treaty landmarks which delineated the Yakima reservation boundaries. Subsequently, Marlon Brando became a committee-of-one fighting for the restoration of the Yakima land to its rightful owners.

In an unprecedented move, President Nixon, by executive order, placed the land under trust jurisdiction of the secretary of Interior for the Yakima tribe. The President noted that the case involving the Indian claim was an unusual circumstance.

The tribal medals and books constitute the eleventh in the Indian Tribal Series and the first 1973 issues.

Interested readers should address their inquiries to Indian Tribal Series, 2937 West Indian School Rd., Phoenix, Ariz. 85017.

Soft back books and medals are $16 and hardback books with medal are $18. Both are signed by tribal presidents.

Questions? Address Paddock Publications, P.O. Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.

Veterans' News

Q—I am receiving a 60 per cent service-connected disability compensation. I have a wife and two children. My 17-year-old child was married in January. When will by compensation payments be reduced?

A—At the end of the calendar year in which the child was married.

Q—I was discharged from the Army in 1963. Do I still have rights under the G.I. Bill for a guaranteed home loan?

A—Yes. Congress has made no shut-off date for such loans. In fact, even World War II veterans are still eligible in some instances. Full information may be obtained from your nearest Veteran's Administration office.

Social Security and You

Q: Is it true that there will be a new type of Social Security program next ye:' for needy people?

A: There will be a new Federal program starting in January, 1974 which will provide cash payments to persons in financial need who are at least 65 or who are blind or who are disabled. However, this will not be Social Security even though it will be operated by the Social Security Administration. No Social Security tax money can be used to make the payments. The program is called Supplemental Social Insurance and will be financed from general funds. The payments will be referred to as Supplemental Security Income.

Q: When can I find out if I might qualify under this new program of Supplemental Security Income?

A: Your Social Security office is now taking applications even though payments cannot be made until January, 1974. Whether or not you qualify will depend on the amount of your income and the value of the things you own.

Q: I have seen a recent advertisement concerning a book about Social Security that may be ordered for $3. Is there any place where I could get literature about Social Security without cost?

A: Every Social Security district office has a supply of different pamphlets describing the various types of benefits payable. Any of these booklets may be obtained without charge. Just phone, write, or visit your local Social Security district office.

Credit insurance

Often a waste of money for borrowers

by MONICA WILCH

Michael and Gail, newlyweds from Round Lake Park, walked into the loan company office in Arlington Heights and sat down to sign the papers for their loan.

It was all rather complicated, but the man told them what was what, marked the appropriate boxes for them and showed them where to sign.

When it was all over, they had contracted not only for a loan, but also for credit life, accident and health insurance on the debt, even though they hadn't requested it.

Despite the fact that federal law requires financial institutions to disclose the optional nature of credit insurance and give borrowers a clear choice, evidence is strong that people seeking loans are routinely coerced — or led unsuspecting — into paying the additional cost of credit insurance.

AND THE INSURANCE, while sometimes a wise investment, is more often a waste of money for borrowers — but a windfall for creditors.

These were the findings of a Herald investigation, initiated in the wake of an order issued by the Federal Trade Commission in May against Commercial Credit Co. The order prohibited Commercial Credit, one of the largest independent consumer finance companies in the country, from violating the Truth in Lending Act when selling credit insurance.

The Herald's findings were also corroborated in a confidential report by the Illinois Department of Insurance, which is in the process of investigating the credit insurance industry in the state. Department officials conceded to The Herald that, due to lack of enough insurance examiners and an inefficient monitoring system, they really don't know what is going on in the credit insurance industry.

"It's probably a mess," one official told this reporter.

THE FTC HAD charged that Commercial Credit induced its customers to give an "affirmative indication" regarding credit insurance is optional;

—Quoting repayment figures which included credit life, accident and health insurance coverage without stating that the insurance is optional;

—Automatically including coverage for such insurance in the loan transaction unless the consumer specifically objected to it;

—Checking, without the consumer's permission, the "I do" boxes in that portion of the loan disclosure statement which states "I do — do not — desire credit life insurance;"

—Telling their customers to sign next to the 'Xs" their employes have made on the loan documents, without explaining that these signatures are intended to indicate the consumer's desire for the insurance;

—When the insurance coverage is questioned, discouraging the consumer from declining it by stating that the loan may be substantially delayed or denied.

THESE PRACTICES are all violations of the federal Truth in Lending Act. The FTC ordered Commercial Credit to make a "clear, oral disclosure" to the consumer regarding the insurance, to obtain a "separate, written personal insurance authorization form . . . executed by the borrower," and to disclose monthly installment payments "without any insurance; with credit life insurance only; with credit accident and health insurance only; and with both."

But Commissioner Mary Gardiner Jones dissented from this decision on the grounds that it would "have no deterrent effect on other financial institutions engaging in this type of practice since they know that they will be able to benefit financially from this practice until the Commission's arm is actually placed on their shoulder."

Apparently, this is what is happening with a number of lending companies.

"I was under the impression the credit insurance was mandatory," commented the Round Lake Park woman regarding the procedure of the loan company in Arlington Heights.

IN ANOTHER case, a Southern Illinois University student took out a loan from a well-known national loan company.

"They told me I had to have credit life insurance," he said. "It wasn't optional." He said they quoted only the cost of payments with the insurance, not without.

A young woman who now lives and works in the northwest suburbs took out a loan from a New York trust company. She also got credit insurance.

"They explained it but put a lot of pressure on me to take it," she recalled.

Despite the apparent frequency of such experiences, the executive vice president of the Illinois Consumer Finance Association, Carl Dalke, maintains that its member companies "are genuinely concerned about disclosure."

Dalke said the problem is one of "interpretation — as to what really constitutes disclosure." But he said the organization insures that its members are notified whenever a new ruling — such as the FTC order — comes out. He added it is "incumbent on those in the business to keep on top and comply with these regulations."

ONE REASON lending institutions might be reluctant to comply and provide full disclosure is that they may be profiting from the sale of credit insurance.

In 1960 the National Association of Insurance Commissioners issued a revised model bill providing for, among other things, a 50 per cent loss ratio — meaning one half of premiums paid in by consumers must be returned by the insurer to debtors in the form of benefits. This and other provisions of the bill were issued in "bulletins" by the Illinois Department of Insurance in 1968.

But, according to a report compiled by an insurance department staff member, dated Jan. 2, 1973, the 50 per cent loss ratio is being "successfully circumvented." This is done, according to the report, by selective assignment of insurance business by general agencies to insurance companies.

While one company is given a certain class of business resulting in far less than a 50 per cent loss ratio, another company is given a class of business resulting in a higher than 50 per cent loss ratio. The latter company then petitions the Department of Insurance for a rate deviation, thus circumventing the rules.

ACCORDING TO the Consumer Credit Insurance Association's own statistics, total credit insurance premiums in 1971 amounted to $1.5 billion, while benefits paid amounted to only $450 million — considerably less than the required 50 per cent ratio.

The report stated that the only way credit insurance abuses can be ended is "through strict monitoring of the 50 per cent loss ratio," but, according to Brian Boyer of the Chicago office, the department has only 175 examiners to cover many more insurance companies. Boyer said individual companies should be examined every three years but are examined only every four to five years.

Another source of profit for lending institutions is through compensation from the insurance companies. According to the counsel for the Consumer Credit Insurance Association, Joe Bailey, commissions paid to creditors as agents for the insurance company are quite small.

But, the Department of Insurance report referred to "numerous (recent) complaints of abuses . . . (including) actual cash compensation to the creditor in excess of the 40 per cent limit (commission permitted by law), electric computer typewriters given to the creditor institution, the placement of personnel in the creditor's agency who are actually on the payroll of either the insurance agency or the insurance company, the formation of Arizona companies to allow excess profits to flow directly to the creditor, and various other insidious techniques to circumvent the 40 per cent lid on compensation on to the creditor."

WHAT ALL THIS means for the borrower is that his investment in credit insurance is making a profit for the loan company, but he will probably get nothing out of it at all. The same money invested in some other way — including other kinds of insurance — could, on the other hand, bring him dividends.

"Unlike other group insurance situations," the report noted, "the creditor is in the unusual position of being both policyholder and beneficiary." The borrower is merely the certificate holder and thus reaps no dividends, according to Department of Insurance official James Huber.

"It (credit insurance) might very well not be a bargain for the consumer," Huber said. "He might be better off to get such coverage from an insurance institution at better terms and better dividends."

Indeed, the report described borrowers as a "captive market." Because of their "inferior bargaining position," the report said, the lender "is able to foist this insurance upon the debtors."

THE SYSTEM "offers incentive to the creditor to make an effort to sell such protection to as many borrowers as possible," the report said, adding that "active promotion of the coverage results in pecuniary return of some kind to the lender."

Interestingly, the CCIA boasts of the "popularity" of credit insurance, noting that in 1971 over 77 million people had credit life insurance. But the department report sees these figures, combined with what it terms the high price of credit insurance, as further evidence of hard sell tactics.

The report urged thorough investigation and possible action against insurance companies, creditors and general agencies. Asked for an assessment of the report, Huber told The Herald, "We're confident the abuses exist and to the extent that he (the author of the report) says they do."

According to Boyer, however, the department has little idea what specific abuses are going on and where.

"No one has been tending the store," he remarked.

Credit insurance: What is it?

Consumer credit insurance provides coverage for a loan in case the borrower dies or is disabled. Instead of his family having to pay off the loan, the credit insurance does so.

But an Arlington Heights life insurance agent urges consumers to consult with their insurance representatives before taking out credit insurance on a loan.

"I tell a client who I feel is adequately covered (by other insurance) not to get it (credit insurance)," he said. "There may be better ways to organize your money."

For example, he explained, if a man has a mortgage at 4¾ per cent interest and he dies, it would be better for his wife to receive a $20,000 insurance benefit in cash and put it in the bank at 5¾ per cent interest than to have the money applied directly to the debt, with nothing left for investment.

Moreover, when lending institutions fail to make proper disclosure of credit insurance to borrowers, as the Federal Trade Commission and the Illinois Department of Insurance are charging, the borrower or his family may forfeit their benefits.

"If people don't claim it because they don't know they have it, they lose it," he said. "Often there is a rule that you have to apply for it within a certain length of time (following death or disablement of the insured)."

The agent recalled one such case in which a client of his was disabled and didn't know he had credit insurance on his car loan. The agent discovered he did, but "it was like pulling teeth to get it (the insurance money)."

ESPECIALLY FOR THE FAMILY

Parents advised to avoid overpreparation for school

by PATRICIA McCORMACK

For millions of boys and girls a little taller than a fireplug September marks the start of a nerve-tingling adventure or a traumatic experience — or a natural next step in development.

For the first time, they are going to school — nursery, kindergarten or first grade. Whether the transition from the familiar at home to the new at school is smooth or traumatic depends a lot on what most in child-raising depends on — parents.

So holds Dr. Cynthia Deutsch, professor of psychology and acting director of the New York University Institute for Developmental Studies.

Dr. Deutsch is the author of "The Disadvantaged Child." With her husband Martin, also a Ph.D. and head of the institute, she has co-authored many studies on child development and behavior.

In an interview, Dr. Deutsch said many schools tend to make too much of getting the child ready for school the first time. Too much preparation can lead to a letdown.

"MY ATTITUDE," she said, "is to wait and see if the transition is difficult. If so, handle it.

"Generally parents should indicate to the child that a new and positive experience is about to begin. It's not the sort of thing you leave 'til the day before.

"Actually it is something that occurs from the time a child is born. You get them set, for example, by providing playthings the school has — similar blocks and so on.

"If it's a first time away from home for a child, there's bound to be a more difficult adjustment."

Parents constantly holding school over a pre-school child's head in a threatening way aren't doing a thing to help that first day.

Such Moms and Dads, according to the psychologist, say "Wait 'til you get to school; you won't be allowed to do that or act like that."

The toddlers get the idea school is some sort of straitjacket. This notion upsets them.

DR. DEUTSCH said it is natural to expect some tension, even if a child seems to enjoy the starting of school days. Those terribly upset may revert to bedwetting or thumb-sucking.

Those not showing the tension on the outside will feel it inside.

And all will be weary. The tension makes them tired, costs extra energy as they function in a new situation.

If you don't belive that, Dr. Deutsch suggested you think back to times when you were in a new situation. It took a lot out of you, didn't it?

Now in a case where the adjustment to school brings back bad habits — thumb sucking, bed wetting — don't scold.

"Give him an extra snack before bed if he does revert," Dr. Deutsch said. "Let him alone. The habit will go away when he's fully adjusted to school."

OTHER TIPS from the psychologist:

—Give school a month or so, if the child doesn't settle in maybe there is something wrong and you should seek help.

—In a couple of months it's a good idea to visit the school and observe your child, whether he has problems or not.

—Kids don't develop at the same rate. Don't compare your child with others the same age, thinking something's wrong if Bud next door fingerpaints in bigger strokes and your child fingerpaints in teeny-tiny strokes.

—A regimented lunch is the worst thing. No talking in the lunchroom, for example. Kids ought to be able to talk at lunch. Mealtime is a relaxing time.

—There is an advantage to a hot lunch. Nutritionists recommend that the heaviest meal be scheduled at mid-day.

—Before school opens, go with child to the school playground and together use the swings and slides — if you fit. Walk the way, if it is walking distance. Make the school familiar — not a far off thing.

ONCE ORDINARY STEREO speakers have been transformed into contemporary design elements (see upper left) to blend with the modern decor of this model apartment from Cove Landing Condominiums, Lombard. Sounds Right designers replaced a standard walnut case with a crisp white one and added a pedestal to further enhance the design. They selected navy blue and yellow front panels to complement the color scheme of predominately red and white with yellow and blue accents.

Custom designed stereo 'Sounds Right'

by FRAN HECKART

A striving for individuality has led to a "custom" designed lifestyle for many. Autos, homes, wardrobes and sports equipment all bear tailormade labels for those preferring a distinct design.

However, until recently most stereo systems have all been designed primarily from a functional aspect. The element of hi-fi interior fashion has been left to the decorator who must contend with basic speakers and minor modifications of silver knobs.

Realizing the need for more stylized sound systems, emphasizing quality, six young men incorporated their talents. The young Mount Prospect-based company, Sounds Right, is concerned with a "total sound environment."

"We're interested in providing a personalized service to help customers make the most of a sometimes very large investment," said Larry Pearl, president and spokesman for the company.

SOUNDS RIGHT'S customized service offers more than a simple "made especially for" label. It offers individuals a chance to have the utmost in listening quality suited to the limits of his or her specific interior and budget.

Unlike a retail store, Sounds Right can tailor an audio system to homes, boats, offices or dining rooms. The dilemmas of choosing the correct combination of components to satisfy particular tastes in musical entertainment, conforming to budgetary guidelines and matching an interior decor are assumed by the Sounds Right men.

These interiors decorators of sound can create a hi-fi system aesthetically pleasing to both eyes and ears.

Decorative ideas such as picture wall speakers, custom grill cloth design, shelving or cabinetry and a full line of audio accessories are a few of the company's offerings.

IT WOULD SEEM that all of the custom work and personalized service would run into considerable cost. However, it's just the opposite. Sounds Right can offer custom installment for what customers would expect to pay for the equipment alone, according to Pearl.

The combined efforts of the men, who include Pearl, Charlie Sauer, Steve Henderson, Jim Bewersdorf, Scott Milford and Bob Sauer, contribute to the complete, versatile audio service of the company.

Teamed professionally the men become audio consultants, designers and installers. As consultants they offer an awareness of new and improved merchandise along with knowledge of correct placement of the system to maximize performance.

Custom cabinetry and shelving, decorative ideas to make components compatible to individual decors and modification of sound enclosures designate the role of designer.

AS INSTALLERS the men will accoustically install according to specifications agreeable to consultants and customers. They offer accessories to expand a present system such as remote switching networks or additional speakers.

Additional Sounds Right services include tape and record libraries, free listing service for those wishing to sell equipment and factory warranties on all equipment.

"Quality is really what we're all about," said Pearl of the company's goal. Having been the route of fast-sell stereo outlets, Pearl feels that a change for the better is in order. Sounds Right was born of a sincere desire to provide clients the best quality within specific means, he said. Hopefully, they're off to a good start.

Wedding bells ring twice

Wedding bells rang for the second time in two months in the Harvey E. Nehmzow family, 1002 Alder Ln., Mount Prospect.

Their daughter, Karen Lynn, who now resides in Huntington Beach, Calif., was married June 16 to Timothy J. Finneran, and their son, Kenneth, was married July 28 to Melanie A. Brown.

Melanie, daughter of Mrs. Gloria Marie Webb of Louisville, Ky., and Ken, were married in St. Paul Lutheran Church, Mount Prospect, in a 7:30 p.m., candlelight, double ring service.

Melanie studied at a Louisville trade school and met Ken when he was a student at the University of Southern Illinois where he received a B.S. degree in teaching. He is now with Seno & Sons, Mount Prospect, and Melanie is with Montgomery Wards, Mount Prospect.

A candlelight beige gown with Spanish lace and hand bead seed pearls was Melanie's choice in wedding gown. Her veil, held by a headpiece of pearl flowers, was trimmed in lace, and she carried white, pink, blue and yellow daisies with baby's breath.

LAURIE WEBB, sister of the bride from Louisville, was maid of honor wearing a plaid gown in shades of blue. In pink plaid and yellow plaid were her bridesmaids, Lori Nehmzow, sister of the groom, and Cindy Schwinn, both of Mount Prospect. Each girl carried daisies to match her gown mixed with white daisies and each wore a white hat with ribbons to match her gown.

Tom Kereszturi, Mount Prospect, was best man, and ushers were Nick Molitor, Palatine, and Mike Schwinn, Mount Prospect.

A reception for 150 guests was held in the Mount Prospect Holiday Inn.

Ken and Melanie honeymooned for three days in Milwaukee, Wis., and are now residing in the Wheeling Apartments, Wheeling Road, Mount Prospect.

The Potting Shed

by Mary B. Good

When garden writers get together, you see a cross section of people who look very much as though they have nothing in common — university professors, young writers, sedate grandmother types, dynamic businessmen, country gentlemen in straw hats, career women, some who look like housewives, outdoorsmen, old-timers.

Externals aside, they blend into a unique confederacy with their common interest.

Conventions and regional meetings of their professional group are enlivened with trade stories.

Recently I was invited to the field day trials at George Ball Seed Co. in West Chicago. It was a field day for the Garden Writers of America Association, and I looked forward to seeing my cronies.

MY SEAT PARTNER on the bus out to the nursery was a charming garden writer who told me a story about a lady who wrote to him asking why her African violets were dying. Granted there are a million reasons why he could never sift the cause out on the spot, he said, "Why don't you bring the violets to my office so I can have a look at them?"

"Can't you tell me on the phone?" she asked.

"You wouldn't ask the doctor to treat you over the phone if you were dying, would you?" he responded.

"No," she said, "but there's no reason why my violets should die, I water them with fresh, cold water and fertilize them every day."

Another writer told of being awakened late at night in his home by a lawyer who wanted garden advice. "You don't mind my disturbing you," the lawyer said.

"Well, yes I do," admitted the writer. "How would you like it if I called you this time of night and asked for legal advice?"

"I'D TELL YOU to call my office in the morning and hang up on you," said the lawyer.

"So be it," answered the garden writer, as he put the receiver back on the hook.

"How do you get green bananas to ripen faster?" was a question another writer repeated as a true story. The questioner continued, "I needed them for a dinner salad so I put them in the oven and turned the heat up to 300 degrees, but that didn't work."

Letters from children are always a source of delight to garden writers. One such wanted to know, "How come my carrots didn't come up? Could I have planted the seeds upside down?"

Or: "Why do they call it eggplant, when you never see any eggs on it?"

Garden writers generally agree that their pet peeves are people who expect them to be able to identify every living plant known to man, and the people who trap them at cocktail parties for gardening advice.

ONCE WE GOT to our destination, the garden writers group made the grand tour of George Ball Seeds. There had been set up colorful tents as oasis under the hot sun for our flower viewing comfort. Yo may not recognize the Ball name because the firm is a wholesaler, supplying seeds to names you do know — Burpee, Northrup King, Henry Field, Gurney, Joseph Harris, Park, Stokes, Vaughn's and Ferry-Morse seeds, to name a few of the large retail firms Ball calls customers. George Ball is the largest operation of its kind in the Chicago area. And yet it carries on operations as neighbor to a residential area practically unnoticed.

I've been growing some of Ball's new introduction, Carefree Coleus, which will be on the market in flats next year, and it is a beautiful, vigorous, hardy annual. The leaves are narrow and ruffled, similar to an oak leaf in a beautiful bronze hue.

Another new variety originated by the Ball people is the Early Girl tomato, a tomato that produces baseball size fruit (so they say) in 45 days. If it's true that growers of this variety are picking while others are still hoping, then I think this new tomato will be really popular with the home gardener, especially in the north. (I'm still among the hopers, I might add.)

ONE INTERESTING facet of this trip which will be appreciated by anyone who has ever tried to grow plants from seed is the Ball germinating room.

The seedsmen are able to raise about three-quarter million plants in a living room size room by a very efficient means. Seedlings are planted in compact trays — a thousand or more plants per tray, each tray hardly bigger than a seat cushion. The seeds grow in narrow grooves in these Styrofoam-type trays which facilitate many more seeds than the conventional scattering method of seeding.

I went away from the outing with a better knowledge of how the pros grow plants on a commercial basis and lots of gardening tips I gleaned from my fellow writers when I trapped them at the cocktail party that followed.

Speed Queen new warranty big improvement

A brand new improved warranty has been introduced by Speed Queen for its home laundry appliances. The first "Full Two-Year Parts and Labor Warranty" to be offered by an appliance manufacturer, the new guarantee covers all such equipment purchased on or after Aug. 1.

Speed Queen's full two-year warranty is the kind that was proposed in a Consumer Product Warranties bill introduced into Congress in 1971 by Sen. Warren G. Magnuson.

The bill failed amid increasing consumer complaints about misleading and inadequate warranties (see Product Warranties: No Ally of Consumer, The Herald, Jan. 10).

WRITTEN IN easily understandable language, the new Speed Queen warranty guarantees free replacement of any part "which fails as a result of a manufacturing defect during the first two years . . . and we will pay the labor charges."

The old Speed Queen warranty, as well as many others, covered only transmission parts and did not cover labor costs.

The new warranty offers eight-year coverage on transmission parts beyond the two-year general coverage, but specifies that the owner pays the labor charges for this.

Where applicable, the warranty guarantees the stainless steel tub for the life of the appliance, including payment of labor charges during the first two years.

The warranty will be honored and the service performed at any Speed Queen dealer in the country, according to the printed terms.

WHEN THE Food and Drug Commission moved recently to take a certain propellant in aerosol cans off the market, an Arlington Heights beauty salon owner was way ahead of them.

Ray Raynes, of the Beauty Bar in Arlington Market, a month ago replaced all aerosol hair spray cans in his shop with an air pressure system.

"I've heard some bad things about aerosol cans — the gases and spray are bad," Raynes said in discussing his decision to make the changeover.

"In a busy shop like ours, there's all that spray flying around, and it coats the walls and eats up the hot water heater," he added.

The new system is "like a small paint sprayer," Raynes explained. "It has a little compressor to keep the air pressure up. Plastic hoses run to each desk."

Because the droplets produced by this system are heavier than air, the excess drops to the floor, eliminating that fine mist flying around in the air when aerosols are used.

Raynes said a number of shops now have this system, which is available from most beauty supply wholesale companies. He added that the system is "not too expensive — a couple hundred dollars — but you save on hair spray."

Raynes says he has "a feeling they may eventually outlaw aerosol cans in salons." As to whether it's a false alarm or a real hazard, he noted, "A friend of mine had to get out of this business because he had lung trouble."

EVER BEEN at a party when a guest walked in the door carrying a six-pack of Coors beer? If the party is taking place anywhere east of the Mississippi, you hear a chorus of elated cries as everyone rushes to seize a can of the magic potion.

Coors has long enjoyed the reputation as the "Cadillac" of beers, a reputation reinforced by its very limited availability — it is sold in only 11 states.

But the Federal Trade Commission this month ruled that the Adolph Coors Co. has illegally restrained competition by fixing prices, imposing territorial and customer restrictions upon its distributors and using unfair short-term termination provisions in its contracts with distributors."

Coors, located in Golden, Colo., was the nation's fourth largest brewer in 1971 with gross sales of $350 million. Marketed through 167 distributors in Oklahoma, Kansas, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Idaho, Nevada, California and Texas, it claimed about 40 per cent of the market in that area.

BESIDES SETTING the prices at which Coors is sold and strong-arming distributors and retailers to adhere to those prices, Coors also refused to permit sales to central warehouses, who would have distributed the beer outside Coors "territory" where price competition could have taken place.

Coors has been ordered to stop all these practices, which means that the golden nectar will probably soon be flowing into the parched Midwest.

James T. Browns married 50 years

Mr. and Mrs. James T. Brown

Mr. and Mrs. James T. Brown, 619 N. Russel St., Mount Prospect, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary July 14 with an afternoon reception and a family dinner.

Hosts for the celebration were their son, Dr. James T. Brown Jr., and his family of Oakmont, Pa., and their daughter, Mrs. Robert T. Groeneveld and family of La Grange, at whose home the anniversary was observed.

Residents of Mount Prospect for 32 years, the Browns built a home on N. Wille St. in 1941 where they lived until moving to their present address two years ago.

Some heather for Heather's bouquet

Mr. and Mrs. Steven Dupre

It was only fitting that Heather Holman carry a bit of white heather in her bouquet when she became the bride of Steven Dupre. The heather was mixed with lilies of the valley, daisies and baby's breath.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Holman, 1695 Appleby Road, Palatine, Heather and Steve, son of George T. Dupre, 417 S. Elm, Palatine, and the late Mrs. Dupre, had known each other since first grade but didn't start dating until just before their graduation from Fremd High School in 1970.

Heather then went on to study at St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn., and then in her sophomore year transferred to the University of Illinois at Champaign where Steve was studying. This fall Heather will be going into her senior year at the U of I to complete work for her B.F.A.A. degree in art history. Steve, majoring in accounting, will be completing work for his degree in business. He then plans to go on to study law.

THE COUPLE WERE married Aug. 11 in a 2 p.m. service in Presbyterian Church of Palatine. They wrote their own vows for the double ring service.

Heather chose a white, floor-length gown of Schiffley embroidered on net over organza with train, long bell sleeves and a white satin border at the hemline. Her cathedral veil and fingertip blusher were attached to a floral headpiece.

Cindy Nugent, Palatine, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Penny Perkins, Palatine, Nancy Henderson, a cousin from Olympia Fields, Jill Holman, sister of the bride, and Valerie Dupre, sister of the groom, both of Palatine. All wore green and white print voile gowns, daisy headpieces and carried yellow and white long stemmed daisies.

ELIZABETH BLOM, 4-year-old cousin of the bride, Zeeland, Mich., was flower girl wearing a gown similar to the bridesmaids' gowns. She carried a small nosegay of daisies.

Tom Wear, Oak Park, a fraternity brother of the groom, was best man, and ushers, all of Palatine, were Mike Lewis, Carl Tuerk, and the couple's brothers, Judd Holman and Mark Dupre.

A reception for 250 guests was held at Inverness Golf Club. A second reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Heather and Steve honeymooned in Hawaii for 10 days and will be at home in a Champaign apartment later this week.

Dear Dorothy: I'm well aware we all need calcium in our diets and I've had it drummed in that milk is the best source. But what do you do when your family won't touch the stuff? The young ones are following their father's "take-it-away" attitude. — Jessie Carrigo Agreed, we all need calcium and that milk is a great source but be comforted by the thought that yours isn't an unusual problem. Will they take buttermilk? Ice cream is a good substitute. What you did was prompt a check of the calcium listing of my much-used Nutritive Values Chart and I see a number of foods high in calcium that I'd forgotten about: oysters, cabbage, collards, certain breads. Don't overlook cream sauces and soups, various cheeses, sardines.

While were's on this, you and many others might find the Nutritive Values Chart useful. Send 30 cents to the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C., 20204 — and ask for HG Bulletin No. 72.

Tip to brides: This is such a simple hint, but observation makes me believe most hostesses either don't know about it or have forgotten it. A tiny bit of shortening smeared on the underside of a pitcher spout will stop the cream or gravy from dripping down the sides and messing up the tablecloth. It works with the syrup pitcher, too.

Dear Dorothy: My rubber mat has developed several mold stains around the vacuum cups in spite of my draining it after each use. Any way to remove this mold? — E.F.G.

Scrub well with either a baking soda solution or a chlorine-based scouring powder, using a stiff brush. Rinse thoroughly, and dry outside, if it's possible.

Nursing student, a bride

Following their July 28 wedding Diane Elizabeth Ake and her bridegroom, James Laurence Saul, are making their home in Evansville, Ind., where Diane is studying at the University of Evansville and where Jim is with Mead-Johnson Co.

Diane has completed three years in nursing at the university and will receive her degree in June '74. Jim received a degree in industrial engineering from Southern Illinois University in '69. He and Diane met on a blind date arranged by Jim's best man, James Bryant, and Elizabeth Henning, one of Diane's bridesmaids.

The 4:30 p.m. double ring wedding was held in Palatine Presbyterian Church with a buffet reception following at the Hobson House in Long Grove. Diane is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ake, 4218 Wilson Ave., Rolling Meadows, and Jim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fount Saul, Grand Tower, Ill.

DIANE WORE her mother's gown of imported Calais lace over candlelight satin with fitted bodice, illusion neckline and long sleeves. She also wore a three-quarter veil and carried a crescent of orchids, baby's breath and stephanotis on a white bible.

Julianne Northacker, Lafayette, Ind., was maid of honor, and besides Elizabeth, bridesmaids were Tamara Carder, Evansville, and DeAnne Marsh, Carmel, Ind.

The girls, all sorority sisters of the bride, wore light blue, long sleeved gowns with ruffle trim. Their headpieces were blue veiling with headbands of white daisies, and they carried white wicker baskets with white daisies, pink rose buds, baby's breath and blue delphinium.

Ushers were the bride's brother, Theodore Ake, Rolling Meadows, and William Van Horn, Gary, Ind., and Ronald Stanke, Evansville.

The couple honeymooned for a week in Estes Park, Colo., before settling in their Evansville apartment.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Saul

Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn honeymoon in Mexico

A honeymoon in Mexico City and Acapulco followed the wedding of Connie Grimes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Grimes, 1697 Morse Ave., Des Plaines, and Gary Llewellyn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Llewellyn, Berkley, Mich.

The couple was married July 14 in Des Plaines United Methodist Church, in a double ring ceremony. They are now living in Glenview.

Connie is a graduate of Maine West High School and Adrian College, Adrian, Mich. She has a degree in elementary education. Gary also graduated from Adrian College. He is employed at Lloyd Thomas Appraisal Co., Chicago.

MATRON OF HONOR for the 4:30 ceremony was Mrs. Linda Hanniford. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Karen Serilla, Detroit; Miss Leslie Singer, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Miss Carolyn Nicodem, Rosemont; Miss Jeanie Engstrom, Des Plaines; and Mrs. Jean Maus, Oak Forest.

Arthur Conley, Detroit, was best man. Seating the guests were Bob Gabbard, Lake Orion, Mich.; George Llewellyn, cousin of the groom, Detroit; John Llewellyn, brother of the groom, Grand Haven, Mich.; Bill Llewellyn, brother of the groom, Detroit; and John Grimes, brother of the bride, Des Plaines.

The reception for 160 guests was held at the Starlight Inn in Schiller Park.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE – Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

EVERYBODY STOPS TO READ THE HERALD WANT ADS!

Before I joined the Payroll Savings Plan all I could save was string.

When it comes to saving money, most of us can use all the help we can get.

Joining the Payroll Savings Plan is one easy way to force yourself to save. When you sign up, an amount you specify is set aside from each paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. It's automatic. Everything is done for you.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5½% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra ½%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970 . . . with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Stick with the plan and before you know it you'll have a bankroll waiting. That's when you'll find you can do a lot more with money than you can with string.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a good way to save.

Take stock in America.

AND EVERYTHING NICE ABOUT FOOD

Favorite Russian Coffee

1 tablespoon chocolate syrup
¾ cup milk, scalded
*2 tablespoons thawed frozen whipped topping
Semi-sweet chocolate squares, grated (optional)

Or use prepared whipped topping or whipped cream.*

Place coffee and syrup in a large cup or coffee mug. Stir in scalded milk. Continue stirring until chocolate and coffee are dissolved. Top with thawed whipped topping. Garnish with grated chocolate or chocolate curls. Makes 1 cup or 1 serving.

Note: For a sweeter beverage, increase chocolate syrup or add sugar to taste.

Kaffeeklatsch Punch

½ cup sugar
¼ cup cocoa
5 cups water
½ cup heavy cream
⅓ to ½ cup bourbon or rye
3 to 4 tablespoons creme de cacao
4 eggs, well beaten

Or use instant decaffeinated coffee.*

Combine coffee, sugar, and cocoa in saucepan. Stir in 1 cup of the water. Bring to a boil over medium heat; then reduce heat and simmer 3 minutes. Remove from heat. Add remaining water; chill.

Add heavy cream, bourbon, creme de cacao, and coffee mixture to well-beaten eggs. Chill well. Just before serving, lightly beat egg-coffee mixture to blend. Pour into punch bowl; then set in larger bowl of crushed ice. Sprinkle lightly with cinnamon, if desired. Makes about 6½ cups or 12 to 15 servings.

Arabian Coffee

1 stick cinnamon, broken in half
4 cardamom seeds
4 cups water
*⅓ cup instant decaffeinated coffee

Or use ⅓ cup freeze-dried decaffeinated coffee.*

Tie cinnamon and cardamom seeds in cheesecloth and place in saucepan with water. Cover, bring to a boil and simmer about 10 minutes. Remove spice bag. Measure coffee into a heatproof pitcher. Gradually add hot spicy water, stirring until coffee is dissolved. Serve immediately in demitasse cups. Sweeten to taste. Serve with cinnamon stick as a stirrer, if desired. Makes about 1 quart or 12 demitasse servings.

Coffee Eggnog

2 egg yolks
1½ cups milk
1 cup light cream
¼ cup light corn syrup
4½ teaspoons freeze-dried decaffeinated coffee
¼ cup brandy
2 egg whites
Nutmeg

Beat egg yolks slightly in saucepan. Stir in milk, cream, and corn syrup. Scald over low heat, stirring often. Remove from heat. Dissolve coffee in a small amount of the egg yolk mixture; blend with remaining egg yolk mixture in saucepan. Stir in brandy.

In a serving bowl, beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Fold in egg yolk mixture. Beat with rotary beater or wire whip until thoroughly blended. Serve warm in punch cups or demitasse cups. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Makes about 5 cups or 10 servings.

Italian Coffee

4 cups boiling water
12 slices lemon peel

Measure coffee into coffeepot. Add boiling water; stir. Cover and let stand 5 minutes over low heat. Serve in demitasse cups with a twist of lemon peel. Makes 4 cups or 10 demitasse servings.

a different dessert

Happy Marriage

1½ tablespoons freeze-dried decaffeinated coffee
3 tablespoons chocolate syrup
1 cup milk, scalded
1 cup hot water
*2 tablespoons cognac liqueur
Prepared whipped topping

Or use 1 tablespoon brandy extract.*

Measure coffee and syrup into pitcher. Stir in scalded milk and hot water. Continue stirring until coffee and syrup are dissolved. Add cognac and mix well. Serve in demitasse cups topped with a dollop of whipped topping. Makes 2 cups or 5 or 6 demitasse servings.

Coffee Punch

⅔ cup sugar
2 tablespoons sherry wine
3 quarts cold milk
Prepared or thawed whipped topping

Or use ⅓ cup freeze-dried decaffeinated coffee.*

Combine coffee, sugar, wine, and 3 cups of the milk in a bowl or electric blender. Beat with a rotary beater until blended or 30 seconds at high speed of electric blender. Pour into punch bowl along with remaining milk. Mix well. Top with dollops of whipped topping; then sprinkle with nutmeg, if desired. Serve in punch cups. Makes about 3 quarts or 25 servings.

Coffee Peach Frappe

3 tablespoons instant decaffeinated coffee
*1½ cups cold water
*½ cup bourbon
*1 can (16 oz.) sliced peaches, chilled
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
1 pint vanilla ice cream
Crushed ice

Or use 2 cups cold water and 1 tablespoon imitation rum flavor.*

Or use 1 package (10 oz.) frozen peaches in quick thaw pouch, thawed.*

Dissolve coffee in cold water in a medium bowl; stir in bourbon. Set aside. If desired, reserve 5 small peach slices for garnish. Combine peaches with syrup, nutmeg, and about 1½ cups of the ice cream in blender container. Blend on high speed until smooth. Pour over reserved coffee mixture and stir until blended. Serve in tall glasses over crushed ice, or pour into punch cups. Top each with a small scoop of the remaining ice cream. Garnish with reserved peach slices and mint sprigs, if desired. Makes about 5 cups or 5 large or 10 small servings.

For Single Serving. Blend 1¼ cups of frappe mixture with ¼ cup crushed ice in blender. Pour into tall glass and top with a small scoop of ice cream.

Coffee Slush

1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin
1½ tablespoons freeze-dried decaffeinated coffee
3 cups boiling water
1 cup prepared whipped topping

Combine sugar, gelatin, and coffee in a bowl. Add boiling water and stir until ingredients are dissolved. Pour into 8-inch square pan and freeze until firm — about 4 hours. Just before serving shave frozen coffee mixture into fine pieces by scraping with metal spoon. (It mixture is too firm, let stand at room temperature a few minutes.) Fold in prepared whipped topping. Spoon into 8 glasses. If desired, garnish with additional prepared whipped topping. Serve with straw and spoon. Serve immediately. Makes about 4 cups or 8 servings.

Coffee Cordial on the Rocks

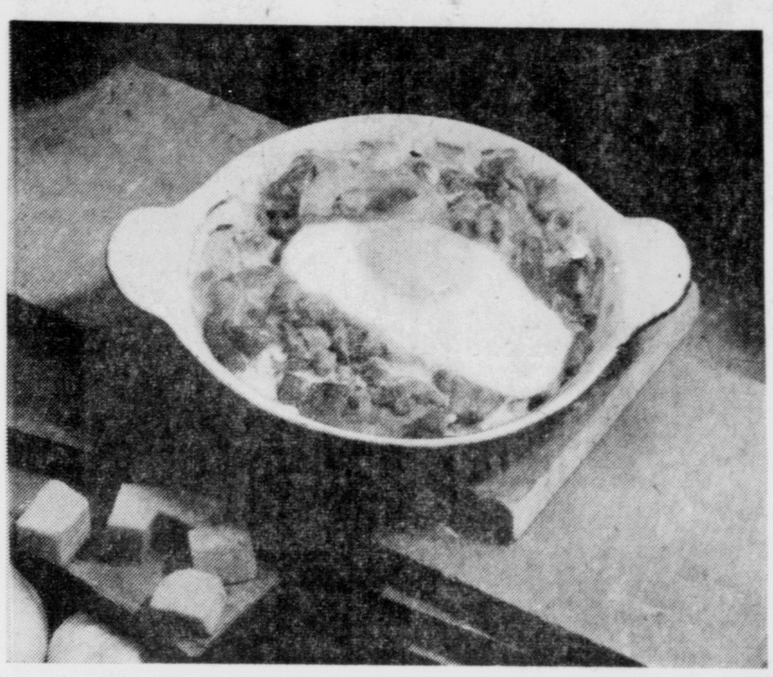
¼ cup sugar
3 cups cold water
¼ cup brandy or rum
8 strips orange peel

Measure coffee and sugar into a pitcher. Stir in water. Add brandy or rum. Pour over crushed ice or ice cubes in old fashioned glasses. Twist strips of peel, place on a skewer, if desired and add to each serving. Serve at once. Makes about 3 cups or 8 demitasse servings.

Eggs star in easy Spanish dishes



Huevos A La Flamenco

When we think of eggs in this country, it's usually in terms of breakfast and it's boiled eggs, poached eggs, scrambled, fried or creamed eggs. But in Spain, as in the south of France, gourmet-minded citizens come up with some truly tasty mixtures, worthy of featuring as dinner entrees. These are usually subtle blendings of eggs with some of the country's leading products . . . seafood, poultry, pork, green vegetables, cheese and pimiento-stuffed olives.

To discover that eggs can be the basis for attractive entrees, plan to serve either one of these authentic Spanish dishes.

HUEVOS A LA FLAMENCO

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 large onion, sliced
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- ¼ pound ham, diced
- 1 pound (3 medium) tomatoes, diced
- 1/3 cup sliced pimiento-stuffed olives
- 1 can (8 ounces) cut green beans or peas, drained
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- Dash pepper
- 4 eggs

Melt butter in large skillet; add onion, garlic and ham and saute until lightly browned. Add tomatoes and olives. Cook 5 minutes or until excess liquid evaporates. Stir in beans, parsley and pepper. Turn into 4 individual baking dishes. Carefully break one egg onto each serving. Cover lightly with foil and bake in 375 degree oven 15 to 20 minutes or until eggs are set. Makes 4 servings.

Note: Recipe may be baked in an 8-inch baking dish.

EGGS WITH OLIVE CHIVE SAUCE

- 6 hard-cooked eggs, cut in half lengthwise
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
- Salt and pepper
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1½ cups milk
- 2 cups grated process Swiss cheese (about ½ pound)
- 1/3 cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives
- 2 tablespoons chopped chives
- 6 slices buttered toast

Remove yolks from eggs. Combine egg yolks, mustard and mayonnaise and blend. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Pile lightly in egg white halves.

Melt butter; add flour and 1/8 teaspoon pepper and blend. Gradually add milk and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils 1 minute. Add cheese and olives and cook, stirring frequently until cheese is melted. Stir in chives and season to taste with salt.

Arrange eggs on toast. Top with sauce. Sprinkle with paprika if desired. Makes 6 servings.

To lengthen and add body to lashes try applying a little powder to them first. The powder provides a base that helps the mascara cling. Three applications over the powder will make your lashes look incredibly long and full.

How to beat high cost of food

by AILEEN CLAIRE

Vegetables and salads are nature's way of adding vital vitamins and minerals to your diet with a splash of color. A chilled Macaroni Garden Salad made with enriched macaroni and uncreamed cottage cheese is healthful, filling, tasty and also low in saturated fat. It makes a good addition to a recipe file of dishes for the family who want to control cholesterol. Select the least-expensive type of lettuce in your supermarket each week to save money. This also gives variety to your salads when you use iceberg, bibb, escarole, endive, watercress, romaine or spinach — whichever is cheapest.

This is one of several low-cholesterol, low fat recipes from "The Doctors' Save-Your-Heart Diet" by Aileen Claire and David Hendin (Award Books). Readers may obtain a copy by sending name, address and Zip with check or money order for 95 cents, plus postage and handling, to The Doctors' Save-Your-Heart Diet, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

MACARONI GARDEN SALAD

- 2 cups (8 ounces) enriched elbow macaroni cooked according to basic directions
- 1 cup uncreamed cottage cheese
- 1 cucumber, thinly sliced
- 8 radishes, thinly sliced
- 1 cup diced celery
- 1 tablespoon chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- 3 tablespoons low calorie French dressing
- 12 small leaves lettuce

Rinse cooked macaroni with cold water; drain in colander. Combine remaining ingredients except lettuce; toss with macaroni. Chill. Serve salad in lettuce-lined bowl. Makes 4 servings.

Franfare

by Fran Heckart

I last saw John and Marilyn Rogers sunbathing beside the pool of the Royal Hawaiian Hotel along Waikiki. From there they were leaving with their two daughters to tour a few of the outer islands before returning to their Arlington Heights home.

The Rogerses weren't spending an ordinary vacation but rather a very special one. Mrs. Rogers was among the 40 finalists attending the recent second National Pineapple Cooking Classic in Honolulu. And although her recipe for Coconutty Pineapple Torte was not selected for one of the cash awards, it won the couple an expense-paid trip to the Islands and a leisurely week-long vacation. While in Hawaii, the Rogerses along with the other finalists enjoyed dinners, parties, tours and lots of sunshine. When last seen, the Rogerses had no complaints about their prize.

The following recipe was Mrs. Rogers' entry in the dessert category.

COCONUTTY PINEAPPLE TORTE

- 8 eggs
- 1½ cups sugar
- 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1½ teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 6 tablespoons melted butter
- Powdered sugar
- Butter Cream Icing
- 1 cup whipping cream or 1 pint whipped topping
- 1 small package shredded or flaked coconut
- 1 can (8¼ oz.) pineapple slices, drained
- 4 maraschino cherries

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Line bottoms of two jelly roll pans (10x15x1 inch) with waxed paper; grease paper. Prepare 1 cake at a time. Beat 4 eggs, and gradually beat in ¾ cup sugar, continuing to beat until very thick and light yellow. Resift ¾ cup flour with ¾ teaspoon baking powder and ¼ teaspoon salt. Fold into egg mixture. Fold in 1 teaspoon vanilla and 3 tablespoons melted butter. Turn into one of the prepared pans, and level batter with spatula. Bake 10 minutes, until cake springs back when touched lightly in center. Sprinkle a clean towel with powdered sugar, and turn cake out onto it. Peel off paper, and trim off crisp edges of cake. Roll up loosely in the towel. Make a second cake like the first, using remaining ingredients. Prepare Butter Cream Frosting. When cakes are cold unroll and spread each with half the Butter Cream. Cut each cake lengthwise into 4 even strips, about 2¼ inches wide. Roll up one frosted strip, and place cut side down in center of large serving plate. Pick up next strip, and continue the spiral, starting at the end of the first strip. Continue until all 8 strips are wound into one large spiral cake. Cover cake and plate, and chill at least 2 hours. Before serving, whip cream and frost top and sides of cake. Sprinkle with coconut. Drain pineapple slices and place on top, with a cherry in center of each slice. Makes 1 very large cake.

Butter Cream Frosting

Measure 4 tablespoons flour in small saucepan, and gradually stir in 1 cup milk, mixing until smooth. Cook over low heat until thick, stirring constantly. Cool completely. Cream 1 cup butter with 2 cups powdered sugar until light. Beat in cooked mixture. Drain 1 can (8¼ oz.) crushed pineapple, and fold into frosting.

You are cordially invited to try one of the world's Finest Ice Creams...

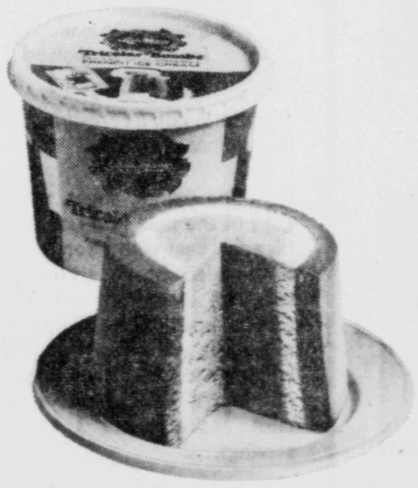
The true French Ice Cream— (it's tres bon!)

The Bombe—the true French Ice Cream, devastating to taste.

Classic American II—natural goodness your taste can't forget

The Ice Cream with No Artificial Ingredients.

It's with pride we invite you to try Louis Sherry Ice Cream . . . long known for its superb flavor and quality . . . now here for you to enjoy. Your first taste will reveal the delightful difference. The difference that comes with the ingredients we use, such as 100% real vanilla . . . never-ever-anything artificial. So come, indulge yourself a little with one of the world's finest ice creams, from Louis Sherry!



The Bombe . . . dessert creation supreme from Louis Sherry. Once upon a time you could get the ice cream bombe only at swank restaurants. Or make it yourself to offer guests something really memorable. Now Louis Sherry makes this superb French ice cream dessert for you, in four stirring flavor combinations—Spumoni Bombe, Swiss Chocolate Bombe, Brussels Bombe and Tricolor Bombe. And the Bombe always tastes even more inviting than it looks. Which is devastating.

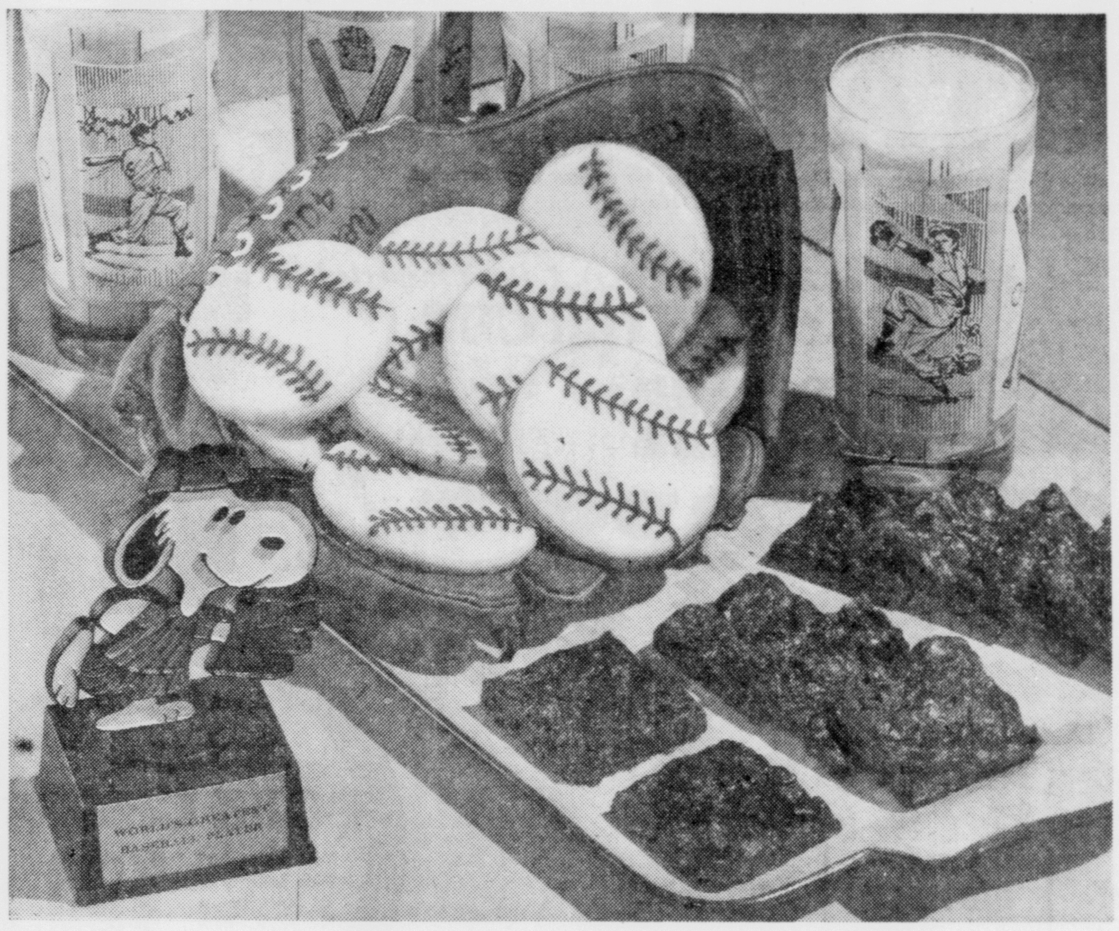
Milk and cookies

They're all-time flavor winners

To celebrate a victory at the ball park or to provide consolation after a loss have some great all-time hitters — milk and cookies — handy when the family returns from the game. Home-Run Punch and Baseball Cookies or Diamond Crunchies will not strike-out on hearty, hungry appetites.

Home-Run Punch features the flavors of vanilla ice cream, root beer and cold milk. The milk-base beverage blends together easily for a quick hit, or can be called on from the refrigerator as an instant refresher.

Then, for something as sensational as a triple play, team up this tasty milk punch with Baseball Cookies and no-bake Diamond Crunchies. The basic Baseball Cookie recipe was traded for an old stand-by — sugar cookies. Decorating makes the difference. They're definitely winners in appearance and flavor with the help of a sweet 'n' smooth frosting. Diamond Crunchies will be another high scorer in the summer season as they never need an oven warm-up. Butter, chunky peanut butter, mellow-flavored marshmallows and unsweetened chocolate, cook and combine slowly in a saucepan creating a chewy cookie base. Crunch is added with crispy cornflakes and the mixture can then be pressed into a 8x12-inch rectangle and cut into squares to make diamond shaped cookies for a cheer-packed snack.



Tenth Inning Treats

DIAMOND CRUNCHIES

¼ cup (½ stick) butter
½ cup chunk-style peanut butter
½ pound marshmallows
2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate
3 cups sugar-coated corn flakes

In a 3-quart saucepan place butter, peanut butter, marshmallows and chocolate; cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until ingredients are melted and well blended. Add corn flakes and mix well. Press or pat mixture on foil or waxed paper into a rectangle, 8x12 inches. Let stand until cool. Cut into squares to make diamond shaped cookies. Yield: 2 dozen, 2-inch squares.

BASEBALL COOKIES

1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 cups all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Frosting:

3 cups confectioners sugar
2 teaspoons cocoa

In a mixing bowl cream butter; gradually add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Beat in egg and vanilla. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt; gradually add to creamed mixture. Chill for ease in handling. On lightly floured surface roll dough to 1/8-inch thickness. Cut with floured 2¾-inch cookie cutter; place on buttered baking sheets. Bake in a preheated 375 degree oven 8-10 minutes. Remove to wire rack to cool.

To prepare Frosting: In a bowl stir together confectioners sugar and milk until smooth. Reserve ¼ cup frosting. Frost cookies. Stir cocoa into reserved frosting. When frosting is set, decorate cookies to look like baseballs using chocolate frosting for laces. Yield: approx. 3½ dozen.

HOME-RUN PUNCH

1 envelope (3¼ oz.) imitation root beer mix
3 cups milk

In a large mixing bowl, beat together ice cream and root beer mix. Gradually add milk. Pour into serving glasses. Yield: approx. 6 cups.

Variation

HAWAIIAN PUNCH: Substitute 1 can (6 oz.) frozen concentrate juicy red Hawaiian Punch, thawed for root beer mix. If desired, blend in 1 medium ripe banana, mashed.

Note: For larger quantity, use ½ gallon ice cream, 4 envelopes mix (3¼ oz. each) or 1 large envelope mix (13 oz.) and 12 cups milk. Yield: approx. 24 cups.

Mrs. Al Baldaccini

Her dessert tray offers variety

by LOIS SEILER

Desserts are the specialty of Betty Baldaccini, Prospect Heights, and a tray of her delicacies can be the focal point of a party.

Pretty as a picture are the strawberry cheese tarts, lemon bars, fudge bars and mint meringue cookies often included among the attractive assortment. Each complements the other in color and flavor.

Cooking and baking are Betty's hobbies. She reads cookbooks as avidly as others read novels and she has taken various cooking courses. Although she enjoys all types of cooking, Betty prefers desserts because she feels they appeal to her creativity. Her reputation is widespread, as she is always asked to bring the dessert to family potlucks, club meetings, church functions and neighborhood parties. And when entertaining at home, the dessert is usually the highlight of the evening.

When making a variety of miniature desserts, Betty usually includes some of her most popular ones then adds one or two new selections.

"Women interested in cooking seem to gravitate towards each other," Betty chuckled, explaining that it was over a luncheon table in Puerto Rico that she acquired a recipe for the cheese tarts from another capable cook who lives in Atlanta. These actually are individual cheese cakes made in miniature muffin tins.

Betty buys paper cups to fit the tins from Bade Paper Co. in Des Plaines, presses a graham cracker crust into each and fills them with a cheese mixture. They can be baked ahead and refrigerated or frozen until ready to use.

However, the strawberry glaze that tops each tart should not be added until the day of serving as the glaze is perishable and loses its shine if made too far ahead.

Sometimes Betty makes apricot, pineapple or raspberry bar cookies, but her Lemon Bars are a favorite which she "must have made a thousand times." They have a cookie-like crust with a lemon custard layer that forms a thin top crust when baked.

HER FUDGE BARS bring raves from chocolate lovers. They have three distinct layers: a light, cookie-like crust, a dark chocolate filling and a chewy nut topping.

Meringue cookies tinted a delicate green and flavored with mint chocolate bits complete this festive assortment. The cookies are also known as Forget-Me-Nots; you place them in the oven, turn off the heat and forget about them as they "bake for five hours. The only thing you must remember is not to open the oven. The meringues are firm on the outside but have a soft center that melts in your mouth, according to this cook.

Betty's husband, Al, and children Tracy, 13, Vincent, 9, and Tricia, 6, have their favorites from among the variety of sweets that she makes. Al has his specialty, too — Ravioli — and all hands pitch in when he makes a big batch on a Sunday afternoon.

CHEESE TARTS

Crust:

1¼ cups graham cracker crumbs
½ stick margarine
1 tablespoon sugar
Dash of cinnamon

Mix ingredients together until moist and crumbly. Drop by heaping teaspoonsful into 36 paper lined miniature muffin tins. Press down with fingers to make a crust.

Filling:

12 ounces softened cream cheese
2 eggs
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon lemon juice
½ cup granulated sugar

Beat cheese; add eggs one at a time. Add remaining ingredients and beat until smooth and creamy. Pour into graham cracker crust in paper-lined muffin cups. Bake at 350 degrees 15 to 20 minutes. The tarts are done when they start to split on top. Let cool ten minutes, then remove from tins. Refrigerate or freeze until ready to glaze, which should be done the day of serving.

Glaze:

1 pint fresh strawberries, sliced in half
1½ rounded tablespoons powdered sugar
½ cup granulated sugar
1 heaping tablespoon cornstarch
Pinch of salt
½ teaspoon red food coloring, or more

Sprinkle sliced berries with powdered sugar. Let stand 15 to 20 minutes to draw juice. Measure strawberry juice and add water to make ¾ cup liquid. To this add granulated sugar, cornstarch, salt and food coloring to make a rich, red glaze. Cook mixture over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cool.

When cool, gently stir in berries. Place ½ berry and some glaze on top of each cheese tart. Refrigerate until served.

LEMON BARS

Crust:

1 cup flour
¼ cup powdered sugar
¼ pound butter (1 stick)

Sift flour and powdered sugar together into a bowl. Cut in butter as you would for pie crust. Mixture will be crumbly. Press into an ungreased 9 by 9-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes.

Filling:

1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
2 eggs
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice

Mix sugar, flour and baking powder together. Add eggs and lemon juice and blend. Pour over hot crust and bake an additional 25 minutes. Sprinkle with powdered sugar while hot. Cut into 18 bars when cool.

FUDGE BARS

½ cup butter
1 egg yolk
2 tablespoons water
1¼ cups flour
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 12-ounce package chocolate bits
2 eggs
¾ cup sugar
6 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups finely-chopped nuts

Beat ½ cup butter with egg yolk and water. Sift together flour, 1 teaspoon sugar and baking powder and beat into butter mixture. Press mixture into a greased, 9 by 13 by 2-inch pan and bake at 350 degrees for ten minutes.

Sprinkle chocolate bits over top. Return to oven for one minute. Remove from oven and spread melted chocolate evenly over surface.

In meantime, beat 2 whole eggs until thick. Add sugar, melted butter, vanilla and nuts. Blend well and pour over chocolate mixture. Return to oven and bake at 350 degrees for an additional 30 to 35 minutes. Let cool and slice into bars or squares. Makes 30 one-inch bar cookies.

FORGET-ME-NOT COOKIES
(Mint Meringues)

2 egg whites at room temperature
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
4 to 5 drops green food coloring
1 6-ounce package mint-flavored chocolate bits

Beat whites until foamy. Add salt and cream of tartar and beat until soft peaks form. Slowly add sugar, one tablespoon at a time, beating constantly until glossy. Blend in vanilla, food coloring and chocolate bits.

Drop by teaspoonsful onto greased cookie sheets. Place in a pre-heated, 350 degree oven. Turn off heat. Leave cookies in oven five hour or overnight. Do not open oven. Yield: 60 cookies.

AN ASSORTMENT of miniature desserts tempts even the most disciplined sweet tooth. Betty Baldaccini, Prospect Heights, specializes in preparing and serving a variety of appealing desserts. Pictured is one combination which she feels offers compatible flavor and taste. Included, from center ring to outside, are Mint Meringue Cookies, Fudge Bars, Strawberry Cheese Tarts and Lemon Bars.

Steak treatment for ground beef

You can serve satisfying meat to family and guests at lower cost when you grill Salisbury Steaks, long a favorite in restaurants. It's more special than hamburger, yet the meat costs no more. Here the steaks are adapted for outdoor cookery with the characteristic savory vegetables and herbs.

SALISBURY STEAKS

1 can (3 ounces) chopped mushrooms, drained
1/3 cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped peeled tomato
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Accent
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon dried leaf thyme

In large bowl lightly mix all ingredients. Shape into 6 or 8 patties. Place on grill when coals have reached the light gray ash stage. Cook 5 minutes, turn and cook 3 minutes longer, or to desired degree of doneness. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Tuna makes popular salad

This colorful summer salad combines two favorites, canned tuna and macaroni — along with red onion rings, sliced celery and carrot "blossoms." The macaroni should be cooked in the Italian manner, al dente, which means "to the tooth" or firm. Canned tuna is one of the most popular summer dishes and still a good food bargain.

TUNA SALAD ITALIANA

1 package (8 ounces) macaroni bows, cooked according to package directions
1 small red onion, sliced and separated into rings
1 cup diagonally sliced celery
1 cup carrot flowers
3 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil, drained and cut into chunks
1 cup mayonnaise
¼ cup clear Italian dressing
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
Salad greens

Combine cooked macaroni, vegetables and tuna chunks; reserve. Combine next four ingredients. Pour over macaroni-tuna mixture; toss together lightly. Line salad bowl with greens; add macaroni-tuna mixture. Yield 6 to 8 servings.

Carrot flowers: Cut 1 cup thin carrot slices. Form petals by cutting 5 small wedge-shaped notches around edge of each slice.

National Pineapple Cooking Classic

A Milwaukee elementary school secretary, Mrs. Robert Sakar returned home from Honolulu with more than a pocketful of sunshine and Island memories.

Mrs. Sakar was declared the $25,000 winner of the second National Pineapple Cooking Classic in an elaborate ceremony on Waikiki early last week. Her contest entry, Hawaii Five-O Torte, was judged "best of category" for a cash award of $10,000 and best of the contest for an additional $15,000.

The dessert is a delightfully rich combination of lemon pie filling, sour cream, coconut, pineapple and pecans. Topping the dish is a mixture of powdered sugar and meringue which, with a few deft motions of a spatula and a little imagination becomes "white ocean waves."

Mrs. Sakar was one of 40 finalists from all parts of the nation who competed in the week-long Classic sponsored by the Pineapple Growers of Hawaii. Recipes for the finals competition featured canned pineapple in four categories — main dish, bread, salad and dessert.

The other $10,000 divisional winners were also named. They include Mrs. Joseph Farsh of Lake Oswego, Ore., main dish; Mrs. George Lorance, Wahiawa, Hawaii, bread; and Mrs. Paul Bergson, Springfield, Va., salad. Four $1,000 runnerup prizes were also awarded in each of the categories.

Here are the four top winning recipes:

HAWAII FIVE-O TORTE

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ cup butter or margarine
1/3 cup finely ground pecans or hickory nuts
1/3 cup flaked coconut
1 can (1 lb. 4 oz.) can unsweetened crushed pineapple
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 package (4¾ oz.) lemon pie filling
¾ cup sugar
3 egg yolks
1 cup dairy sour cream
Powdered sugar

Preheat oven to moderate (350 degrees). Combine flour, butter, nuts and coconut and blend to crumb consistency. Press in even layer in bottom of 8-inch square baking pan. Bake in preheated oven 20 minutes, until very lightly browned. Cool. Drain juice from pineapple and add water to measure 2 cups. Soften gelatin in ¼ cup water.

Prepare lemon pie filling with sugar and egg yolks, reducing liquid to the 2 cups pineapple juice and water. Cook until smooth and thick, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, add softened gelatin, and stir until dissolved. Fold in the drained pineapple. Cool 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Preheat oven to very hot (500 degrees.) Fold sour cream into pudding mixture, and turn into cooled crust. Cover with Meringue. Place in the very hot oven, turn heat off at once, and allow torte to remain in oven for several hours, until it is completely cold. Remove torte from oven, and sift powdered sugar over top. Chill several hours before serving. Makes 1 (8-inch) torte, 6 to 9 servings.

MERINGUE:

Beat 3 egg whites with ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar to a fine foam. Gradually beat in 1¼ cups sifted powdered sugar, continuing to beat at high speed until very stiff and shiny.

Hawaii Five-O Torte

PINEAPPLE MUFFS

Granulated sugar for pans
1 can (8¼ oz.) crushed pineapple
¾ cup milk
½ cup butter or margarine
2 eggs, beaten
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
¼ cup sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
12 teaspoons pineapple preserves
1 teaspoon sesame seed
¼ cup powdered sugar

Preheat oven to moderately hot (375 degrees). Grease 12 muffin tins (2½ inches in diameter), and sprinkle with granulated sugar. Drain pineapple, saving syrup. Warm milk in small sauce pan. Add butter, and heat until butter melts. Remove from heat, and add eggs. Resift flour with ¼ cup sugar, baking powder and salt into mixing bowl. Make a well in center, and add the crushed pineapple. Add milk and butter mixture all at once, and stir just until all of dry ingredients are moistened. Spoon half the batter into prepared tins, and place a spoonful of pineapple preserves on each. Cover with remaining batter, and sprinkle with sesame seeds. Bake in preheated oven about 25 minutes, until browned and baked through. Let stand 5 minutes. Meanwhile, mix powdered sugar with 1½ teaspoons syrup from pineapple. Turn muffins out, and drizzle lightly with icing. Makes 12 muffins.

PORTOFINO MOLD

2 packages (3 oz. each) raspberry flavor gelatin
1¼ cups boiling water
1 can (1 lb. 4 oz.) crushed pineapple, undrained
1 can (1 lb.) whole cranberry sauce
¾ cup port wine
1 cup chopped pecans
1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese
1 cup dairy sour cream

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Stir in pineapple, cranberry sauce and wine. Chill until mixture thickens slightly. Fold in pecans, and turn into a 2-quart serving bowl.

Chill until firm. When gelatin is set, soften cheese, and gradually beat in sour cream until mixture is smooth. Spread over the gelatin. Chill until serving time. Serve from the bowl. Makes 3 or more servings.

Mostly For Men

by Charles Flynn

While cuts of beef remain scarce and high in price, pot roasts are among the best bets. This recipe may be prepared either outdoors or in your broiler and gives guests a version of broiled steak which is surprisingly tender and very flavorful.

Purchase a pot roast of 4 to 5 pounds. Boneless cuts will be more economical if you choose chuck. Put the roast in a large baking dish. Sprinkle each side generously with monosodium glutamate or other unseasoned meat tenderizer and allow to stand for one hour.

In a 1-cup measure put 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 2 dashes Tabasco sauce, 1 tablespoon bourbon (or sweet vermouth), ¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Now add soya sauce to make a full cup of marinade.

Pour this over the roast and allow to marinate 3 hours, although overnight will be even better. When ready to cook have a hot charcoal fire or high temperature on the broiler. Sear roast for 10 minutes on each side, basting frequently with the marinade.

MOVE ROAST FARTHER away from heat on an outdoor cooker or reduce temperature on broiler to 350 degrees and cook 15 minutes on each side, again basting frequently. This will produce a steak which is slightly pink on the inside. If you like it more rare, reduce second stage cooking time to 10 minutes per side. Slice meat across the grain and as thinly as possible. Serves 6 with some left for slicing next day to make cold sandwiches.

A light and colorful salad with the beef is Assiniboine Jellied Cucumber Salad, a favorite in Manitoba, Canada. Dissolve 1 package lime gelatin in ¾ cup hot water. Add ¼ cup lemon juice and 1 teaspoon onion juice. Allow to cool and set partially.

Add 1 cup peeled and chopped cucumbers and 1 cup sour cream (or half sour cream and half mayonaise). Blend and put into ring mold. Chill to set. Unmold and garnish with strips of fresh green and red pepper (or pimiento).

PINEAPPLE-HONEY GLAZED LAMB RIBLETS

1 can (8¼ oz.) crushed pineapple
½ cup honey
½ cup soy sauce
¼ cup sherry
2 teaspoons chopped candied ginger
¾ teaspoon garlic powder
½ teaspoon thyme
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon crushed rosemary
¼ teaspoon black pepper
3 pounds lamb riblets, cut into serving pieces

Drain off 2 tablespoons syrup from pineapple, and mix with ¼ cup honey. Set aside for glaze. Combine remaining pineapple and syrup, ¼ cup honey, soy sauce, sherry, candied ginger and seasonings; pour over lamb riblets. Marinate in refrigerator for 1 to 3 hours, turning meat several times. Heat oven to moderate (350 degrees). Drain lamb, reserving marinade. Arrange riblets on rack in roasting pan, and bake about 1 hour, basting occasionally with the marinade. Just before serving, heat the honey glaze mixture and brush over riblets. Broil about 3 inches from heat, for 2 to 4 minutes, until glazed, watching carefully to avoid burning. Makes 4 to 6 servings.
